HOPE FOR CAVE VICTIM WANES

SLENDER THREAD THAT LINKED COLLINS WITH OUTSIDE WORLD SNAPS

Only Sliver of Earth Separates Youthful Explorer Who, Judging From Long Distance Physical Examinations is Still Living, From Men Frantically Digging to Rescue Prisoner.

BANANA OIL TESTS, MADE THREE TIMES, BEAR PERTINENT RESULTS

"We're Expecting to Strike Cavern Leading to That Boy Down There Most Any Time," Declares "Dig and Dump" Carmichael, Who is Director of Rescue Operations.

RADIO TEST BRINGS ONLY SILENCE; LIGHT IN TOMB EXTINGUISHED

By CARL W. HARRIS

CAVE CITY, Ky., Feb. 11.—Only a sliver of earth today separates Floyd Collins—still living, according to the recurrent radio tests and long distance physical examinations—from the men frantically digging after the prisoner of Sand Cave, according to various findings in the shaft.

The banana oil tests, made three times by Dr. W. D. Funkhouser, bore pertinent results when the odor of it was detected by workers in the bottom of the shaft. This, followed by the finding of cave crickets, prompted official prediction that the mystery of Sand Cave would find solution shortly.

Drill Tests Taken.

When the diamond drill tests were taken a four-foot drop was indicated at the 25-foot level. This fissure was expected to appear at the larger opening, but it failed to materialize. Geologists explained, however, that due to the construction of this district and the haphazard way the rocks are piled, a drop might appear anywhere. It is because of the likelihood of striking a cavern of proportions when gravel appeared and muck and slime began to disappear in the bottom of the shaft which caused "Dig and Dump" Carmichale, director of operations, to say:

"We're expecting to strike a cavern leading to that boy down there most any time."

Shaft at 43-foot Level.

Carmichael's sobriquet was earned from him by his uniform exhortation to all new workers that to save Collins everybody must "dig and dump."

The shaft had reached the 43-foot level by morning and impending rescue overshadowed every other consideration. Even the military court, which convened at 9 o'clock, lacked the spirit of something definite being accomplished.

Yesterday, the first day of the inquiry, developed that the fundamental

Doctors Complete Plans for Aiding Captive if Alive

SAND CAVE, Ky., Feb. 11.—All preparations for handling the situation when Floyd Collins, now in his twelfth day of imprisonment in Sand Cave, is reached, have been completed under direction of Dr. William Hazlett of Chicago.

An operating table, built on the ground, will be lowered to the prisoner and in this cradle—only a foot narrower than the mouth of the shaft—Collins will be raised to the surface.

There will be a rest every few feet to permit Collins gradually to acclimate himself to the change in atmospheric levels.

Woolen blankets, chemical hot water bottles, stimulants are waiting above ground. No known medical device that might aid in the saving of this life has been omitted from the complete miniature hospital established at the scene by Dr. Hazlett.

If Collins is alive, it still remains a question as to whether he will be taken to Louisville immediately. It is likely, however, he will make his final fight for life in the Red Cross tent here at Sand Cave.

Two Men Assessed $300 Each on Liquor Count; One Jailed

Edward Scheffler, Walnut street, is in jail today in default of $300 fine assessed by Mayor Brown on a charge of possessing liquor. "Chip" Gamble, Second street, who also drew a $300 fine on a similar charge, was released after making arrangements to pay.

Schieffler was arrested on lower Walnut street by Patrolman Roth last night after a pint of whiskey had been found in his pocket. Gamble was apprehended a little later with four pint bottles of whiskey, two of which had not yet been opened.

The pair declared that the liquor had been given them by a man whom they failed to recognize at the corner of Third and Union streets.

Washington, D. C., Woman Protests Car Step Height

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 11.—Street corners are popular lounging places in the national capitol.

A protest against the heights of street car steps was lodged with the public utilities commission today by Mrs. L. D. White.

These steps, according to the complaint, are responsible for "A hideous spectacle of one's extremities, which is indecent and mortifying, if not ludicrous."

The committee took the matter under advisement.

JETHRO FILL PARLEY CALLED BY CONFEREES

Road Improvement Will be Topic at Lisbon Meeting.

FEB. 23 IS DATE

Plan to Resurface Concrete Section to Corporation Line.

Representatives of the city of East Liverpool, The Steubenville, East Liverpool and Beaver Valley Traction company and the county commissioners will meet in Lisbon, Monday, February 23, to consider a plan for the resurfacing of that part of the Wellsville-East Liverpool road from the eastern end of the Jethro fill to the corporation line on the west.

The short stretch of concrete surfacing, west of Jethro, is badly worn and the city is seeking to complete its share of the Wellsville road improvement through to the corporation line, connecting with the new bricked road finished last year.

As this stretch is very narrow, a plan of widening is under consideration. The street car company favors the widening of the road in a plan to move its tracks, eliminating a sharp curve in the line.

The expense would be heavy because property located on the north side of the street must be purchased if the widening plan is approved. The city may also take over the control of the street across Jethro.

Members of city council discussed the proposal at a recent conference with the service director and street car company officials, but no decision was reached. City Engineer George, County Surveyor Kirk and traction company engineers are to assist in plans for the proposed improvement.

An effort is to be made to have the city take up the improvement on the eastern end of the road at the same time as Wells avenue and Lisbon street on the Wellsville end are being surfaced this summer.

Murderer Smokes, Smiles and Waves As he is Hanged

HALIFAX, N. S., Feb. 11.—Lewis Marshal Bevis treated witnesses to his execution to a spectacle of nonchalance such as they never before had seen when he was hanged today in the county jail yard.

He walked without a quiver to the scaffold, smilingly puffed a cigarette until the black cap hid his face, jauntily waved and said: "Goodbye, boys," and dropped to his death.

He murdered Constable Charles Fulton and wounded Constable P. Kennedy, in a 24-hour gun fight last July while resisting arrest on a trespass charge.

SOUTHERN CITY HAS BRISK SNOW

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Feb. 11—A brisk snow fell here this morning.

A high wind that came up out of the north and west during the night continued today and the therometer was gradually sliding downward. It was not cold enough, however, to keep the snow from melting as it touched the ground.

ALABAMA VOTES FOR DAVIS AS COOLIDGE WINS WHITE HOUSE

Underwood State Discards Madison Square Garden Record.

WINNERS NAMED

President and Dawes Poll 382 Electoral Ballots.

BY GEORGE R. HOLMES.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—Today might have been one of the most tempestous days in the history of the republic—but it wasn't.

Instead of a stalemate in the electoral college, with congress running around in circles trying to elect a president, so freely speculated on and predicted a few months ago—the senate and house met in joint session this afternoon and went through the constitutional formality of declaring Calvin Coolidge and Charles G. Dawes to have been elected president and vice-president respectively, of these United States.

This time-honored legal and quite necessary ceremony was held in the hall of the house of representatives and consisted primarily of a formal count of the votes of the electoral college. It used to be a most important ceremony, but in these radio days it passed almost unheeded, even in official Washington.

The senate and house each appointed tellers, according to the constitutional practice. Senators Spencer, Republican, of Missouri, and King, Democrat, of Utah, were elected for the upper chamber, and Representative White, Republican, of Kansas, and Jeffers, of Alabama, for the house. Senator Cummins, of Iowa, president pro-tem of the senate, presided.

The roll call was called by states.

"Alabama" boomed the teller.

HAAR RESUMES BRIBERY STORY

ATLANTA, Ga., Feb. 11—Will Haar declared on the witness stand today that L. J. Fletcher, formerly assistant warden at Atlanta penitentiary, asked him to cash a check for Mannie Keshler, of New York, for $5,000.

Haar has been the star government witness in the trial of Fletcher, former Warden A. E. Sartain and Lawrence Riehl, of Columbus, Ohio, on charges of having accepted and solicited bribes.

Wall Street Watches Durant In Cast Iron Pipe "Corner"

Motor Manufacturer and Stock Operator, Who Stages "Comeback," Reported to Have Made $2,500,000 This Week.

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—Wall Street kept only one eye on the ticker tapes today. The other was glued on William C. Durant, motor manufacturer and stock operator, to see what he would do to swell still further the $2,500,000 in profits the street credits him with having made this week.

Durant returned to the financial district from his California winter vacation in a bullish frame of mind, according to friends. They estimated his paper profits in United States Cast Iron Pipe at more than $10,000,000.

Everywhere around Broad and Wall streets the story was heard today that there was a "corner" in Cast Iron Pipe, although it has been denied repeatedly by stock exchange officials.

Stock Behaves Like Acrobat.

Cast Iron Pipe has been behaving like an acrobat. Its gain yesterday was 21½ points following a 19¼ joint jump Monday and a climb of 15⅜ last week. Durant is reputed to own 60,000 of the 120,000 shares outstanding.

Cast Iron Pipe began climbing from 150, when trading closed last night, it stood at 235½. In 1923 it sold as low as $20 a share, in the same year it reached $69.50. In the last year its low point was $64 and its high 169⅞. Durant's friends said he became interested in Cast Iron Pipe in 1923.

Cast Iron Pipe jumped to 245, for a gain of nine and a half points in the first period of trading today.

The stock has earned heavily. Its 1923 earnings were estimated at $21.92 a share, in 1924 at $44.67 and now they are put at about $60.

The increased earnings resulted from the Corporation's acquisition of a method for making Cast Pipe of such strength that it would hold a thread for joining.

This is a "comeback" for Durant, for at one time he was "taken over" by bankers and the General Motors Corporation of which he twice was the head.

43,000 PARCELS OF LAND APPRAISED BY 350 WORKERS ON COUNTY JOB

Auditor C. E. Hamilton Summarizes Results of Re-appraisement Which Boosted Real and Personal Tax Duplicate.

Approximately 350 workers, including appraisers and building checkers took part in the general reappraisal of real-estate in Columbiana county, completed a few months ago, figures announced today by County Auditor C. E. Hamilton indicated.

About 250 persons were building checkers, while 75 were classified as appraisers. In addition, clerks were employed in the auditor's office. About 43,000 parcels of land were listed.

The reappraisal began in December, 1923, when blue prints, tax maps and other preliminary data for use of the field workers were made. Just 2,500 square feet of paper was required for the maps. Field sheets representing the 43,000 parcels of lands and lots, were arranged in separate packages for the field workers.

Factory Experts Employed

The field force was organized and instructed, beginning the actual work of listing property in April. Lands, lots, buildings and minerals, including factories and fixed machinery, were reappraised at $80,609,220. This figure however, does not include the increase in value of public utilities, as these

Ex-convict Will Make Address at Kiwanis Luncheon

R. W. Fenton, Chicago, ex-convict, will address members of the Kiwanis club at their noonday meeting in the Larkins annex, Market street, Thursday. His subject will be "Crime from the Standpoint of a Criminal."

He will also appear before the high school students at a special chapel hour Thursday afternoon. He has an interesting story dealing with the years which he spent in a penitentiary.

The club will also discuss plans for participating in the international attendance campaign which will start March 2. The East Liverpool and Wellsville clubs were opponents in the attendance contest last year, Wellsville winning.

20 Profess Faith At Revival Meeting In Baptist Church

More than 20 converts have resulted from the revival services at the First Baptist church during the first week of the meetings. The meetings are in charge of Rev. R. W. Edmondson, pastor of the Calvary Baptist church, Akron.

Dr. Edmondson, last night, spoke on the subject, "The Prodigal Son." Delegations of the World-wide Guild, a girl's class, and the Amoma class attended the srevice in a body.

Tonight the Philathea class members will attend the service and on Thursday night the members of the Agoga class will be present. A contest between men and women for the largest attendance will be a feature of Friday night's service.

The meetings are scheduled to end next Sunday.

Poisoning Cases Accidental, O. S. U. Inquiry Indicates

COLUMBUS, Feb. 11.—Today's developments in the police probe of the Ohio State University strychnine poisoning cases indicated they were the result of accident.

Nelson Rosenberg, Cleveland, O. S. U. college of pharmacy student, and M. W. Schonstein, also of Cleveland, who, too, is an O. S. U. student but is not identified with the college of pharmacy, were questioned today at city prison by Police Prosecutor Chester. Both young men were released after a brief interview, the police investigators voicing belief that neither of them knew anything about the mysterious poisonings.

Chester indicated that he will make public Thursday his report, covering the police probe and announcing the conclusions reached by the investigators.

LIFE-SAVERS BATTLE GALE IN ANSWER TO S. O. S. CALLS

Ship is Swept on Rocks Near Mouth Of Thames.

NAME UNKNOWN

Believe Vessel Carries Large Crew and Many Passengers.

LONDON, Feb. 11—Hundreds of persons were in danger today while life savers made determined efforts to reach a liner of large tonnage, name and nationality unknown, which went ashore in a furious gale off Walton-on-the-Naze, a famous resort near the mouth of the Thames.

The Evening News said it was believed the ship was from South Africa, heading for London when she went ashore.

The ship carries a large crew and many passengers the News said.

Crowds Watch From Shore.

Lifeboats from all neighboring stations were endeavoring to reach the vessel in answer to its S. O. S. calls, while crowds from neighboring beaches watched from the shore.

A Ramsgate tug and Margate lifeboat, which answered the distress calls, reported the vessel was a steamer and that flares were burning to attract aid. Boats from Harwich were standing by.

Until this report was received, those who watched from shore believed the distress calls might have been misinterpreted as no large vessel could be seen. A ketch was ashore near the place where crowds gathered.

Central News reports said the Ketch ashore at Barrow Sands had transferred its crew to another vessel. There still seemed doubt whether the Ketch was not the vessel reported as a large steamer in the first distress calls.

2,633 MOTOR CARS LICENSED

J. S. Hilbert Issues Tags for 467 Trucks.

Two thousand six hundred and thirty-three 1925 automobile license plates have been distributed to East Liverpool motorists by Deputy Registrat James S. Hilbert, it was announced today. This is less than one-half the number of cars registered last year.

Of this number, 2,166 tags were for pleasure cars, the remaining 467 being for trucks. Few license plates have been issued for trailers, motorcycles and side-cars. This report does not include the combination pleasure and commercial car tag, which is issued through the office of Secretary of State Thad Brown.

The closed winter is believed to be largely responsible for the delay of automobile owners to apply for license plates. Many motorists have stored their cars for the winter and are waiting until spring to obtain their licenses in order to take advantage of the 25 percent fee reduction which becomes effective April 1.

Secretary of State Brown has placed an order for the 1926 series of automobile license plates, which will be

TREAT MENTAL ILLS AND PAY PRISONERS' FAMILIES IN NON-SUPPORT CASES, DENVER JUDGE URGES

DENVER, Feb. 10—Psychopathiq treatment and enactment by the Colorado Legislature of the "employment of prisoners" bill are the remedies advocated by the Denver Juvenile Court for reducing the rapidly growing number of non-support and desertion cases that are breaking up so many families.

The number of such cases that comes before the Domestic Relations Department of Judge Ben B. Lindsey's tribunal here is growing appalling, according to the famous Judge of the Juvenile Court.

Judge Lindsey is engaging in a series of conferences with George Collins, superintendent of the new $2,000,000 Colorado General Hospital, with a view to adopting a policy of co-operation between the psychopathic ward of that institution and the Juvenile Court.

According to Judge Lindsey, the domestic difficulties of many husbands and wives can be solved without the necessity of court procedure.

"The policy of the Domestic Relations Division of the Juvenile Court is to reconcile families," Lindsey said, in commenting on his annual report, in commenting on his annual report, which indicated that 2,000 of 3,000 cases that came before his court were settled without the filing of criminal charges.

"Experience shows," the judge declared, "that much of the domestic difficulty is the result of physical troubles and that either the husband or the wife needs a doctor more than a lawyer or the courts. We are formulating a plan whereby complaining husbands and wives who come to our court will be given the benefit of psychopathic treatment, advice and assistance, with a view to straightening out their difficulties."

Many Separated.

The Juvenile Court report for the year 1924 makes the startling disclosure that 3,000 cases of separations in families were brought to the attention of Denver courts, officially and unofficially, against a total of 3,116 marriage licenses issued during the same period.

The report showed 1,300 applications for divorce filed; 1,000 cases involving separations actually on record in the Juvenile Court and 2,000 other cases in which some sort of settlement was reached—but at least 1,000 of these latter represented family separations either through mutual consent or arrangement out of court.

"Thus," Judge Lindsey said, "in taking account of our social status, when it involves problems of the home and martial relations, we are facing the menacing fact that there are more separations among people who have been married than there are unions among people who get married in one year in a city like Denver."

Which prompts the Juvenile Court Judge to inquire:

"Does it mean that our conventions and standards are being seriously threatened with failure?"

Divorce on Increase.

Judge Lindsey pointed out that fifty years ago there was about one divorce in thiry marriages, while recent statistics reveal that in the large cities of this country today there is one divorce to every two marriages, adding that the divorce figures only tell half the story, as they do not include family separations, non-support and desertion cases, which affect the welfare of thousands of young children.

Citing an example in the local Juvenile Court of how children are affected even when no divorce is involved. Judge Lindsey told of the cases of four men charged with non-support of their wives and children.

"These four men", he said, "were the fathers of a total of thirty-six children. One of these fathers had recently committed suicide. He had

County Motor Club Names Three Local Men as Directors

Three members of the board of directors were elected by East Liverpool members of the Columbiana County Motor Club at a meeting in the Y. M. C. A. last night.

The three members of the board, named for terms of one year, include Jesse N. Hanley, former county prosecutor; Fred O. Glenn and O. N. Earl. These directors will select an advisory board of six members to assist them in caring for the automobile club activities in this district.

Edward T. Fogo, president of the county association, who gave a brief history of the club, since organization steps were first taken a little over a year ago, presided. Secretary E. M. Diehl, in a short talk, pointed out the value of affiliation with the American Automobile Association, with which the county club is connected. Mr. Hanley complimented officers of the club for their efforts in the interests of the motorists of the county.

Mayor Brown spoke in behalf of the city, lauding the club for its work in erecting traffic signs, painting the streets and also having the new traffic ordinance enacted and published in booklet form. The mayor promised that the new ordinance would be enforced to the letter this spring, as a means of making the streets safer for everybody.

The next meeting will take place at Salem, Thursday, February 19, when two members of the board of directors will be selected. Seven members have been elected, while six others are to be named.

Germany is Happy As Trade Pact With U. S. is Ratified

BERLIN, Feb. 11—News of ratification of the German-American trade agreement by the senate was received with pleased surprise in official circles today. The first word was flashed by cable a few minutes after the senate acted last night and official Berlin was still waiting today for details from the German embassy at Washington.

Up until noon today the news had come from no other source, even the German steamship lines, whose interest in the pact was most vital, having received no word from their New York offices.

Ratification assures Otto Weidfeldt, retiring ambassador to the United States, of a warm welcome from the government on his return here the end of the week.

It is an open secret that Weidfeldt left Washington bitterly disappointed because the treaty had not then been approved.

He would have resigned his post a year ago if but waited on account of the treaty, which was the principal object of his mission to the United States.

made at the state penitentiary. The plates will have a dark brown background with white numerals next year.

More than 800 tons of metal will be used in the manufacture of the tags. The order calls for 1,600,000 sets of the plates.

Secretary Brown has already deposited about $7,000,000 in the state treasury from the 1925 license funds. This is only $4,000,000 less than was collected during 1924. Automobile license returns for 1925 have been estimated at approximately $13,000,000 this year, an increase of $2,000,000 over last year's figures.

The Brown two-cent gasoline tax bill, passed by the House, is expected to receive first reading in the senate today. Still opposition is anticipated, despite the heavy favorable vote in the house. Several hearings are expected to be given the measure by the Senate tax committee before it is reported again. Opponents hope, at least, to force a compromise providing for reduction of the auto license fees to a flat $3 rate.

The senate utilities committee is on record today in favor of a bill to be introduced this week appropriating $75,000 to finance an investigation by the Attorney General of Telephone companies operating in Ohio.

Hope Wanes

purpose of the quiz was to record the efforts of the state of Kentucky and primarily its representatives, in behalf of Collins.

"We do not intend," said General H. H. Benhart, lieutenant governor, who is president of the court, "that anyone shall say after this is all over and the witnesses have been scattered, that we did not do all in our power—that our procedure should have been otherwise.

"The witnesses are here on the ground now. We want to show that untiring efforts has been expended in behalf of Floyd Collins. We do not want to be accused unjustly of bungling."

Little Sensation in Inquiry.

Five witnesses have been examined thus far, both expert and inexpert testimony having been introduced to show conditions in the cave.

Dr. Funkhouser, who collapsed after the hearing, testified as to conditions, scientific findings and the final arrival at the conclusion that if Collins were to be saved, the sinking of a shaft was imperative.

Little sensation was offered. Samuel H. Mattlack, a Louisville builder, occupied the chair for an hour and a half and hurled charges of murder, bungling and lying at those who had labored unceasingly to effect the captive's release.

Captain Alex M. Chaney, judge advocate of the court, scathingly inquired of this witness if he was sitting in judgment on the men who had gone into the cavern when he himself was afraid to do so. Mattlock, thunderstruck by the barked question, backed off the platform when ordered to do so without replying.

ALLEGED MINE STOCK AGENCIES INVESTIGATED BY VIGILANCE BOARD

Four companies alleged to be engaged in promoting the sale of mine stock are being investigated by the National Vigilance committee, according to bulletins received here by the Chamber of Commerce.

The postoffice department has closed the mails to the Ameria-Mex Developing company, of Saltillo, Coahuila, Mexico, because of alleged false and fraudulent representations made by this company in offering shares to investors in this country.

The department has also issued a fraud letter concerning the operations of the Mutual Mining Pool, and L. Coste, secretary, Apartado, Mexico.

The committee warns against the operations of James B. Douglass, whose present address is given as Wichita Falls, Texas, who is alleged to have been connected with a similar venture investigated by the Vigilance committee about two years ago. An investigation, relative to the business of the Gold Dust Placa Mining company, of Gold Dust, Mexico, with its main office in El Paso, is also under way.

Companies, operating under the names of Solar Studio, Solar, Virgo Studio, Veritas Studios, Reo Publishing company, Karma Studio and Zanya Studio, all of New York, selling horoscopes, are listed as frauds by the committee. The public is also warned against contributing to an appeal, which is being made by Neal L. Meek and Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Meek, who has been receiving mail at Whitehouse, Ky., South Point, O., and Huntington, W. Va. The three, seeking alms, are not destitute as they claim in their appeals but are considered wealthy, owning automobiles and several pieces of real estate, the bulletin says.

The postoffice department has ruled that a thrift certificate proposition conducted by the National Thrift Association of Eugene, Ore., is a lottery and closed the mails to this organization.

43,000 Parcels of Land

valuations must first be approved by the tax commission and consequently are not certified to the county for collection until the following year.

Of this sum, $24,812,140 was property outside cities and incorporated villages, the remaining $55,797,080 being property within the municipalities. This represents an increase of $19,546,492, or 32 per cent, in the value of taxable real estate over former valuations.

Land appraisers were paid $19,563 for their services, while the building checkers drew compensation amounting to $10,635.

Two hundred manufacturing plants in the county necessitated the employment of experts, who were paid $6,285 for their services.

Increase Personal Property Duplicate.

Personal property appraised at $1,230,580 was added to the duplicate by the field force during the re-appraisal at no additional expense.

Re-appraisal of the lands, lots, buildings and structures of all the steam and electric railways, pipe line companies, power companies, telephone companies and telegraph companies and all other public utilities was ordered by the tax commission of Ohio. This would require experts at an expense of $8,989.

Under instructions issued by the state auditor all non-taxable real estate, including buildings owned by federal government, state, county and all of the land, lots, buildings and structures owned by the townships, villages and cities were re-appraised. This included school buildings and grounds, churches, city and township buildings and land, water works and reservoirs owned by the cities and villages, and public burial grounds. A total value of $6,157,950 was placed on this property. This work was done by the regular field force at the time of appraising the taxable property—the expense could not be separated and is included in the above figures.

The supplies, making of maps and clerical help used in the re-appraisal required an expenditure of $16,988.

Neither the auditor nor the regular employees of the auditor's office received additional compensation for the work of re-appraisal.

In all, real property valued at $90,083,795 was re-appraised at an expense which compares favorably with the re-appraisal of like counties in 1924.

The effect of the re-appraisal is reflected in the tax rates for the current year, which are based on the new values. The county rate has been reduced nine-tenths of a mill. The rates in nearly all of the 72 taxing districts have been materially reduced and the schools, cities and villages as a rule can now continue to function without serious financial embarrassment.

twelve children. Two others were distinct types of moron. The fourth was a dangerous criminal type. The State permits such men as these to become fathers of large families, and now the State must take care of the children, or let them grow up either as paupers or vicious animals.

"Because of this condition we are asking the state legislature to pass the 'Employment of Prisoners' bill, requiring the State to employ such men on public roads or on work for State institutions, without competitoin with free labor, and to pay for such labor not to exceed $3.50 per day—the pay to be used for their dependent wives and children outside of prison.

"This is the most constructive piece of social legislation now before the State in the employment of labor and in the elimination of expenditures for taking care of these children. And it will result in justice being done for the innocent little children who are offended against when the bread winner is taken away from them."

voluntarily shut their eyes and intoned:

"A-l-a-b-a-m-a casts 24 votes for Un-der-wood-d."

But instead, there was a report that she cast 12 votes for John W. Davis and Charles W. Bryan.

La Follette Gets 13.

A rebel yell from the Democratic side of the chamber greeted this, and the roll-call proceeded by the formal announcement that Coolidge, John W. Davis and Charles W. Bryan, 136, and Robert M. La Follette and Burton K. Wheeler, 13.

Each state followed the announcement of its vote with applause. The galleries were crowded with spectators for the quadrennial ceremony.

The whole ceremony occupied less than hour. When it ended, the Senate retired and both houses went prosaically about their business.

President Coolidge was not even aware of it until informed by his secretary.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—Forward movements in the early trading today were confined chiefly to a small number of industrial and specialty stocks which have behind them the strong arm of powerful professional operators or pools. The market was extremely restless in this period, with simultaneous advances and declines in different parts of the speculative lists, as traders sold stocks in order to acquire others.

The magic name of Durant was passed around the speculative district in an effort to discover in what stocks his interest lay. Cast Iron Pipe jumped another 10 points, there by adding to the paper profits of the pool which has been operating in this stock for about six months. Independent oil and gas, of which Mr. Durant was elected a director this week, and which has come up from 13 to 29½ in a few weeks of trading, was also a feature.

Universal Pipe jumped to above 50 on reports that with the retirement of the preferred stock, the common will be in line to share the large profits made by the company in the last six months. This is a gain of 37 points over the low of six months ago, when the stock sold at 13. Sharp forward movements also continued in Savage Arms, Worthington Pump, North American and other specialty stocks.

With the exception of General Motors, which continued under liquidation, the Motor stocks were active and strong. Studebaker advanced 1½ points to 46, and gains of a point or more were made by Mack Trucks, Fierce Arrow preferred, Willys Overland, Chandler and Maxwell. Motor accessory stocks were also strong.

May department stores led a spirited movement in the merchantile stocks, advancing to 109½; Sears Roebuck was up two points and Montgomery Ward, one. American Can made a new high at 173⅜; American Sumatra Tobacco sold three points higher and more than doubled its low price of a few weeks ago; oil stocks were under selling pressure, as also were the steels and a number of the industrial shares which led the previous advance.

Grain markets were unsteady, with losses of 1 to 2 cents a bushed in wheat and rye at Chicago and Winnipeg. Cotton was steady; foreign exchange irregular; call money 3½ per cent.

MILK WAGON IS HIT BY CAR

Driver Escapes Injuries in Clark Avenue Crash.

The fact that he had stepped momentarily from his wagon to deliver a bottle of milk probably saved the life of William Mann, employe of the Rosenberg Dairy Products company when an eastbound interurban street car smashed into his milk wagon yesterday in Clark avenue, near Twenty-third street.

Mann, delivering along his milk route, had turned near Wooster's and was going east in Clark avenue before the collision.

He jumped from the rear step of the wagon, from which point he directs his horse, and ran across the street to a home to leave several bottles of milk.

As he crossed the street the interurban, with brakes screeching, crashed into the rear of the milk wagon, it is reported.

The wagon was practically wrecked and the horse was shoved along the car rails for a short distance before the momentum of the street car was checked. The horse was severely cut and bruised about the body and legs.

Pains

That are needless Relieve at once

Rheumatic pains, lameness, soreness—pains you can end at once should be stopped. The means should always be on call.

The modern relief is Red Pepper Rub. It so excels the old ways that there is no comparison. It is saving cons of pain.

Nothing else creates such concentrated, such penetrating heat. And heat that doesn't hurt.

Apply Red Pepper Rub and the tingling heat is instantly apparent. In three minutes that heat seems to reach the depths. Then the pain and soreness disappear.

At first the results seem like magic. No other method ever brought them. Then you come to rely on them. You come to know that most pain is easily avoided.

But these troubles often appear at night. That means hours of suffering. A jar of Red Pepper Rub on your shelf would prevent them.

So many people suffer needless pains—pains that this method can end in three minutes. That is a pity. Get this Rub today and have it ready to end every such pain at once.

YOUR HEALTH

Tuberculosis Is Cureable and Is Not Hereditary

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
United States Senator from New York.
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City

DR. COPELAND

RECENTLY we had the annual Christmas Seal stamp sale. During that week many things were printed and preached about tuberculosis and its prevention. In spite of it, however, my mail brings many requests for more information about the disease.

In a letter from Minnesota, I am asked a lot of questions. A personal reply would have been sent had there been an address, but since there was none I will answer it here.

Here are some of the inquiries!

How are you to avoid tuberculosis?

If you have it, what should you eat?

Should you take strenuous exercise or rest?

What climate is best?

Do you have night sweats every night and is the temperature above normal at all times?

Should a tuberculosis patient avoid liquor and tobacco?

The first comforting thing I can say is that tuberculosis is not inherited. It is due to the manner of life and to the contacts of the victim himself.

Tuberculosis is produced by a germ, but it is induced by lowered bodily resistance, usually the result of neglect, overwork, worry, late hours, loss of sleep, undernourishment, or prolonged illness of any sort.

To avoid it, you must live a life governed by simplicity and common sense.

If you have tuberculosis, you can get rid of it in any climate. It is not caused by climate. It is not cured by climate.

I have visited tuberculosis hospitals in the mountains, at sea-level, in the desert, in the pines, in the North and in the South, in the snow and in the rain. Sunshine, fresh air, out-of-doors life and cheerful surroundings are requisite to cure.

In general, there should be no exercise while there is fever and very modest exercise if there is a tendency to fever.

Nourishing food, such as is supplied by milk and eggs, is ideal if that food is palatable. Fruit, fresh vegetables and sensible eating are demanded.

Night sweats are common in some stages and temperature at night is the rule. They are of no consequence except as indications of the progress of the disease. As these symptoms lessen a. i disappear, you may become more and more encouraged.

You can be cured. It will take time, but courage, faith and contentment of mind will help a lot.

Answers to Health Questions

A. R. Q.—What would you advise for brittle finger-nails?

A.—Keep the hands out of water as much as possible and apply vaseline at night.

AMY. Q.—Is it harmful to eat before going to bed?

A.—It is not advisable to eat heavily before retiring. An apple or some piece of fruit is alright.

HENRY T. Q.—What should a boy 12 years of age 4 ft. 6 inches weigh?

A.—You should weigh about 100 pounds.

J. R. F. Q.—I am a boy of 15, and feel badly because my ears stick out from my head. What would you advise?

A.—In some instances an operation will correct this condition. Consult a competent surgeon and have him advise you.

E. R. Q.—What is the cause of prominent veins in the legs between the knee and hip?

A.—This is due probably to varicose veins, due to increased pressure through the veins caused by some over exertion such as long standing, for instance. Wearing a bandage or elastic stocking during the daytime and bathing with warm witch hazel is often effective where the trouble is slight.

EAST LIVERPOOL—AMERICA'S POTTERY CENTER

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 11, 1925.

Civic Music Renewal Week

The 1924-25 season of the Civic Music Association of East Liverpool, launched for the purpose of enabling East Liverpool music lovers to hear the great artists without traveling to Pittsburgh, Cleveland or New York, will close tonight with the appearance here of Charles Marshall, dramatic tenor, who is essentially an American.

As in the previous concerts, a capacity crowd will greet Mr. Marshall, and his program shall prove as entertaining as those given by other artists who have appeared here under auspices of the association. And with the conclusion of this concert, the campaign for next season's members will open.

Tonight and tomorrow, present members will be given opportunity to enroll for the second season. Then the lists will be opened to those who were not patrons during the 1924-25 series of concerts. Approximately 200 names are on the waiting list. The seating capacity of the Ceramic theatre is 1350.

The Civic Music Association is here to stay, judging from the success of the first season, when, contrary to expectations, a surplus remained in the treasury after payment of all expense in connection with the series of concerts. This speaks well for the district's love of good music, for even in the large cities a deficit is usually the rule in the presentation of artists of the music world.

Classy Duds

Here, according to the National Association of Merchant Tailors of America, are the main essentials of the wardrobe of a well-dressed man:

Four overcoats.
Sport clothes (number of suits optional).
Tuexdo or dinner jacket.
Waistcoats (the more the better).
Full dress evening suit.
Sack suits (number optional), either single or double breasted.
Riding suits (one or more).
Morning coat and waistcoat with striped trousers.
Silk hat.

Any male citizen who does not qualify should hasten to acquire the necessary garments. If there is to be any economizing, obviously it should be done on the sack suits. Most anything, of course, can be made to serve for ordinary business wear, or around the house, and a canny dresser can get by even with a rather limited number of sport suits. But one simply must have those four overcoats, and the dress clothes and morning coat and striped trousers and silk hat. And how could a gentleman ever exist without at least one riding suit?

Perhaps one, who does not profess to be a sartorial expert, will be pardoned for suggesting some mild additions, in the belief that being well dressed consist in wearing duds suitable to the occasion, thus:

One house coats or smoking jacket, preferably old, for evening wear at home.
One sweater, for warmth and avoidance of collars and cuffs
One bathing suit, of whatever style suits the wearer's type of beauty.
One suit of overalls for taking care of the furnace and working around the yard.
One cap, of any old kind, to counteract the silk hat.

Kilts for Women

Paris, showing its spring fashions, calls for shorter skirts, and British women show signs of revolt, on the grounds of taste and expediency. One of them, the Hon. Mrs. John Fortescue, says:

"If skirts are made much shorter, we shall be walking about in kilts, and I don't think we would look well in kilts. My answer to this question of short skirts is that it always depends on the legs. Most of us can't wear them. Very short skirts are ungraceful, especially with evening frocks."

Her judgment is reinforced by the head of a smart English dressmaking firm, who says the ultra-short skirt is "not suited to English women."

Possibly American women have an advantage over English women in the physical requirements mentioned. Yet there will probably be a revolt on this side of the water, just the same. American women lately have shown commendable independence of foreign fashions. They may bow to New York, but Paris influence is waning. So a vogue of feminine kilts for flappers and dowagers is not much to be feared.

A GREAT RELIGIOUS MEETING

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—In the new Washington auditorium has just been held one of the most remarkable religious meetings since the Ecumenical Mission conference in New York city in 1900, or the World Mission conference in Edinburgh in 1910. This was the Foreign Missions convention of the United States and Canada.

It was remarkable inasmuch as no effort was made to raise funds and no policies were agreed upon.

It was simply a painting of present world conditions as they affect missions. It was left to the various mission boards to digest the mass of information set before them and to decide according to their lights their policies.

Another unusual feature of the convention was the method of its financing. Each delegate and visitor paid an admission fee. This clearly indicates the sincerity of purpose of those attending. It was estimated that 90 per cent of the Protestant communions were represented. There were 3,500 delegates from all parts of the United States and Canada, and 500 speakers and leaders from all parts of the world. Every continent was represented. At one meeting there were speakers from India, China, Japan, Holland, Scandinavia, Germany, France and England.

The convention was held under the auspices of the Foreign Missions conference of North America, which is the agency through which the foreign boards of the United States and Canada act together in dealing with the problems of common concern which belong to the foreign mission enterprises of today. This organization has been functioning for 32 years and is rather a distinctive example of the way in which earnest men and women of different views on many details of administration and opinion may yet exhibit a unity of spirit.

The seating capacity of the auditorium is 6,742 and the place was filled at nearly every meeting. The attendance was 4,000 on a day when the weather did its worst—rain, sleet, snow and high winds. There were 16 big meetings, with a number of simultaneous meetings which were held between lunch time and 4:45, when the afternoon meeting convened.

WOMEN TAKE PROMINENT PART

For the first time in a meeting of this sort women took a prominent part. They constituted about one-third of the official delegates, and women presided over three of the big meetings. Modern invention in the form of the amplifier made it possible for a woman's voice to be heard in all parts of the hall. Heretofore it has been claimed by many that women did not make good speakers because their voices would not carry. Women are rapidly exploding quite a few pet masculine theories.

Co-operation among the various Protestant denominations are regards foreign missions is being urged more and more. While each may have decided ideas as to methods of administration, the purpose of all is the same—disseminating the teachings of Christ. The handbook for delegates set forth its purpose as follows:

"The primary purpose of the convention is for the information and inspiration of the churches of these two countries. It is an educational, not a deliberative or legislative, assembly. It is not to deal with questions and problems of administration on the mission field. Its messages are designed to enlarge the interest and deepen the conviction of the Christian people at the home base as to their foreign mission responsibilities and obligations."

To this end missionaries from all parts of the world spoke, setting forth the conditions in the particular localities where they have been working. These talks were limited to 20 minutes, and were, of necessity, concise and earnest. There was no time for levity. These people had messages to convey, pictures to paint, and the time was short. When a speaker had talked 18 minutes, the buzzer signal was given, and after 20 minutes it rang every minute or so. If he had not succeeded in getting his message across in that time, he had to retire without having accomplished his purpose. The only instance where a speaker was allowed more than 20 minutes was in the case of Dr. John R. Mott. He spoke on "New Forces Released Through Co-operation." Because of the importance of the subject, and also of his standing, he was allowed an additional 10 minutes.

This convention was colorful, too—literally—since no color, race, nor denominational line was drawn. It was interesting to note the different types. One saw a large pugilistic looking colored man, carrying a brief case, in earnest conversation with a small ascetic looking Anglo-Saxon. Then came a negro "auntie" who looked as though she should be "toting" her hymnal on her head, instead of prosaicly carrying it in her hand.

OTHER INTERESTING TYPES

There was a young East indian in the conventional raincoat and overshoes, but topping these with a light blue turban with a wide streamer down his back. And there were clergymen with various and individual hats, the most outstanding being a small flat saucer-like derby on a large and florid Englishman. The final thrill, however, was when the shade of the late "Buffalo Bill" himself stalked majestically through the center of the crowd. It could have been no other. It is said that some of these missionary representatives are the greatest living authorities on the conditions and policies of the territories in which they are located. The department of state has the names of many on file in case authoritative information or advice is needed. Many have written books and so many of these authors were present that this meeting might almost have been an authors' convention.

The ushers at the convention were college students—mostly theological students. One of these, an Episcopalian, caused quite a ripple of amusement. As people know, the box of the president of the United States is not supposed to be occupied except by him and his party. If he is not present the box remains empty. When James E. Freeman, Episcopal bishop of Washington, entered the hall, this young man with great ceremony conducted him to the presidential box. In his estimation his bishop surely rated the highest seat of honor.

While this convention was one of the largest of its kind held in a great many years, it was handled with a minimum of friction and confusion. The chairman of each committee in charge was trained in his particular kind of work and had had much experience. As one man put it, "The wheels revolved so smoothly that one lost track of the fact there were any."

More religious publications sent official representatives to this convention than to any other ever held—nearly a hundred.

One of the facts brought out by this convention is that the cry for self-determination is as great in religion as in everything else. In the so-called non-Christian countries it is found that more and more the native wishes religious independence. For the most part native Christian churches are national, and not denominational.

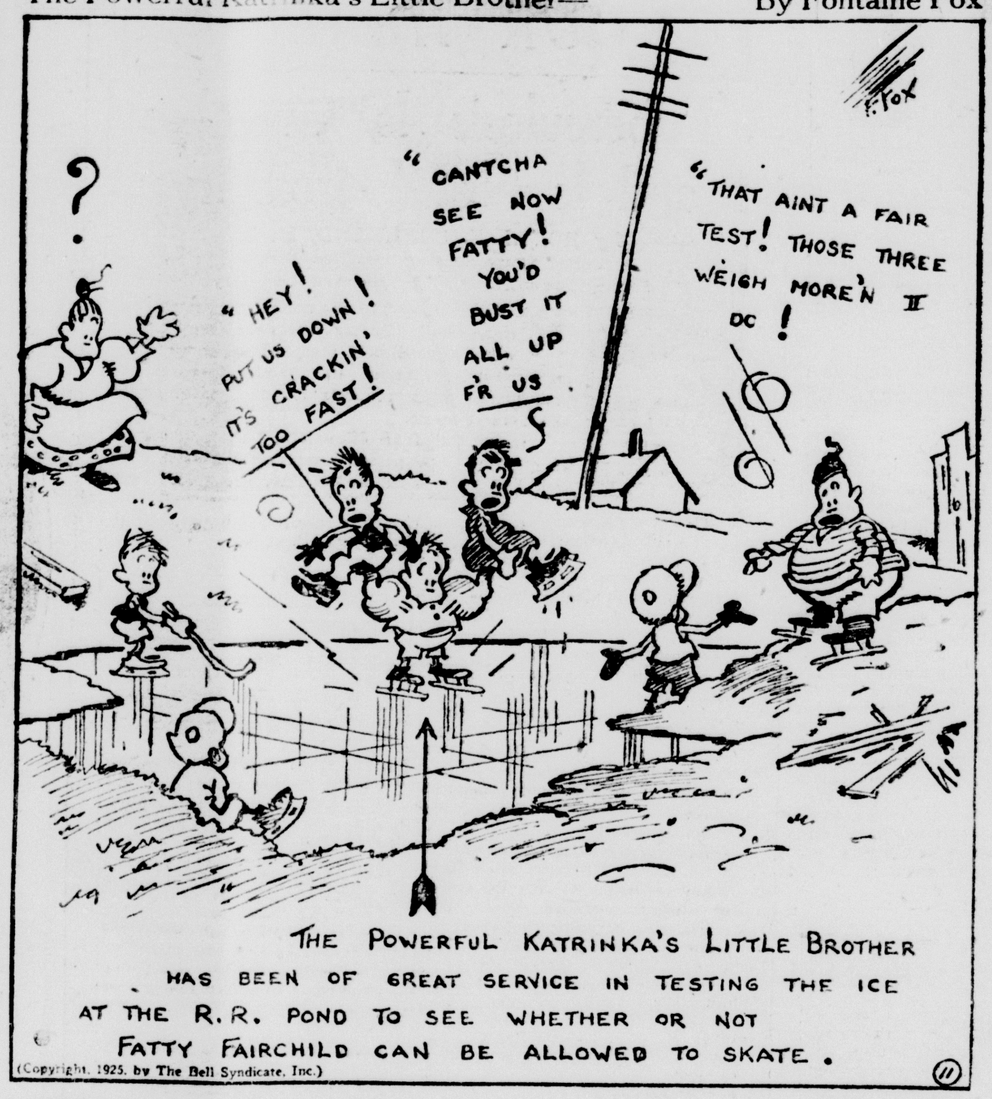

No criticism was made of other Christian denominations or of the non-Christian religions. It was realized that in this as well as in most other things the old adage, "There is so much good in the worst of us, and so much bad in the best of us, that it scarcely behooves any of us to talk about the rest of us," held true.

The Powerful Katrinka's Little Brother— By Fontaine Fox

NEWSY GOSSIP OF BIG CITIES

By CHARLES A. SMITH.

LONDON, Feb. 11.—A new idea in radio broadcasting, recently tried out at the Nottingham Station, probably will shortly be adopted all over the country.

The idea is that, instead of the customary wait of one or two minutes between each item of the program, a series of short, sharp "dots" will be broadcast in order to indicate to "fans" that their sets are working properly, that the program is still proceeding and that there is no need for them to start adjusting their sets and thus set up oscillations.

The new system has been favorably received in this country and is said to reduce "atmospherics" and oscillation considerably.

British radio experts are successfully exprimenting with the discovery of M. Lossev, a Russian scientist, that, with a certain circuit, it is possible to apply a battery to a crystal set and obtain oscillation in the same manner as a tube set.

It is stated that the saving in original cost and operation of a successful oscillating crystal set over an ordinary tube set would be tremendous, and that the receiver would have more general efficiency and greater purity of tone. It is thought that in the near future it will thus be possible to "get" either Australia or the United States from London on a crystal set.

A new microphone for use at broadcasting stations is reported to have been invented by a London radio engineer.

It is said to eliminate all chance of overtones, and, most important, it is said to be able to cope with and overcome the voices of soprano singers, with out any squeaking or distortion of tone.

The new microphone is designed along the lines of the paper-diaphragm loud-speaker, which gives pure production.

Recent experiments have shown that it is possible for an aeroplane to use the smoke from its exhaust as a radio aerial.

This is thought to be because the exhaust air is very hot and highly ionized and, therefore, a good conductor.

In the event the radio aerial carried by a French battleship is shot away, a powerful upright jet of water may be used instead.

Experiments that have been recently carried out by the French naval officers and experts have shown that it is possible to use such a jet of water as an aerial.

A fool-proof radio transmitter for lifeboats, which can be automattically worked by any survivor, is the latest aid for the prevention of loss of life at sea.

By merely turning a handle in a box no larger than an ordinary biscuit tin, any person will be able to send out continuous SOS signals and at the same time automatically illuminate the mast head.

The device has been invented to meet the recent law laid down by the British authorities that every tenth lifeboat on passenger vessels shall have a radio transmission set and a masthead light.

Radio has become the most prolific source of invention in Britain.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—One of the most impressive phases of New York's poverty is its strident buoyancy. Poverty as a rule sinks to voiceless despair, but here it seems to have astounding color and noise. It shrieks and is blatant.

London's East End is comparable to New York's East Side. But in London the streets are empty and the home are despressingly cheerless. The people you see seem shabby and sickly. And they slink along in a beaten, dispirited manner.

The East Side is always ringing with shouts and laughter. Children romp with as gay abandon as may be found anywhere. Hurdy gurdies are jangling. The keepers of tiny shops seem well fed and opulent. There is a community spirit of friendliness.

The most solemn note of all is the Jew with long whiskers, trousers bagging about his feet, small derby clapped over his ears and hands clasped tightly across his back. He walks along looking only at the ground and dreams.

The reason, of course, is that in London they have little hope of rising above the dreariness. In America they are filled with hope. They have seen thousands go from pushcarts to ownerships of big stores uptown. From tenement homes to Riverside drive apartments.

There is more to amuse on the East Side than any other haven of squalor in the world. There are moving picture shows to every block. Cheap dance halls. Public swimming pools and playgrounds. Coffee houses and cafes with good music.

There are public libraries and free schools of all kinds. Sweat shops are disappearing and no worker feels he is harnessed to some job. There is always another job waiting for him just around the corner.

Most of Manhattan's panhandlers live in the streets shooting off of Park Row—such as Mulberry, Roosevelt, Pearl and Duane. In the evening many of them gather on the benches of City Hall park. There is no profession so mysterious as "mooching." These men are in many instances well educated and quite harmless. The professional moocher is rarely one who will rob or stoop to other crimes. He just drifts along picking up enough to buy him skimpy meals and a cot in one of the flop houses. There is a venerable "Crust Thrower"—who pounces upon a planted crust of bread with ravage hunger to excite sympathy—who has been a beggar for 40 years. He is now 70. He has read thebest in literature, knows much about all and has never taken a drink. "Work," he says, "is only for fools."

A newspaper has been trying to find out who is the most popular of New York headwaiters. All have a certain following, but I do not believe they are really popular. Most of their gestures are incited by the hope of reward.

The strangest thing about a headwaiter is the manner in which the public stand in awe of him. They purr to his bows and compliments. If he turns they away, they go back again. And will more than likely tip him on the return visit. That is why the New York headwaiter often tells patrons there are no tables left when as a matter of fact there are.

Up along the Hudson is a glowering mountainside known as Storm King. It is black, gaunt and forbidding. When the wind sweeps about it there is a roaring screech. It is one of the most picturesquely named spots around New York.

TODAY

BY ARTHUR BRISBANE

(The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune).

WALL STREET GAVE AND TOOK

Today "Tom" Lawson, author of "Frenzied Finance," and an active figure in much frenzied finance of his own, will be buried close to the magnificent estate that he once owned. Wall street gave it to him. And Wall street took it away from him.

When he was 16 he made $40,000 in Wall street. In 20 years of Wall street life he made $40,000,000 and Wall street took it all back.

The old croupier at Monte Carlo's gambling house said to this writer long ago: "We don't have to worry about profits. While they have money the strangers stay and gamble or spend it in our hotels. When they haven't any more money they go. The money stays with us."

So with wall street, if you gamble.

THE PROPHET CHEERS UP

The unfortunate prophet of doom is feeling better, although the world didn't end when he said it would.

He has excuses. Flashlights of photographers interfered with the Divine powers. That seems strange when you consider the number of flashing lights existing in this universe.

Best of all, Reidt, who sold his potatoes, his Ford car and little hut, thinking he wouldn't need them any more, need shed no tears. The notoriety the newspapers have given him will enable him to buy a bigger house, a bigger car and fill his cellar with potatoes. There is nothing like advertising.

THE PLACE FOR BIG DOGS

It is reported and denied that Balto, magnificent Siberial wolfhound, leader in the dog team that arried the anti-toxin to Nome, is dead. Some of the dogs had their lungs frozen. All the blood in their bodies could not sufficiently heat the air that entered the lungs.

Dead or alive, Balto is a magnificent specimen, and dragging a sled in Alaska is exactly the world for him.

But the heroism of that particular dog is no excuse for the stupidity that keeps wolfhounds, dangerous sometimes to their owners, and nearly always dangerous to others, in crowded cities.

When a man's wolfhound, police dog, or other huge animal, bites a child, the punishment should be the same as if the owner of the dog had been guilty of criminal assault.

RUSSIA IS SO UNCOURTLY

You notice that some of our biggest and most prosperous "best minds" have always been bitter toward the government of Russia.

They don't want Russia recognized by this nation. They want every little child in the cradle to be taught to shudder when the word "soviet" is spoken.

Our "leading minds" are intelligent. They know what is good for them and what isn't.

Yesterday's news from Russia told of seven men who had been sentenced to death, merely for grafting, on an extensive scale at the expense of the public, and theacherously selling out their government.

A nation doing that sort of thing, of course, doesn't please certain "leading minds" in America. For instance, those that engineered the water of the naval oil supplies. And it does not please those that would deprive the United States of adequate air defense, because some steel men and the oil men want the profits from big battleships.

Secretary Weeks seems to discover in the demand for an adequate air force some reflection on General Pershing or other able generals. That is imaginary. To say that a family needs an automobile is not to reflect upon the old family coachman. He was a good coachman, all honor to him. But the coachman is out of date. What you want now is a good chauffeur. And to hire one is no insult to the good old coachman.

Battleships and regiments of soldiers, crawling like ants over the ground, are out of date. What the nation wants is fighting air machines.

Peter Garretson, of Paterson, celebrated his ninetieth birthday on Sunday. Sixty years ago the life insurance people didn't want to insure him. He was "a poor risk." And the insurance people told him so.

Thereupon Mr. Garretson did more thinking and less eating, gave up the insurance idea and lived to be 90.

As Senator Copeland, who is also a doctor, says: "Half of what you eat keeps you alive, the other half keeps doctors alive." The figures might be changed thusly: Forty per cent of what you eat keeps you alive, 50 per cent keeps the doctor alive and 10 per cent keeps the undertaker going.

Fashion can do what other things can't do. For instance, the fashion in short skirts has made fashionable restaurants and night dancing resorts in London cut down the height of tables and chairs. It is impossible for women with skirts up to their knees to sit gracefully, not to say modestly, at the regulation high table. So the legs are cut off.

WHO'S WHO

HERBERT HENRY ASQUITH.

The recent announcement that Herbert H. Asquith, ex-premier of Great Britain, had accepted the honor of an earldom offered by King George at the suggestion of Prime Minister Baldwin, is generally regarded as signalling the end of a great political career. He is 73 years old and his life reads like fiction.

HERBERT ASQUITH

Born of manufacturing, nonconformist stock, the great schools of England were above the social or educational ambitions of the family and young Asquith was sent to the city of London school. There he won a scholarship to Balaiol. At Oxford Asquith swept the board clean of scholastic prizes and left a memory of being a thoroughly pleasant man, normal in all things except in the sweep of his mind. It was as a lawyer that he first acclaimed public notice.

He was admitted to the bar in 1876, when he was 24 years old. He served as secretary of state for the home department from 1892 to 1895. For the three years following he was chancellor of the exchequer. In 1914 he became secretary of state for war. He had a seat in parliament from 1886 to 1918 and was prime minister and first lord of the treasury from 1908 to 1916.

Asquith has been married twice, his present wife being the famous Margaret Tennant Asquith, who has written her "Memoirs" and other books which have amused and angered so many celebrities.

If face paint could be used as a cure for rheumatism, we'll bet a cookie that a good many paragraphers would quit saying anything about it on the girl's face.—Newark (O.) American-Tribune.

How to Solve Puzzle.

The best way to solve this cross-word puzzle is to run over the list of horizontal and vertical synonyms in search of evident or "easy" words. If horizontal, the word you are looking for must extend crosswise from the number to the first shaded stop on the right; if vertical, it must extend downward from the number to the first shaded stop below. When finished, the words should read equally well crosswise and downward.

TO DEVELOP STURDY BOYS

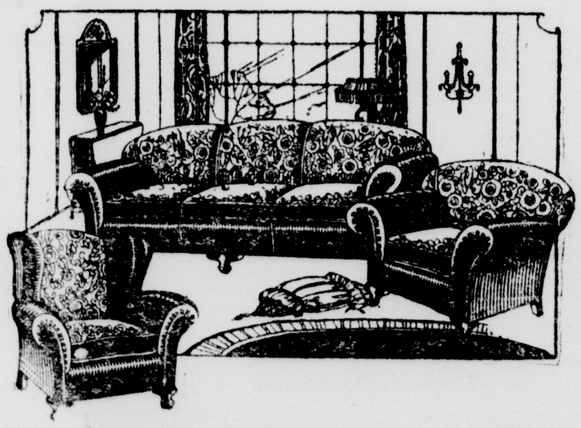

Earle's Hypo-Cod Will Develop Strong, Healthy Children. A Pleasant-tasting Cod Liver Oil Health Builder.

Weak, thin, puny boys and girls have the necessary qualities in their systems to become strong and healthy children. Nothing will bring them out quicker and with more positive results than good old-fashioned Cod Liver Oil. Earle's Hypo-Cod is loaded with this terrible-tasting, ugly smelling oil in tasteless form. It's a rich honey-like tonic that the smallest children take as quickly as they would a glass of orange juice.

In addition to thousands of Cod Liver Oil vitamines, every dose of Earle's Hypo-Cod has the proper blood enrichers and system builders to give poor, skinny kiddies an appetite for good wholesome food and to put life and vigor into their little frail bodies. It can be had at all good drug stores in liquid or tablet form at $1.00 per bottle. Heartily recommended in East Liverpool by Mathews Cut Rate, Economy Drug Store, Bulger's Pharmacy, Gamble's Drug Store, McCutcheon's Pharmacy and Huff's Drug Store in Chester.

These tablets sweeten the stomach of a dyspeptic by giving it the alkaline effect as in health. Thus, whether you eat corned beef and cabbage, pork sausage, mince pie, buckwheats, baked beans, or other table terrors, you laugh at all fear and once again enjoy the freedom of a good eater in good company. Get a 60 cent box today of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets and then tell dyspepsia to go hang.

POEMS THAT LIVE

Music, when soft voices die,
Vibrates in the memory—
Odors, when sweet violets sicken,
Live within the sense they quicken.

Are heaped for the beloved's bed;
And so thy thought, when thou art gone,
Love itself shall slumber on.

KNOCKS 'EM OUT QUICK

Toughest of Old Hang On Coughs Go

Why send a boy to do a man's work? Sweet, sugary cough syrups may help a simple cough, but when you are traveling along towards the cemetery with a stubborn tight old cough that lingers on and on with the most persistent devilishness then you need a real cough medicine—and the realest destroyer of tough old coughs is Bronchuline Emulsion.

The cough may be so tantalizing that you can't sleep nights and your days may be filled with racking torture, yet that's just the kind of a cough that Bronchuline likes to tackle and conquer.

Many times a few doses will stop the hacking and loosen things up and you can depend upon half a bottle to make a two months' old cough quit cold and disappear.

Life is sweet—it will be much sweeter when you get rid of that old time cough.

Ask Jesse D. Holloway, Carnahan's Drug Stores, East Liverpool and Newell, W. Va., or any wide awake druggist for a bottle of Bronchuline Emulsion. There's no dope in it—or chloroform, and a couple of teaspoonfuls will usually end any ordinary cough.

Latest Photos From Floyd Collins' "Living Tomb"

Above: Kentucky state guardsmen keeping sightseers from the entrance to the cave. Below: Al Maddox, who is seriously ill with pneumonia as a result of his heroic efforts to rescue Collins; "Skeets" Miller, newspaper reporter, who has repeatedly dared death in attempts to save the entombed man, and who succeeded in getting the first story of the mishap from the victim; and Dr. W. H. Howlett, who was brought from Chicago to go into the cave and operate on Collins. The plan was frustrated by the slide which blocked the passage. The map shows the situation graphically. 1—Collins lies trapped here indirectly connected with the world by an electric light wire. 2—The floor of the cave has risen between him and his rescuers, blocking all hope of getting him out by a natural passage. 3—The rescuers now are drilling a shaft down to where the prisoner lies. There is danger of the whole cave collapsing or of workers breaking through into some unknown cave and falling many feet. 4—Aided by the most modern machinery, the rescuers are digging the shaft and have it down more than 18 feet.

Pigeon Reveals Mail Cache

Two boys at play in Montgomery, Ala., saw a wounded pigeon fluttering to refuge and followed it, with the result they discovered a lair used in a mail robbery scheme. Packages of letters of insurance and banking importance, were found. Many of the letters have been robbed of the checks. The pigeon had, after fluttering from the air, limped into a sewerage inlet and the two boys, William Avinger and Marion Threasher, boy scouts, removed the heavy iron manhole lid to pursue the bird and give it aid. The mail was hidden under the iron covering.

How to Make Pine Cough Syrup at Home

Has no equal for prompt results. Takes but a moment to prepare, and saves you about $2.

You know that pine is used in nearly all prescriptions and remedies for coughs. The reason is that pine contains several peculiar elements that have a remarkable effect in soothing and healing the membranes of the throat and chest. Pine is famous for this purpose.

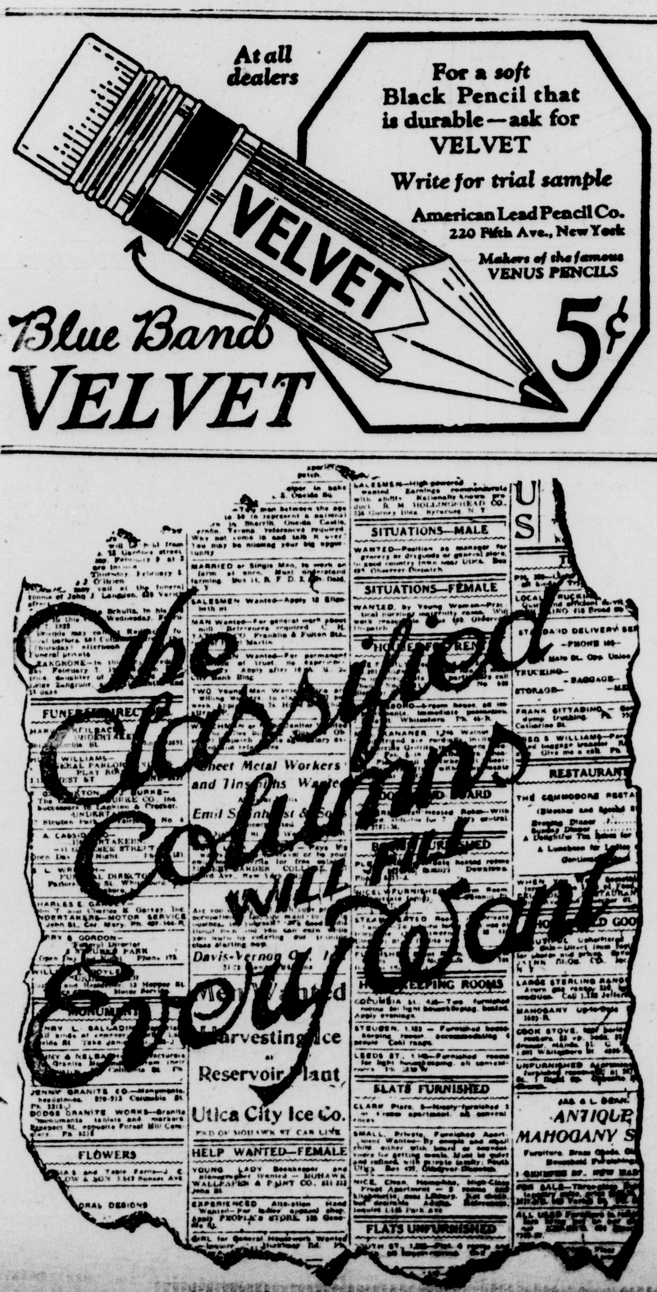

Pine cough syrups are combinations of pine and syrup. The "syrup" part is usually plain sugar syrup.

To make the best pine cough remedy that money can buy, put 2½ ounces of Pinex in a pint bottle, and fill up with home-made sugar syrup. Or you can use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, you make a full pint—more than you can buy ready-made for three times the money. It is pure, good and very pleasant—children take it eagerly.

You can feel this take hold of a cough or cold in a way that means business. The cough may be dry, hoarse and tight, or may be persistently loose from the formation of phlegm. The cause is the same—inflamed membranes—and the Pinex and Syrup combination will stop it—usually in 24 hours or less. Splendid too, for bronchial asthma, hoarseness or any ordinary throat ailment.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract and is famous the world over for its prompt effect upon coughs.

Beware of substitutes. Ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Dascome compared them swiftly. Then he sat down, took a magnifying glass from the table drawer and carefully examined the two writings, letter by letter. Karesia saw him pale, grow grayer and grayer, the color leaving even his lips. Yet he kept on steadily, his head bent over his work, his hand steady; his self-control was marvellous—he was not merely observing, he was thinking. When he had finished, he spoke like a legal examiner convinced.

"I know her writing well—I think there is no doubt of it. There must have been more than one man implicated in that crime. They kidnapped her for the money they thought they would get out of it, then found they couldn't carry it through and, to save themselves from discovery, decided to fix the crime on me, send me to the chair for murder—finish me. It's in entirely new aspect."

He laid the lens down, stood up and turned. He was as gray as the stucco walls of the room, his gray eyes with pupils contracted looked curiously light and opaque. "I went through hell because of her—once before," he said with steady emphasis. "What good will it do her, my going through hell again? Who would dream that you would make the discovery? We are the only ones who——"

Karesia's answer was a cry, "I tried to think so! John, I couldn't! You couldn't!"

Suddenly he almost broke: "But—Karesia—I can't give you up!" The muscles of his face twitched, his eyelids reddened, pricked by tears. Then, abruptly, he jerked himself about, stood back to her, and Karesia saw him lay hold on self-control; his hands dropped to his sides, his shoulders squared. She saw his whole body stiffen and straighten. In the silence, Karesia heard his breath drawn even and deep, even and deep, like one in heavy sleep. "He is stronger and braver than I," Karesia said to herself. "He has decided—it took me all night to decide."

She stood and watched him. Dascome had begun to walk the floor, apparently oblivious of her, his hands gripped behind his back, head bent, absorbed in profound thought. The sun looking in now through the high windows turned his fair hair yellow, golden, like a child's, strange contrast to his lined gray face. He walked the length of the long room, back and forth, many times; the place was perfectly silent save for his steady, even stride.

Karesia felt removed an immense distance from him; it seemed unbelievable that his arms had held her, his lips caressed her; that he had told her that he loved her better than aught else on earth; that his thoughts had been hers and her thoughts his. It was a foretaste of the isolation, the thought of which had so terrified her the night before. Was she going to be shut out from even his thoughts?

When, finally, he paused and saw her agonized face, then came and put his hands on her shoulders, it was like heaven opening to receive her; he looked so much more like himself—gray still, but with love in his eyes. "I had to think it out, dear—the best course. This discovery changes—everything." His arms were about her now and he kissed her many times. "My love—my own love! She's my wife still. It's hard—God knows!"

"I knew last night that you would say that. You're a good man, John. I'm little and weak compared to you. Last night I nearly burned those things. I said, 'No one but yourself will know.' Then I couldn't. It was despicable! I was going to commit a crime, then live a lie for ever after. But you think more clearly, then do what is right—no matter what it costs. I love you for it—I shall always love you. Nobody can take that away from me—my worship of you!"

Dascome caught his breath sharply. "Don't, Karesia! You can't tell me anything about temptation that I don't know. I ought not to have let you love me—my life has been one long temptation. Only a few minutes ago, I'd have tempted you, if I could. I do think quickly and I understand character—I saw it in your face, that I could no more tempt you than I could move the earth. And there is so much for which I should ask your forgiveness—but not now. I want to keep your love—as it is now—as long as I can. There are things that must be done now, at once, but the long grind begins, the hopeless days and the fearful nights, like some I have known—I don't know then how it will be. The great, staring public eye focussed on me again! In my misery I shall want the touch of you, the comfort of you, worse than a starving man ever wanted food——"

He turned away abruptly and looked down at his wife's photograph. "Poor Elaine! And they did that to you! Well, I haven't forgotten my purpose!" He flung back his head. "So help me God! they shall pay for what they have done to you and me! The public eye—let it stare!"

Karesia felt that she had not fully realized. "It will have to be made public, John?"

"Yes."

"But it will clear away all doubt—you will be not simply acquitted, you will be vindicated."

Dascome was looking down at the photograph, his brows drawn. "Perhaps," he said evenly.

"Oh, John!" Karesia said in utter distress. "That is the one thing that has comforted me! What do you mean?"

Dascome whirled about. "Don't, Karesia! Don't agonize like that! There will be no doubt—when I have finished this thing. Time—that is what I must have, time. . . . Listen, dear—first I must establish my right to care for her—do it quietly, without publicity. Secrecy is absolutely necessary. No one must know of this until I am ready to make it public—that's imperative!"

"Will you tell Clarice, dear?"

A flash of expression crossed his face. "Yes."

"And do you want—Elaine to stay with me for a time? I want to do everything I can for her, John. I will do it so gladly."

"You have a big heart, Karesia," Dascome said less steadily. "No, I don't know yet just how it can be managed, but I must take her away at once—as soon as I can make arrangements. She must go to a hospital and under the name of Mary Bliss. They must see what can be done for her."

FEAR OF INDIAN REVOLT PROMPTED LONDON TO REFUSE U. S. OPIUM DEMAND

Great Britain Seems to Prefer Criticism From America Rather Than Risk Trouble With Her Subjects.

LONDON, Feb.—India presents a continual problem to the British Empire, a problem that requires delicate handling. Therein lies one of the reasons for the attitude of the British delegate upon the American demands at the recent Opium Conference in Geneva.

Great Britain seems to prefer criticism from the United States upon her opium policy rather than to risk actual trouble with her Indian subjects by endorsing a too drastic anti-opium program.

This opium affair has not strengthened Anglo-American friendship. On the contrary, it has led to some small display of bitterness to both sides. There seems to be a lack of full understanding.

Has No Regrets.

Many sound British thinkers endorse the British attitude, and their views are interesting.

Lord Sydenham, once Governor of Bombay, knows India well and discussed the Opium Conference at Geneva, and its possible effects upon the British relations with India, at some length in an interview with the International News Service.

"Britain has nothing wherewith to reproach herself regarding her opium policy," said Lord Sydenham.

"The position at Geneva certainly showed the danger of the League of Nations and of dealing with the sort of tribunals established under its auspices. It seems as if Great Britain was placed on trial before a court where two sentimental anti-opium extremists, personified by Representative Porter and Bishop Brent, acted as accusers. The majority of the rest of those present had no interest in opium at all, but they were entitled to vote against Britain.

"Under The Hague Convention, Great Britain promised to stop the exportation of opium. That promise was faithfully carried out. There is no export from India now, although an infinitesimal quantity of opium may be smuggled out.

"It cannot be too clearly stated that the entire world's export of opium comes from China and Persia. If opium goes to the United States, it is these countries with which America must deal. As far as the British Empire is concerned there is no exportation in the ordinary sense of the word.

"With regard to India, the petition is this: For 2,000 years the natives have been in the habit of taking opium internally in the shape of pills, and it is practically impossible to end the habit. It is true our revenue officers might prevent the cultivation to some extent, but it must be remembered that opium also grows wild in the native states, and it is almost impossible to interfere.

Eaten In India.

"Opium is eaten in India by the most virile tribes of the population, like the Sikhs and the Rajputs, men who do the hardest kinds of work. It is most probable that they would be unable to work without it. The injurious effects upon them are negligible.

"In military expeditions in India we often had to serve out opium as a daily ration.

"It must be remembered, also, that if opium is suppressed there are many far worse hemp products, especially bhang, one of the most degenerating drugs known. If opium growing were prevented in India, the natives might fly to these substitutes.

"The British case is this: It is impossible to stop opium growing in India, but Britain has prevented its exportation. America should deal with the countries actually exporting opium, not with us."

Because of a dispute of waterside workers in Australia, business conditions there were upset and the Christmas preparations greatly suffered in consequence.

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Chronic coughs and persistent colds lead to serious lung trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with twofold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and kills the germ.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by the medical fraternity as the greatest healing agency for the treatment of chronic coughs and colds and other forms of throat and lung troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and destroys the germs that lead to consumption.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chronic coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, catarrhal bronchitis and other forms of throat and lung diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or the flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Co., Atlanta, Ga. (Adv.)

NEWS NOTES FROM MOVIELAND

BY DAILY DEAN

This is to introduce Kathleen, Myers, only blonde comedienne on the Christy lot. She certainly isn't hard to look at, is she? While she adds to the joy and daughter of life in the two-reelers with Larry Semon and at present as leading lady to Jimmie Adams, she takes an occasional flier into more dramatic roles.

For instance, she played opposite Tom Mim in his recently released costume picture, "Dick Turpin." And Kathleen looks mighty sweet in the frills and fureblows of this early English story. She has also appeared with big, handsome Rawlinson. She has been in pictures for about four years.

Kathleen's home town is "little old

Noo Yawk," and she admits a weakness for the game of pinochle and for Pomeranian dogs.

Rudolph Valentino is to make "The Scarlet Power" when he has finished "Cobra," on which he is now working. Since starting the production of his own pictures Rudy is said to be working very hard. He arises at 5 a. m., gets to the studio at six and puts in an hour on horseback even though it it still dark. Mario Crillo, a former Italian cavalry officer, is putting Valentino through his paces in anticipation of some fencing scenes on horseback for "The Secret Power."

The featured players in "Contrabrand," an adaptation from a Clarence Buddington Kelland Saturday Evening Post story, are Lois Wilson, Noah Beery, Lillian Leighton, Raymond Hatton, Raymond McKee, Charles Ogle and Luke Cosgrove. Alan Closland directs this Paramount production. Charles Ogle and Lillian Leighton are doing their bit as screen husband and wife for the 23rd time in this film.

Flora Finch, the famous comedienne who was starred with John Bunny in the early days of screen comedies, has an important part in "Man and Women," a Paramount film directed by William DeMille. Miss Finch is to play the part of Cousin Kate, the newly rich cousin from Kansas who visits New York. She wears fashionable clothes of the flapper variety and we predict "a scream." Richard Dix, Claire Adams, Neil Hamilton and Kathlee Myers.

Robert Edeson are featured in this photoplay.

Lon Chaney, Mae Busch and Matt Moore have the leading roles in "The Unholy Three," a Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer film. The "atmosphere" is supplied by Alice Julian who weighs more than 300 pounds, Walter P. Cole, human skeleton; Peter Lance, dancer, a wild man of Borneo, bearded woman, all the "freaks" of the canvas tent.

After playing the feminine lead with House Peters in "Overboard," for Universal, pretty Patsy Ruth Miller will make another "Perfect 36" Universal Jewel. Patsy will be a "female Tarzan" she says, and Norman Kerry will have the job of taming her in "Lorraine of the Lions."

Women's and children's hand-embroidered wear and other articles shipped from Porto Rico to other countries within the last year had a total value of $7,000,000.

The Madness of Youth

When he left his childhood sweetheart in the little town where they were born, and went to the city to embark on a "career," he began counting the days when he could return and make her his wife. But he knew little of the lure of the great city, with all its follies and gaieties, to turn his head and blot his childhood sweetheart from his memory.

The experience of this young man in the city is an all too common one—but it serves to prove that love is a holy and sacred thing, and that he who yields to the voice of the tempter simply invites disillusionment, defeat and tragedy. Don't miss this vividly dramatic true life story, "The Sinner and the Code," in True Story Magazine for March. Now on sale.

British Columbia Mines Make Record For 1924 Production

VANCOUVER, B. C., Feb.—Mines of British Columbia broke all records for production in 1924, according to a report issued by the Hon. William Sloan, minister of mines.

The mineral output for the year, Mr. Sloan said, will total more than $45,000,000 in value, an increase of nearly 10 per cent over the 1923 figures, or $3,811,965. Increases in the production of metalliferous mines in the province was one of the features of mining activity during the year. Production from the metal mines was valued at $23,310,600, compared with $26,767,062 the previous year.

MANY THOUSANDS ARE LOST DAILY BY CARELESSNESS

Steel Mill Worker of Sharon, Pa., Really Earned a Large Sum in a Very Short While —Ka-di-ok Aided Him.

EDWARD PINCH

There are many ways to earn money other than by the sweat of the brow, and one of these is to value good health in monied terms, and just at this juncture "good health" becomes an asset. At least, this is the way Mr. Edward Pinch, a steel worker at the American Steel Wire Company's mills at Sharon, Pa., figures it out. Mr. Pinch, who has rached his 60th milestone in life, lives at 470 Hull street, and has been a resident of Sharon for 40 years.

Rheumatism was the bane of his life. He would have sold his ailment at any time, in fact, would have given it away with a bonus attached if some one had made the offer. He suffered excruciating pain, and at times his arms and shoulders became so painful he could only raise his hands and arms through force. He describes the pain as "terrible."

He read in the daily papers about Ka-di-ok, that wonderful herbal tonic laxative and system toner, and of the wonderful results others were receiving by its use. He decided to try it himself. He did. Result, read what he said to the Ka-di-ok representative after he had taken four bottles of Ka-di-ok:

"There is no tongue can tell the good I have received from the use of Ka-di-ok. It's worth a thousand dollars to me every day. It's a wonder. I have doctored for a long time and never received benefit. From the first Ka-di-ok helped me. I am a well man today."

How many are there who value health above wealth? Many do, but others are prone to neglect body pains and alarms which indicate broken down machinery somewhere in the human system. Ka-di-ok is recommended for the numerous stomach ailments such as indigestion, gas, flatulency, heart pains, constipation, etc. Better heed the danger signals and get a bottle today, before it is too late.

Ka-di-ok is sold and recommended in East Liverpool by Mathews' Cut Rate Medicine Store, 129 W. Sixth Street.

Detrick's Mt. Union Cagers Smash Kenyon Squad's Streak

Gambier Court Men Meet Downfall By One-Point Margin

Battle of Thrills Winds up With Purple Holding Big End of 25-24 Count; Slim Bromby Plays Brilliant Guard Game.

ALLIANCE, Feb. 11.—In a heart-breaking, nerve shattering contest that was staged in the presence of a record throng of collegiate court fans here last night, Kenyon college basketball team's winning streak in the Ohio conference was broken off by Coach Raymond Detrick's Mount Union passers, last year's conference champs, by the score of 25 to 24.

Up until last night Kenyon had won seven straight contests.

The game was a battle all the way. The Kenyonites held the lead by one point, the count being 15-14 at the end of the first half. The lead exchanged hands several times during the concluding period, but Mount was on top when the pistol barked. The Gambier five bobbled two foul shots in the closing seconds and lost their opportunity to win.

The foul shooting of Captain Lefty Miller of the Mounts was a deciding factor. The rangy center dropped in six during the game. Wilcoxen of Mount and Van Epps of Kenyon, the latter a contender for conference individual scoring leadership, registered four field goals apiece.

The performance of Bromby at guard for the Alliance combine was one of the outstanding features of the game put up by the winners.

Mount Union and Oberlin are the only unbeaten teams in the conference, the Mount men having won six straight games.

The lineup:

Kenyon		Mt. Union
Corey	F	Laber
Stansfield	F	Wilcoxen
Van Epps	C	Miller
Lewis	G	Bromby
Evans	G	Orin

Field goals—Corey 2, Stansfield, Van Epps 4, Evans, Peters, Wilcoxen 4, Miller, Bromby, Orin 2.

Fouls—Corey 3, Stansfield, Van Epps 2, Laber 2, Wilcoxen, Miller 6.

Cobb Hopeful But Not Sure of 1925 Race

Says Young Pitchers Will Cause Other Clubs Trouble.

AUGUSTA, Ga., Feb. 11.—Tyrus Raymond Cobb, manager of the Detroit Tigers, refused to go into ecstacies over the chances of his team in the American League race this year, but does remark that he hoped to give the league considerable run for its money.

Cobb, who won no little renown as a man who would take almost any kind of a chance when he was playing baseball under another man, has developed into a cautious cuss when it comes to talking about pennants.

"I won't predict that the Tigers will win a pennant," he told International News Service, "but I will say that I think the Tigers have a chance," and then added with some of his old-time speed "that is, if we don't run into a lot of injuries."

Ty harked back through the agonies of the last three years, when Tiger teams, seemingly driving along under considerable momentum, paused with a loud thump because of injuries here and there. He referred particularly to the distressing accident which befell Bunny Brief at the fag end of the last campaign, just when Brief was hitting a pinch-slugging stride that was standing out as a fine example to ambitious young men.

"A team may look mighty good when it is going along and it may have a lot of good ball players," Cobb said, "but the fact of the matter is that experience as well as ability must be present when a team is going to win a pennant. Our team is young. True, they are fighters and as game as they come. Just the same, I wouldn't predict too much until they have been seasoned. We'll wait and see what they look like after they get into some real hard action and then it will be time to predict something.

"We have very few new players. Those we have will be given every opportunity to make the grade.

"Much attention is to be given to these young pitchers who served us so well last year. Our pitching staff is no longer to be looked upon with scorn by other clubs."

Cobb revealed that he is looking for someone to understudy his own aging legs.

"I'll be out there playing when the bell rings," he said, "but I don't intend to play through every game every day if I don't feel well up to it. I'm not as young as I used to be, you know. If I feel myself getting tired I'll get on the bench and let someone else have a crack at it."

Spike Rumor That Nurmi Was Dropped

Running Dates Conflicted, Rubien's Secretary Explains.

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—Official denial was made today of a report given publication that Paavo Nurmi, Finnish wonder runner, had been dropped from a special exhibition race on the program of the Metropolitan A. A. U. championship, February 21, owing to what was characterized as "his indifferent running" in recent races. It was explained by Daniel J. Ferris, secretary to Fred Rubien, that Nurmi would not appear at the championships, because he had a previous engagement to run at the Georgetown university games on the same evening.

"When it was discovered that the Georgetown games and the championship conflicted, the latter were moved ahead one night in order to assure Nurmi's appearance," Ferris declared. "It was then discovered that the military authorities planned to use the armory for a set of games on the new date so that the championships were shifted back to their former date and all hope of Nurmi's appearance abandoned. I can not understand how such reports originate."

Columbia Oarsmen Report.

To the Patrons of High School Basket Ball.

The faculty and students in the High School want to assure you of our appreciation of the loyalty and support which you are giving our basket ball. May we, however, call your attention to the fact that at each game we lose the sale of a very considerable number of reserved seats, because those persons for whom they are reserved and held do not find it possible to attend all the games. To avoid this loss, we feel sure that our patrons who have reserved seats will concur in our effort to dispose of as many of these as possible. To this end, beginning Friday evening of this week, and continuing through the remainder of the season, we shall conform strictly to the rule printed on the schedule at the beginning of the season, which says that all reserved seats shall be offered for sale exactly fifteen minutes before the beginning of the boys' game, unless these tickets are paid for by this time.

KEARNS DENIES REPORTS OF OFFERS FOR DEMPSEY BOUTS

Asserts he Has Set no Price for Champion's Appearance; Says Jack's Ready to Take on Gibbon's or Wills.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 11—Jack Dempsey has received no offers for fights in 1925 and Jack Kearns, his manager, has made no price for the heavyweight King's appearance.

This was declared today by Kearns. "Dempsey will fight this summer and he is prepared to take on Gibbons or Wills—or both—or any one in the wide world but there is nothing to this talk that he is already matched or that I have asked $1,000,000 or thereabouts for his services" said Kearns.

"We have no agreement with Tex Rickard or Charles Henderson or anyone. Dempsey is not tied up to anybody and he will accept the first reasonable offer to fight made by any responsible promoter.

"Rickard or Henderson have not made any offers and I have not discussed terms with anyone. I have asked Rickard and others for offers but none has been received to date.

"I will go to New York early in March and take the matter up then, probably first discussing a Gibbons match."

Kearns denied that he had broken with Dempsey.

"Jack and I are just like that," said the be-diamonded manager, holding up fingers, "and we always will be. Jack's marriage will make no difference with his ring work. As soon as his honeymoon days are over, he is going to go right into hard training and will be in shape for a fight anytime this summer."

Koppisch to Try His Hand At Baseball

All-American Grid Man Believes he Will Make Good.

NEW YORK, Feb 11—Walter Koppisch, Columbia's 1924 football captain and greatest athlete, will try his hand at baseball when practice starts this Spring. This is a new departure for Koppisch, but Coach Andy Coakley believes he will make a crack-a-jack showing on the diamond.

"Wally" has shown his ability to run on the football field and in track meets, and his prowess there has well equipped him to beat the ball between bases and to chase out the liners in the field.

Koppisch's honors during his academic years at Columbia have not been confined to football. He was for four years an important mainstay of the track team, and it was this activity mainly that kept him out of baseball. But last June, after college closed, Koppisch signified his desire to compete for a place on the baseball team, and practised batting under Coach Coakley. Coakley was much impressed by his hard slugging and figures that "Wally" ought to make one of the hardest hitters on the Blue and White squad this year.

In his third year as captain of the Columbia eleven, Koppisch won a place in the backfield of Walter Camp's first All-American team. During the same year he tied the world's indoor record for 440 yards on the cinder track. If "Wally" makes good on the diamond he will stand out as one of the greatest all-around stars of all time. Few college athletes ever have achieved varsity letters in three major sports.

Koppisch's baseball aspirations are in accord with the opinion of Christy Mathewson, famous pitcher and now president of the Boston Braves, who believes that great football players, on account of their speed and resourcefulness, can be developed into excellent baseball stars. Frankie Frisch, a former Fordham football star, is a ready example of such a successful metamorphosis.

Columbiana School Passers Defeated By Struthers Teams

COLUMBIANA, Feb. 11.—Columbiana high school basketball teams returned home from Struthers with their colors trailing as the result of two defeats by the fast high school teams of that city. The girls lost, 6 to 26, after holding the Struthers second team to six points in the first half, but failed to score a point against the all star team in the last half. The boys did not play near their usual standard. Struthers won, 29 to 16.

It is hoped that Coach McKain will be able to improve the morale of the teams in time for the hard games this week with East Palestine on Wednesday night and West Middlesex on Friday night. Several hundred citizens of the Holy City will journey here Wednesday night for the big game of the season between the natural rivals, as Columbiana will endeavor to get revenge for the boys' defeat and the girls' tie game at East Palestine earlier in the season.

Court and Diamond Squads Carded for Contests Tonight

Basketball and indoor baseball are on the boards tonight at the Y. M. C. A.

Industrial league schedules call for two indoor diamond contests and one cage clash.

Laughlin 6 and Smith-Phillips baseballers will meet at 7 o'clock. The Laughlin 5 and Potters tossers play at 1:30.

The Liverpool Motors and Laughlin 6 team will put on the sole basketball game of the evening, beginning at 8:15.

Glenmores Battle Weaver Passers in Thrilling Contest

The Glenmore and Weaver fives staged a battle royal last night on the Glenmore court, the score being knotted at 20-20 after the end of the regular playing time and half a dozen overtime periods.

The Weaver crew pulled big time strategy on Glenmore at the end of quarters, substituting fresh teams. The clash was replete with thrills and at times a trifle rough.

The lead changed hands a number of times during the tilt, but the score was tied at 15-15 when the allotted period of time ended.

Despite the fact that several extra five-minute periods were tacked on, neither team could pass the 20-mark and they finally decided to let it stay. The Glenmores have invited the Weavers out for another game.

The Weavers lined up with R. McConville and Lundy on forwards; Pollock at center, and H. Kinsey and E. Bailey at guards. The Glenmore lineup included D. Kinsey and Graham at forwards, Foutts on center and R. Kinsey and Rose at guards.

Wills' Challenge, Board Says, Won't Take Precedence

Request for Shot at Jack Dempsey's Title Will be Considered Along With Rest of Field, Commission Rules.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—That the attitude in official quarters here toward Harry Wills' pretentions as a challenger for the heavyweight title is one of neutral tolerance was indicated today when chairman George E. Brower, of the state athletic commission let it be known that the board would not grant automatically to Willis the first shot, if any, at Jack Dempsey's trick nose. The sepia-tinted young man will have to take his chances along with the rest of the field, Brower intimated.

In so doing he ignored the fact that Wills has had a challenge of two years' standing, filed with the commission and in consequence should be at the head of the line that forms on the left. The board has set a precident by taking this stand in the case of challengers for other championship titles.

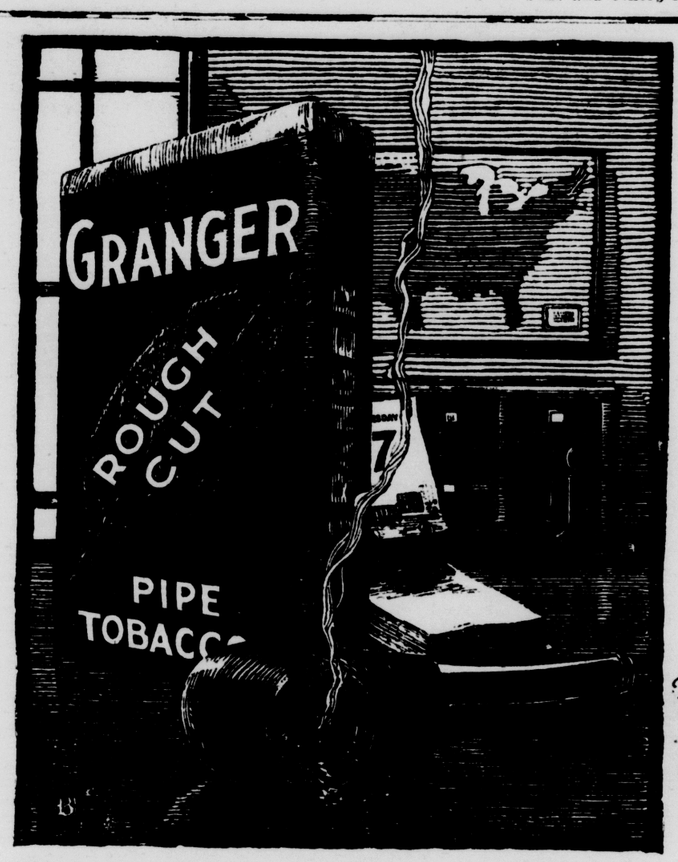

"I have informed Paddy Mullens that Wills' defy will receive the same consideration that we tender those of other challengers", Brower said.

"I can not, however, commit myself in advance about giving Wills preference over other men. He will have to take his chances with the rest."

The chairman would make no statement on the announced plan to bring Dempsey and Gibbons together early next summer with Wills among the innocent bystanders.

He indicated he could not meet the situation by passing judgment on the plan before it was officially presented for the commission's consideration.

Many boxing men, however, were pleased to see in Mulin's visit to the commission the first step in a determined campaign hereabouts to get Dempsey and Wills in one and the same ring before the end of the outdoor season. Whether these behind the project will be insistent that Dempsey grant Wills preference over Gibbons and others remains to be seen.

Christians Lead Sunday School Loop

Move up Following Victory Over Lutheran Five.

Coming out on top by a margin of four points, the First Christian church passers of the Sunday school circuit obtained ample revenge for past downfalls when they defeated the Lutherans last night on the high school court. The score was 31 to 26. The winners go into first place in the league as a result of their victory.

Both teams put up a fast article of basketball, the Christians excelling the Lutherans in all departments save shooting.

The College street crew was away off in its tries for points during the first three periods, missing enough shots to win a couple of basketball games.

The Lutheran five took the lead and held it for the first three periods. They scored five points in the opening period before the Christians secured a single point. But their lead was gradually reduced until at the end of the period, the count was 6 to 4.

The Third street squad, however, jumped ahead again in the second quarter and were leading by the score of 13 to 7 when time was called. All through the third period they retained an advantage, the Christians trailing by three points at the end of the canto.

The Christians tied up the game at the end of the final period. Howard's field goal put them ahead for the first time during the contest and after that they began to find the basket from all points on the floor. There was no question as to the victor from that point on.

Owens, Howard, Kilmer and Bloor were the best performers for the Christians, while G. Woessner, Anthony and Kibble starred for the Lutherans.

In the preliminary clash the Christian Juniors doubled the score on the Lutheran Juniors, the count being 25 to 12. Gregg, Lindell, Wotring and Smith were the Christian mainstays, while Greenwood, M. Barlow and Badgley performed well for the losers.

Canada Is Spending $4,000,000 Monthly On Former Soldiers

OTTAWA, Ont., Feb.—Canada is spending $1,000,000 a week in caring for and rehabilitating ex-soldiers of its war-time army, according to the annual report of N. F. Parkinson, Deputy Minister of the Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment.

"More than $660,000,000 has been spent by the Dominion in this work in the last five years," says the report. "Bonuses paid immediately after demobilization amounted to $163,000,000. The cost of pensions to date has exceeded $200,000,000. Hospital treatment, physical rehabilitation, artificial limbs, vocational education and unemployment relief have involved a further expenditure of $110,000,000."

Named Captain By Gen. Mack

Earl Mack, above, peppery son of Connie Mack, will captain the Athletics the coming campaign. The move is expected to be a popular one with the team, as Earl is well liked generally. He has been chief aide to his father for a year or more.

Tenants Ousted, Take House.

Mrs. Ida Ragsdale of Memphis, Tenn., recently ousted some tenants from property she owned because they failed to pay rent, and was astonished when she went to look over the property afterwards, to find the tenants, in moving, had lifted the house bodily and placed it on an adjoining piece of land. The ouster proceedings were instituted, Mrs. Ragsdale says, after the tenants had failed to pay their rent over a considerable time.

STRONG SERMON DELIVERED HERE

Rev. W. C. Stokes Gives Impressive Talk at Boyce Church.

A large crowd was present last night at the Boyce Methodist Episcopal church, when Rev. W. C. Stokes, pastor of the Pennsylvania Avenue Methodist Episcopal church, delivered a very forceful sermon on "Sin."

H. J. Cox, singing evangelist, had charge of the junior choir, made up of 60 voices, which was assisted by the church orchestra. Miss Dorothy Beatty was pianist.

This evening Rev. Culp will preach from the sermon subject, "How Shall We Neglect So Great Salvation."

Thursday, "Degrees and Rewards of Punishment."

Friday, the "Church of God."

There will be no services on Saturday evening.

At last night's meeting there were two conversions, in addition to the 12 that have professed christianity during other services.

Boils!

S.S.S. will rid you of boils, pimples, blackheads and skin eruptions!

DON'T CLOSE your eyes to the warning which Nature gives when angry, painful boils appear on your neck, face or other parts of your body. Boils, pimples and so-called skin disorders are the result of an impoverished condition of the blood and are not to be trifled with.

It is nothing more than folly to expect to get absolute relief from the use of local treatments, such as ointments, salves, etc. Such remedies may afford temporary relief but you want more than relief; you want a remedy which will rid you forever of the torturing disorder. And the one remedy which has no equal is S.S.S.

S.S.S. stops boils and keeps them from coming. S.S.S. builds blood-power! That is what makes fighting blood. Fighting blood destroys impurities. It fights boils! It fights skin eruptions—pimples, blackheads, eczema! It always wins! S.S.S. has been known since 1826 as one of the greatest blood builders, blood cleansers and system strengtheners ever produced. There are no unproven theories about S.S.S., the scientific results of each of its purely vegetable medicinal ingredients are admitted by authorities. Begin taking S.S.S. today and clear your skin of those blood disorders!

S.S.S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

Policeman Surprises Yeggs at Work; Latter Fail to Get Loot

SCRANTON, Pa. Feb.—Attacked by three burglars he surprised while they were blowing a safe in the office of George H. Phillips & Company, wholesale jewelers, in the heart of the city, Patrolman Wesley Kresky was robbed of his pistol, beaten into unconsciousness and handcuffed to the piping of a steam radiator in a nearby office.

The safe-crackers, however, obtained no loot, having made their getaway, it is thought immediately.

DRINK WATER WHEN KIDNEYS HURT YOU

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it may mean you have been eating foods which create acids, says a well known authority. An excess of such acids overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and loggy. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels, removing all the body's urinous waste, else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells; your stomach sours, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get sore, water scalds and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days, and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the system, so they no longer irriate, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, can not injure and makes a delightful, effervescent lithia-water drink. Drink lots of soft water. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.

Heiress Who Eloped With Sister's Fiance Now Seeks a Divorce

The romantic elopement of Eleanor Robinson, daughter of Thomas Robinson, "match king," was but a prologue to a divorce court drama, it now develops. She has brought suit against her husband, Frederick D. Countiss, Chicago broker charging him with desertion. They eloped while Countiss was engaged to Eleanor's older sister.

Lovesickness Alarms Paris With Many Tragic Suicides

French Capital's Latest and Gravest Malady is Harder to Cure Than Cancer.

PARIS, Feb. — Lovesickness is the latest and gravest malady in the French capital. More serious than the dreaded "flu," and harder to cure than cancer, its wounds are harder to heal than those inflicted by the serpent's fangs.

One day the newspapers tell about a young couple—a girl and a boy—found bound together at the bottom of the Seine.

Another day it is a young man who enters the chamber of his sweetheart and then commits suicide.

On still another occasion a young woman throws herself before a moving train because her parents will not agree to her marriage with the man she loves.

Every day the newspapers are full of stories of unfortunate beings who put an end to their days in one manner or another because they love too much. Lovesickness is the peculiar malady of the jazz age. Formerly the lover contented himself with committing suicide before the door of his beloved. Now he enters and does it before her eyes. It seems a far cry from Werther's romantic spirit, which sang:

"If you do not love me, I love you. And if I love you—beware!"

"It is high time to prevent the spreading of this serious malady," says Victor Meric, in the Paris Soir. "France is in a sad way, with thousands of young women growing old every year without ever having known the attentions of lovers, and thousands of timid young men looking vainly for a 'sister soul.' While others, who have found what they wanted, believe it better to fling themselves into the other world.

"I would suggest that the bodies of these unfortunate be submitted to autopsies, and let our savants try to find the mysterious microbe that is causing the most incomprehensible and contagious of all plagues."

Gloria Swanson's Photoplay, "Her Love Story," at Ceramic

"Her Love Story"—that's the title adaptation by Frank Tuttle of Mary of Gloria Swanson's latest Paramount picture, an Allan Dwan production, which is the offering Thursday at the Ceramic theatre. The story is an Roberts Rinehart's novel and magazine serial, "Her Majesty, the Queen." Ian Keith has the leading man's role opposite the star, and others in the strong supporting cast include George Fawcett, Echlin Gayer, Mario Majeroni, Sidney Herbert and other big names well known on both stage and screen.

To voice the opinion of the editor of the magazine in which the story appeared, "Mary Roberts Rinehart is one of the most remarkable personalities in this country. If some man wrote all the novels, all the plays and all the perfectly wonderful stories that she's written, we—meaning we men—would all get up on our feet and say, 'here is one who can produce more fine work than any living human being.'

"But doing this—and a lot more—has been only one of Mrs. Rinehart's jobs. She has borne, trained, stimulated and launched five fine sons. And, between times, written 'The Man in Lower Ten,' 'Seven Days,' 'Bab,' 'Tish,' 'The Bat,' 'Dangerous Days' and so many others that I won't try to recite them all.

"And now she has written the tenderest love story in many a day."

Even that is putting it mildly. "Her Love Story" is said to be the best Swanson picture ever made, and when one recalls "The Humming Bird," "A Society Scandal," "Manhandled" and the others, this must be some picture. It's a story of a beautiful young princess, forced against her will to marry the reprobate king of a neighboring country. She is in love with a captain of the king's guards. There are complications, dramatic scenes galore, with a smashing climax that will pull you right out of your chair.

Motor Dodging Is Taught.

In one of the Junior High Schools of Oregon, motor dodging has been added to the curriculum as a means of helping the cities and towns to improve their traffic congestion conditions. The course also falls under the head of citizenship training, as a part of instructing the youths to obey even minor regulations designed for the common good.

Beware Of Coughs That Hangs On

Pneumonia and serious lung trouble usually start with a cough. So if you have a cold or cough—stop it at once with a few doses of that fine old medicine, Kemp's Balsam. This famous balsam soothes the nerves of the throat, stops the tickling cough and nature does the rest. No form of cough syrup so good for children's coughs.

Gray Haired People Need Only this Clean, Colorless Liquid

Youthful Looks Quickly Return

Letters like the following tell what the clean, colorless liquid, known as Kolor-Bak, is doing for gray haired men and women.

"Only a short time ago my hair was quite gray and becoming grayer. It was falling out. My scalp itched and dandruff appeared.

"Only a few applications of Kolor-Bak stopped the itching and dandruff. My hair soon stopped coming out. Most wonderful of all, however, is that my hair is again its original shade. I look ten years younger."

Kolor-Bak is the most satisfactory substitute for the natural hair pigmentation. With its use, the hair not only takes on its former shade; it acquires a beautiful lustre and softness. Kolor-Bak also removes dandruff, stops itching of the scalp and keeps the hair from falling out.

If you are gray, ask for a bottle of Kolor-Bak. No sample of hair required—no tests to make—as this clean, colorless liquid is effective on any gray hair. Your money returned instantly if not satisfactory.

London Will Build Huge Vehicle Tunnel Under Thames River

LONDON, Feb.—Details have now now been published of the scheme for building a tunnel under the Thames to connect Dartford and Purfleet, and at the same time for widening the Victoria Dock Road. The whole outlay necessary, it is estimated, will be about £6,000,000, and the work probably will take about three years.

The tunnel is to be the biggest road tunnel in England and will be two and one-half miles long. There is to be space for two lines of the largest vehicles and height enough to take a double-deck omnibus, and there is to be a footpath for pedestrians as well.

SLENDER THREAD THAT LINKED COLLINS WITH OUTSIDE WORLD SNAPS

Only Sliver of Earth Separates Youthful Explorer Who, Judging From Long Distance Physical Examinations is Still Living, From Men Frantically Digging to Rescue Prisoner.

BANANA OIL TESTS, MADE THREE TIMES, BEAR PERTINENT RESULTS

"We're Expecting to Strike Cavern Leading to That Boy Down There Most Any Time," Declares "Dig and Dump" Carmichael, Who is Director of Rescue Operations.

RADIO TEST BRINGS ONLY SILENCE; LIGHT IN TOMB EXTINGUISHED

By CARL W. HARRIS

CAVE CITY, Ky., Feb. 11.—Only a sliver of earth today separates Floyd Collins—still living, according to the recurrent radio tests and long distance physical examinations—from the men frantically digging after the prisoner of Sand Cave, according to various findings in the shaft.

The banana oil tests, made three times by Dr. W. D. Funkhouser, bore pertinent results when the odor of it was detected by workers in the bottom of the shaft. This, followed by the finding of cave crickets, prompted official prediction that the mystery of Sand Cave would find solution shortly.

Doctors Complete Plans for Aiding Captive if Alive

SAND CAVE, Ky., Feb. 11.—All preparations for handling the situation when Floyd Collins, now in his twelfth day of imprisonment in Sand Cave, is reached, have been completed under direction of Dr. William Hazlett of Chicago.

An operating table, built on the ground, will be lowered to the prisoner and in this cradle—only a foot narrower than the mouth of the shaft—Collins will be raised to the surface.

There will be a rest every few feet to permit Collins gradually to acclimate himself to the change in atmospheric levels.

Woolen blankets, chemical hot water bottles, stimulants are waiting above ground. No known medical device that might aid in the saving of this life has been omitted from the complete miniature hospital established at the scene by Dr. Hazlett.

If Collins is alive, it still remains a question as to whether he will be taken to Louisville immediately. It is likely, however, he will make his final fight for life in the Red Cross tent here at Sand Cave.

Drill Tests Taken.

When the diamond drill tests were taken a four-foot drop was indicated at the 25-foot level. This fissure was expected to appear at the larger opening, but it failed to materialize. Geologists explained, however, that due to the construction of this district and the haphazard way the rocks are piled, a drop might appear anywhere. It is because of the likelihood of striking a cavern of proportions when gravel appeared and muck and slime began to disappear in the bottom of the shaft which caused "Dig and Dump" Carmichale, director of operations, to say:

"We're expecting to strike a cavern leading to that boy down there most any time."

Shaft at 43-foot Level.

Carmichael's sobriquet was earned from him by his uniform exhortation to all new workers that to save Collins everybody must "dig and dump."

The shaft had reached the 43-foot level by morning and impending rescue overshadowed every other consideration. Even the military court, which convened at 9 o'clock, lacked the spirit of something definite being accomplished.

Yesterday, the first day of the inquiry, developed that the fundamental

Two Men Assessed $300 Each on Liquor Count; One Jailed

Edward Scheffler, Walnut street, is in jail today in default of $300 fine assessed by Mayor Brown on a charge of possessing liquor. "Chip" Gamble, Second street, who also drew a $300 fine on a similar charge, was released after making arrangements to pay.

Schieffler was arrested on lower Walnut street by Patrolman Roth last night after a pint of whiskey had been found in his pocket. Gamble was apprehended a little later with four pint bottles of whiskey, two of which had not yet been opened.

The pair declared that the liquor had been given them by a man whom they failed to recognize at the corner of Third and Union streets.

Road Improvement Will be Topic at Lisbon Meeting.

Plan to Resurface Concrete Section to Corporation Line.

Representatives of the city of East Liverpool, The Steubenville, East Liverpool and Beaver Valley Traction company and the county commissioners will meet in Lisbon, Monday, February 23, to consider a plan for the resurfacing of that part of the Wellsville-East Liverpool road from the eastern end of the Jethro fill to the corporation line on the west.

The short stretch of concrete surfacing, west of Jethro, is badly worn and the city is seeking to complete its share of the Wellsville road improvement through to the corporation line, connecting with the new bricked road finished last year.

As this stretch is very narrow, a plan of widening is under consideration. The street car company favors the widening of the road in a plan to move its tracks, eliminating a sharp curve in the line.

The expense would be heavy because property located on the north side of the street must be purchased if the widening plan is approved. The city may also take over the control of the street across Jethro.

Members of city council discussed the proposal at a recent conference with the service director and street car company officials, but no decision was reached. City Engineer George, County Surveyor Kirk and traction company engineers are to assist in plans for the proposed improvement.

An effort is to be made to have the city take up the improvement on the eastern end of the road at the same time as Wells avenue and Lisbon street on the Wellsville end are being surfaced this summer.

Murderer Smokes, Smiles and Waves As he is Hanged

HALIFAX, N. S., Feb. 11.—Lewis Marshal Bevis treated witnesses to his execution to a spectacle of nonchalance such as they never before had seen when he was hanged today in the county jail yard.

He walked without a quiver to the scaffold, smilingly puffed a cigarette until the black cap hid his face, jauntily waved and said: "Goodbye, boys," and dropped to his death.

He murdered Constable Charles Fulton and wounded Constable P. Kennedy, in a 24-hour gun fight last July while resisting arrest on a trespass charge.

President and Dawes Poll 382 Electoral Ballots.

BY GEORGE R. HOLMES.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—Today might have been one of the most tempestous days in the history of the republic—but it wasn't.

Instead of a stalemate in the electoral college, with congress running around in circles trying to elect a president, so freely speculated on and predicted a few months ago—the senate and house met in joint session this afternoon and went through the constitutional formality of declaring Calvin Coolidge and Charles G. Dawes to have been elected president and vice-president respectively, of these United States.

This time-honored legal and quite necessary ceremony was held in the hall of the house of representatives and consisted primarily of a formal count of the votes of the electoral college. It used to be a most important ceremony, but in these radio days it passed almost unheeded, even in official Washington.

The senate and house each appointed tellers, according to the constitutional practice. Senators Spencer, Republican, of Missouri, and King, Democrat, of Utah, were elected for the upper chamber, and Representative White, Republican, of Kansas, and Jeffers, of Alabama, for the house. Senator Cummins, of Iowa, president pro-tem of the senate, presided.

The roll call was called by states. "Alabama" boomed the teller.

HAAR RESUMES BRIBERY STORY

ATLANTA, Ga., Feb. 11—Will Haar declared on the witness stand today that L. J. Fletcher, formerly assistant warden at Atlanta penitentiary, asked him to cash a check for Mannie Keshler, of New York, for $5,000.

Haar has been the star government witness in the trial of Fletcher, former Warden A. E. Sartain and Lawrence Riehl, of Columbus, Ohio, on charges of having accepted and solicited bribes.

Wall Street Watches Durant In Cast Iron Pipe "Corner"

Motor Manufacturer and Stock Operator, Who Stages "Comeback," Reported to Have Made $2,500,000 This Week.

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—Wall Street kept only one eye on the ticker tapes today. The other was glued on William C. Durant, motor manufacturer and stock operator, to see what he would do to swell still further the $2,500,000 in profits the street credits him with having made this week.

Durant returned to the financial district from his California winter vacation in a bullish frame of mind, according to friends. They estimated his paper profits in United States Cast Iron Pipe at more than $10,000,000.

Everywhere around Broad and Wall streets the story was heard today that there was a "corner" in Cast Iron Pipe, although it has been denied repeatedly by stock exchange officials.

Stock Behaves Like Acrobat.

Cast Iron Pipe has been behaving like an acrobat. Its gain yesterday was 21½ points following a 19¾ joint jump Monday and a climb of 15¾ last week. Durant is reputed to own 60,000 of the 120,000 shares outstanding.

Cast Iron Pipe began climbing from 150, when trading closed last night, it stood at 235½. In 1923 it sold as low as $20 a share, in the same year it reached $69.50. In the last year its low point was $64 and its high 169⅞. Durant's friends said he became interested in Cast Iron Pipe in 1923.

Cast Iron Pipe jumped to 245, for a gain of nine and a half points in the first period of trading today.

The stock has earned heavily. Its 1923 earnings were estimated at $21.92 a share, in 1924 at $44.67 and now they are put at about $60.

The increased earnings resulted from the Corporation's acquisition of a method for making Cast Pipe of such strength that it would hold a thread for joining.

This is a "comeback" for Durant, for at one time he was "taken over" by bankers and the General Motors Corporation of which he twice was the head.

43,000 PARCELS OF LAND APPRAISED BY 350 WORKERS ON COUNTY JOB

Auditor C. E. Hamilton Summarizes Results of Re-appraisement Which Boosted Real and Personal Tax Duplicate.

Approximately 350 workers, including appraisers and building checkers took part in the general reappraisal of real-estate in Columbiana county, completed a few months ago, figures announced today by County Auditor C. E. Hamilton indicated.

About 250 persons were building checkers, while 75 were classified as appraisers. In addition, clerks were employed in the auditor's office. About 43,000 parcels of land were listed.

The reappraisal began in December, 1923, when blue prints, tax maps and other preliminary data for use of the field workers were made. Just 2,500 square feet of paper was required for the maps. Field sheets representing the 43,000 parcels of lands and lots, were arranged in separate packages for the field workers.

Factory Experts Employed

The field force was organized and instructed, beginning the actual work of listing property in April. Lands, lots, buildings and minerals, including factories and fixed machinery, were reappraised at $80,609,220. This figure however, does not include the increase in value of public utilities, as these

Ex-convict Will Make Address at Kiwanis Luncheon

R. W. Fenton, Chicago, ex-convict, will address members of the Kiwanis club at their noonday meeting in the Larkins annex, Market street, Thursday. His subject will be "Crime from the Standpoint of a Criminal."

Fenton will come to East Liverpool from Youngstown, where he is scheduled to address a gathering of merchants and manufacturers tonight. He will also appear before the high school students at a special chapel hour Thursday afternoon. He has an interesting story dealing with the years which he spent in a penitentiary.

The club will also discuss plans for participating in the international attendance campaign which will start March 2. The East Liverpool and Wellsville clubs were opponents in the attendance contest last year, Wellsville winning.

20 Profess Faith At Revival Meeting In Baptist Church

More than 20 converts have resulted from the revival services at the First Baptist church during the first week of the meetings. The meetings are in charge of Rev. R. W. Edmondson, pastor of the Calvary Baptist church, Akron.

Dr. Edmondson, last night, spoke on the subject, "The Prodigal Son." Delegations of the World-wide Guild, a girl's class, and the Amoma class attended the srevice in a body.

Tonight the Philathea class members will attend the service and on Thursday night the members of the Agoga class will be present. A contest between men and women for the largest attendance will be a feature of Friday night's service.

The meetings are scheduled to end next Sunday.

Poisoning Cases Accidental, O. S. U. Inquiry Indicates

COLUMBUS, Feb. 11.—Today's developments in the police probe of the Ohio State University strychnine poisoning cases indicated they were the result of accident.

Nelson Rosenberg, Cleveland, O. S U. college of pharmacy student, and M. W. Schonstein, also of Cleveland, who, too, is an O. S. U. student but is not identified with the college of pharmacy, were questioned today at city prison by Police Prosecutor Chester. Both young men were released after a brief interview, the police investigators voicing belief that neither of them knew anything about the mysterious poisonings.

Chester indicated that he will make public Thursday his report, covering the police probe and announcing the conclusions reached by the investigators.

LIFE-SAVERS BATTLE GALE IN ANSWER TO S. O. S. CALLS

Ship is Swept on Rocks Near Mouth Of Thames.

NAME UNKNOWN

Believe Vessel Carries Large Crew and Many Passengers.

LONDON, Feb. 11—Hundreds of persons were in danger today while life savers made determined efforts to reach a liner of large tonnage, name and nationality unknown, which went ashore in a furious gale off Walton-on-the-Naze, a famous resort near the mouth of the Thames.

The Evening News said it was believed the ship was from South Africa, heading for London when she went ashore.

The ship carries a large crew and many passengers the News said.

Crowds Watch From Shore.

Lifeboats from all neighboring stations were endeavoring to reach the vessel in answer to its S. O. S. calls, while crowds from neighboring beaches watched from the shore.

A Ramsgate tug and Margate lifeboat, which answered the distress calls, reported the vessel was a steamer and that flares were burning to attract aid. Boats from Harwich were standing by.

Until this report was received, those who watched from shore believed the distress calls might have been misinterpreted as no large vessel could be seen. A ketch was ashore near the place where crowds gathered.

Central News reports said the Ketch ashore at Barrow Sands had transferred its crew to another vessel. There still seemed doubt whether the Ketch was not the vessel reported as a large steamer in the first distress calls.

2,633 MOTOR CARS LICENSED

J. S. Hilbert Issues Tags for 467 Trucks.

Two thousand six hundred and thirty-three 1925 automobile license plates have been distributed to East Liverpool motorists by Deputy Registrat James S. Hilbert, it was announced today. This is less than one-half the number of cars registered last year.

Of this number, 2,166 tags were for pleasure cars, the remaining 467 being for trucks. Few license plates have been issued for trailers, motorcycles and side-cars. This report does not include the combination pleasure and commercial car tag, which is issued through the office of Secretary of State Thad Brown.

The closed winter is believed to be largely responsible for the delay of automobile owners to apply for license plates. Many motorists have stored their cars for the winter and are waiting until spring to obtain their licenses in order to take advantage of the 25 percent fee reduction which becomes effective April 1.

Secretary of State Brown has placed an order for the 1926 series of automobile license plates, which will be

TREAT MENTAL ILLS AND PAY PRISONERS' FAMILIES IN NON-SUPPORT CASES, DENVER JUDGE URGES

DENVER, Feb. 10—Psychopathiq treatment and enactment by the Colorado Legislature of the "employment of prisoners" bill are the remedies advocated by the Denver Juvenile Court for reducing the rapidly growing number of non-support and desertion cases that are breaking up so many families.

The number of such cases that comes before the Domestic Relations Department of Judge Ben B. Lindsey's tribunal here is growing appalling, according to the famous Judge of the Juvenile Court.

Judge Lindsey is engaging in a series of conferences with George Collins, superintendent of the new $2,000,000 Colorado General Hospital, with a view to adopting a policy of co-operation between the psychopathic ward of that institution and the Juvenile Court.

According to Judge Lindsey, the domestic difficulties of many husbands and wives can be solved without the necessity of court procedure.

"The policy of the Domestic Relations Division of the Juvenile Court is to reconcile families," Lindsey said, in commenting on his annual report, in commenting on his annual report, which indicated that 2,000 of 3,000 cases that came before his court were settled without the filing of criminal charges.

"Experience shows," the judge declared, "that much of the domestic difficulty is the result of physical troubles and that either the husband or the wife needs a doctor more than a lawyer or the courts. We are formulating a plan whereby complaining husbands and wives who come to our court will be given the benefit of psychopathic treatment, advice and assistance, with a view to straightening out their difficulties."

Many Separated.

The Juvenile Court report for the year 1924 makes the startling disclosure that 3,300 cases of separations in families were brought to the attention of Denver courts, officially and unofficially, against a total of 3,116 marriage licenses issued during the same period.

The report showed 1,300 applications for divorce filed; 1,000 cases involving separations actually on record in the Juvenile Court and 2,000 other cases in which some sort of settlement was reached—but at least 1,000 of these latter represented family separations either through mutual consent or arrangement out of court.

"Thus," Judge Lindsey said, "in taking account of our social status, when it involves problems of the home and marital relations, we are facing the menacing fact that there are more separations among people who have been married than there are unions among people who got married in one year in a city like Denver."

Which prompts the Juvenile Court Judge to inquire:

"Does it mean that our conventions and standards are being seriously threatened with failure?"

Divorce on Increase.

Judge Lindsey pointed out that fifty years ago there was about one divorce in thiry marriages, while recent statistics reveal that in the large cities of this country today there is one divorce to every two marriages, adding that the divorce figures only tell half the story, as they do not include family separations, non-support and desertion cases, which affect the welfare of thousands of young children.

Citing an example in the local Juvenile Court of how children are affected even when no divorce is involved. Judge Lindsey told of the cases of four men charged with non-support of their wives and children.

"These four men", he said, "were the fathers of a total of thirty-six children. One of these fathers had recently committed suicide. He had

Wall Street Watches Durant In Cast Iron Pipe "Corner"

Motor Manufacturer and Stock Operator, Who Stages "Comeback," Reported to Have Made $2,500,000 This Week.

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—Wall Street kept only one eye on the ticker tapes today. The other was glued on William C. Durant, motor manufacturer and stock operator, to see what he would do to swell still further the $2,500,000 in profits the street credits him with having made this week.

Durant returned to the financial district from his California winter vacation in a bullish frame of mind, according to friends. They estimated his paper profits in United States Cast Iron Pipe at more than $10,000,000.

Everywhere around Broad and Wall streets the story was heard today that there was a "corner" in Cast Iron Pipe, although it has been denied repeatedly by stock exchange officials.

Stock Behaves Like Acrobat.

Cast Iron Pipe has been behaving like an acrobat. Its gain yesterday was 21½ points following a 19¼ joint jump Monday and a climb of 15⅜ last week. Durant is reputed to own 60,000 of the 120,000 shares outstanding.

Cast Iron Pipe began climbing from 150, when trading closed last night, it stood at 235½. In 1923 it sold as low as $20 a share, in the same year it reached $69.50. In the last year its low point was $64 and its high 169⅞. Durant's friends said he became interested in Cast Iron Pipe in 1923.

Cast Iron Pipe jumped to 245, for a gain of nine and a half points in the first period of trading today.

The stock has earned heavily. Its 1923 earnings were estimated at $21.92 a share, in 1924 at $44.67 and now they are put at about $60.

The increased earnings resulted from the Corporation's acquisition of a method for making Cast Pipe of such strength that it would hold a thread for joining.

This is a "comeback" for Durant, for at one time he was "taken over" by bankers and the General Motors Corporation of which he twice was the head.

43,000 PARCELS OF LAND APPRAISED BY 350 WORKERS ON COUNTY JOB

Auditor C. E. Hamilton Summarizes Results of Re-appraisement Which Boosted Real and Personal Tax Duplicate.

Approximately 350 workers, including appraisers and building checkers took part in the general reappraisal of real-estate in Columbiana county, completed a few months ago, figures announced today by County Auditor C. E. Hamilton indicated.

About 250 persons were building checkers, while 75 were classified as appraisers. In addition, clerks were employed in the auditor's office. About 43,000 parcels of land were listed.

The reappraisal began in December, 1923, when blue prints, tax maps and other preliminary data for use of the field workers were made. Just 2,500 square feet of paper was required for the maps. Field sheets representing the 43,000 parcels of lands and lots, were arranged in separate packages for the field workers.

Factory Experts Employed

The field force was organized and instructed, beginning the actual work of listing property in April. Lands, lots, buildings and minerals, including factories and fixed machinery, were reappraised at $80,609,220. This figure however, does not include the increase in value of public utilities, as these

He will also appear before the high school students at a special chapel hour Thursday afternoon. He has an interesting story dealing with the years which he spent in a penitentiary.

The club will also discuss plans for participating in the international attendance campaign which will start March 2. The East Liverpool and Wellsville clubs were opponents in the attendance contest last year, Wellsville winning.

Tonight the Philathea class members will attend the service and on Thursday night the members of the Agoga class will be present. A contest between men and women for the largest attendance will be a feature of Friday night's service.

The meetings are scheduled to end next Sunday.

Poisoning Cases Accidental, O. S. U. Inquiry Indicates

COLUMBUS, Feb. 11.—Today's developments in the police probe of the Ohio State University strychnine poisoning cases indicated they were the result of accident.

Nelson Rosenberg, Cleveland, O. S. U. college of pharmacy student, and M. W. Schonstein, also of Cleveland, who, too, is an O. S. U. student but is not identified with the college of pharmacy, were questioned today at city prison by Police Prosecutor Chester. Both young men were released after a brief interview, the police investigators voicing belief that neither of them knew anything about the mysterious poisonings.

Chester indicated that he will make public Thursday his report, covering the police probe and announcing the conclusions reached by the investigators.

LIFE-SAVERS BATTLE GALE IN ANSWER TO S. O. S. CALLS

Ship is Swept on Rocks Near Mouth Of Thames.

NAME UNKNOWN

Believe Vessel Carries Large Crew and Many Passengers.

LONDON, Feb. 11—Hundreds of persons were in danger today while life savers made determined efforts to reach a liner of large tonnage, name and nationality unknown, which went ashore in a furious gale off Walton-on-the-Naze, a famous resort near the mouth of the Thames.

The Evening News said it was believed the ship was from South Africa, heading for London when she went ashore.

The ship carries a large crew and many passengers the News said.

Crowds Watch From Shore.

Lifeboats from all neighboring stations were endeavoring to reach the vessel in answer to its S. O. S. calls, while crowds from neighboring beaches watched from the shore.

A Ramsgate tug and Margate lifeboat, which answered the distress calls, reported the vessel was a steamer and that flares were burning to attract aid. Boats from Harwich were standing by.

Until this report was received, those who watched from shore believed the distress calls might have been misinterpreted as no large vessel could be seen. A ketch was ashore near the place where crowds gathered.

Central News reports said the Ketch ashore at Barrow Sands had transferred its crew to another vessel. There still seemed doubt whether the Ketch was not the vessel reported as a large steamer in the first distress calls.

2,633 MOTOR CARS LICENSED

J. S. Hilbert Issues Tags for 467 Trucks.

Two thousand six hundred and thirty-three 1925 automobile license plates have been distributed to East Liverpool motorists by Deputy Registrat James S. Hilbert, it was announced today. This is less than one-half the number of cars registered last year.

Of this number, 2,166 tags were for pleasure cars, the remaining 467 being for trucks. Few license plates have been issued for trailers, motorcycles and side-cars. This report does not include the combination pleasure and commercial car tag, which is issued through the office of Secretary of State Thad Brown.

The closed winter is believed to be largely responsible for the delay of automobile owners to apply for license plates. Many motorists have stored their cars for the winter and are waiting until spring to obtain their licenses in order to take advantage of the 25 percent fee reduction which becomes effective April 1.

Secretary of State Brown has placed an order for the 1926 series of automobile license plates, which will be

TREAT MENTAL ILLS AND PAY PRISONERS' FAMILIES IN NON-SUPPORT CASES, DENVER JUDGE URGES

DENVER, Feb. 10—Psychopathic treatment and enactment by the Colorado Legislature of the "employment of prisoners" bill are the remedies advocated by the Denver Juvenile Court for reducing the rapidly growing number of non-support and desertion cases that are breaking up so many families.

The number of such cases that comes before the Domestic Relations Department of Judge Ben B. Lindsey's tribunal here is growing appalling, according to the famous Judge of the Juvenile Court.

Judge Lindsey is engaging in a series of conferences with George Collins, superintendent of the new $2,000,000 Colorado General Hospital, with a view to adopting a policy of co-operation between the psychopathic ward of that institution and the Juvenile Court.

According to Judge Lindsey, the domestic difficulties of many husbands and wives can be solved without the necessity of court procedure.

"The policy of the Domestic Relations Division of the Juvenile Court is to reconcile families," Lindsey said, in commenting on his annual report, in commenting on his annual report, which indicated that 2,000 of 3,000 cases that came before his court were settled without the filing of criminal charges.

"Experience shows," the judge declared, "that much of the domestic difficulty is the result of physical troubles and that either the husband or the wife needs a doctor more than a lawyer or the courts. We are formulating a plan whereby complaining husbands and wives who come to our court will be given the benefit of psychopathic treatment, advice and assistance, with a view to straightening out their difficulties."

Many Separated.

The Juvenile Court report for the year 1924 makes the startling disclosure that 3,399 cases of separations in families were brought to the attention of Denver courts, officially and unofficially, against a total of 3,116 marriage licenses issued during the same period.

The report showed 1,300 applications for divorce filed; 1,000 cases involving separations actually on record in the Juvenile Court and 2,000 other cases in which some sort of settlement was reached—but at least 1,000 of these latter represented family separations either through mutual consent or arrangement out of court.

"Thus," Judge Lindsey said, "in taking account of our social status, when it involves problems of the home and martial relations, we are facing the menacing fact that there are more separations among people who have been married than there are unions among people who got married in one year in a city like Denver."

Which prompts the Juvenile Court Judge to inquire:

"Does it mean that our conventions and standards are being seriously threatened with failure?"

Divorce on Increase.

Judge Lindsey pointed out that fifty years ago there was about one divorce in thiry marriages, while recent statistics reveal that in the large cities of this country today there is one divorce to every two marriages, adding that the divorce figures only tell half the story, as they do not include family separations, non-support and desertion cases, which affect the welfare of thousands of young children.

Citing an example in the local Juvenile Court of how children are affected even when no divorce is involved. Judge Lindsey told of the cases of four men charged with non-support of their wives and children.

"These four men", he said, "were the fathers of a total of thirty-six children. One of these fathers had recently committed suicide. He had

County Motor Club Names Three Local Men as Directors

Three members of the board of directors were elected by East Liverpool members of the Columbiana County Motor Club at a meeting in the Y. M. C. A. last night.

The three members of the board, named for terms of one year, include Jesse N. Hanley, former county prosecutor; Fred O. Glenn and O. N. Earl. These directors will select an advisory board of six members to assist them in caring for the automobile club activities in this district.

Edward T. Fogo, president of the county association, who gave a brief history of the club, since organization steps were first taken a little over a year ago, presided. Secretary E. M. Diehl, in a short talk, pointed out the value of affiliation with the American Automobile Association, with which the county club is connected. Mr. Hanley complimented officers of the club for their efforts in the interests of the motorists of the county.

Mayor Brown spoke in behalf of the city, lauding the club for its work in erecting traffic signs, painting the streets and also having the new traffic ordinance enacted and published in booklet form. The mayor promised that the new ordinance would be enforced to the letter this spring, as a means of making the streets safer for everybody.

The next meeting will take place at Salem, Thursday, February 19, when two members of the board of directors will be selected. Seven members have been elected, while six others are to be named.

Germany is Happy As Trade Pact With U. S. is Ratified

BERLIN, Feb. 11—News of ratification of the German-American trade agreement by the senate was received with pleased surprise in official circles today. The first word was flashed by cable a few minutes after the senate acted last night and official Berlin was still waiting today for details from the German embassy at Washington.

Up until noon today the news had come from no other source, even the German steamship lines, whose interest in the pact was most vital, having received no word from their New York offices.

Ratification assures Otto Weidfeldt, retiring ambassador to the United States, of a warm welcome from the government on his return here the end of the week.

It is an open secret that Weidfeldt left Washington bitterly disappointed because the treaty had not then been approved.

He would have resigned his post a year ago, but waited on account of the treaty, which was the principal object of his mission to the United States.

made at the state penitentiary. The plates will have a dark brown background with white numerals next year.

More than 800 tons of metal will be used in the manufacture of the tags. The order calls for 1,600,000 sets of the plates.

Secretary Brown has already deposited about $7,000,000 in the state treasury from the 1925 license funds. This is only $4,000,000 less than was collected during 1924. Automobile license returns for 1925 have been estimated at approximately $13,000,000 this year, an increase of $2,000,000 over last year's figures.

The Brown two-cent gasoline tax bill, passed by the House, is expected to receive first reading in the senate today. Still opposition is anticipated, despite the heavy favorable vote in the house. Several hearings are expected to be given the measure by the Senate tax committee before it is reported again. Opponents hope, at least, to force a compromise providing for reduction of the auto license fees to a flat $3 rate.

The senate utilities committee is on record today in favor of a bill to be introduced this week appropriating $75,000 to finance an investigation by the Attorney General of Telephone companies operating in Ohio.

purpose of the quiz was to record the efforts of the state of Kentucky and primarily its representatives, in behalf of Collins.

"We do not intend," said General H. H. Benhart, lieutenant governor, who is president of the court, "that anyone shall say after this is all over and the witnesses have been scattered, that we did not do all in our power—that our proceedure should have been otherwise.

"The witnesses are here on the ground now. We want to show that untiring efforts has been expended in behalf of Floyd Collins. We do not want to be accused unjustly of bungling."

Little Sensation in Inquiry.

Five witnesses have been examined thus far, both expert and inexpert testimony having been introduced to show conditions in the cave.

Dr. Funkhouser, who collapsed after the hearing, testified as to conditions, scientific findings and the final arrival at the conclusion that if Collins were to be saved, the sinking of a shaft was imperative.

Little sensation was offered. Samuel H. Mattlack, a Louisville builder, occupied the chair for an hour and a half and hurled charges of murder, bungling and lying at those who had labored unceasingly to effect the captive's release.

Captain Alex M. Chaney, judge advocate of the court, scathingly inquired of this witness if he was sitting in judgment on the men who had gone into the cavern when he himself was afraid to do so. Mattlock, thunderstruck by the barked question, backed off the platform when ordered to do so without replying.

ALLEGED MINE STOCK AGENCIES INVESTIGATED BY VIGILANCE BOARD

Four companies, alleged to be engaged in promoting the sale of mine stock are being investigated by the National Vigilance committee, according to bulletins received here by the Chamber of Commerce.

The postoffice department has closed the mails to the Ameria-Mex Developing company, of Saltillo, Coahuila, Mexico, because of alleged false and fraudulent representations made by this company in offering shares to investors in this country.

The department has also issued a fraud letter concerning the operations of the Mutual Mining Pool, and L. Coste, secretary, Apartado, Mexico.

The committee warns against the operations of James B. Douglass, whose present address is given as Wichita Falls, Texas, who is alleged to have been connected with a similar venture investigated by the Vigilance committee about two years ago. An investigation, relative to the business of the Gold Dust Placa Mining company, of Gold Dust, Mexico, with its main office in El Paso, is also under way.

Companies, operating under the names of Solar Studio, Solar, Virgo Studio, Veritas Studios, Reo Publishing company, Karma Studio and Zanya Studio, all of New York, selling horoscopes, are listed as frauds by the committee. The public is also warned against contributing to an appeal, which is being made by Neal L. Meek and Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Meek, who has been receiving mail at Whitehouse, Ky., South Point, O., and Huntington, W. Va. The three, seeking alms, are not destitute as they claim in their appeals but are considered wealthy, owning automobiles and several pieces of real estate, the bulletin says.

The postoffice department has ruled that a thrift certificate proposition conducted by the National Thrift Association of Eugene, Ore., is a lottery and closed the mails to this organization.

43,000 Parcels of Land

valuations must first be approved by the tax commission and consequently are not certified to the county for collection until the following year.

Of this sum, $24,812,140 was property outside cities and incorporated villages, the remaining $55,797,080 being property within the municipalities. This represents an increase of $19,546,492, or 32 per cent, in the value of taxable real estate over former valuations.

Land appraisers were paid $19,563 for their services, while the building checkers drew compensation amounting to $10,635.

Two hundred manufacturing plants in the county necessitated the employment of experts, who were paid $6,385 for their services.

Increase Personal Property Duplicate.

Personal property appraised at $1,230,580 was added to the duplicate by the field force during the re-appraisal at no additional expense.

Re-appraisal of the lands, lots, buildings and structures of all the steam and electric railways, pipe line companies, power companies, telephone companies and telegraph companies and all other public utilities was ordered by the tax commission of Ohio. This would require experts at an expense of $8,989.

Under instructions issued by the state auditor all non-taxable real estate, including buildings owned by federal government, state, county and all of the land, lots, buildings and structures owned by the townships, villages and cities were re-appraised. This included school buildings and grounds, churches, city and township buildings and land, water works and reservoirs owned by the cities and villages, and public burial grounds. A total value of $6,157,950 was placed on this property. This work was done by the regular field force at the time of appraising the taxable property—the expense could not be separated and is included in the above figures.

The supplies, making of maps and clerical help used in the re-appraisal required an expenditure of $16,988.

Neither the auditor nor the regular employees of the auditor's office received additional compensation for the work of re-appraisal.

In all, real property valued at $90,083,795 was re-appraised at an expense which compares favorably with the re-appraisal of like counties in 1924.

The effect of the re-appraisal is reflected in the tax rates for the current year, which are based on the new values. The county rate has been reduced nine-tenths of a mill. The rates in nearly all of the 72 taxing districts have been materially reduced and the schools, cities and villages as a rule can now continue to function without serious financial embarrassment.

twelve children. Two others were distinct types of moron. The fourth was a dangerous criminal type. The State permits such men as these to become fathers of large families, and now the State must take care of the children, or let them grow up either as paupers or vicious animals.

"Because of this condition we are asking the state legislature to pass the 'Employment of Prisoners' bill, requiring the State to employ such men on public roads or on work for State institutions, without competitoin with free labor, and to pay for such labor not to exceed $3.50 per day—the pay to be used for their dependent wives and children outside of prison.

"This is the most constructive piece of social legislation now before the State in the employment of labor and in the elimination of expenditures for taking care of these children. And it will result in justice being done for the innocent little children who are offended against when the bread winner is taken away from them."

"A-l-a-b-a-m-a casts 24 votes for Under-wood-d."

But instead, there was a report that she cast 12 votes for John W. Davis and Charles W. Bryan.

La Follette Gets 13.

A rebel yell from the Democratic side of the chamber greeted this, and the roll-call proceeded by the formal announcement that Coolidge, John W. Davis and Charles W. Bryan, 136, and Robert M. La Follette and Burton K. Wheeler, 13.

Each state followed the announcement of its vote with applause. The galleries were crowded with spectators for the quadrennial ceremony.

The whole ceremony occupied less than hour. When it ended, the Senate retired and both houses went prosaically about their business.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—Forward movements in the early trading today were confined chiefly to a small number of industrial and specialty stocks which have behind them the strong arm of powerful professional operators or pools. The market was extremely restless in this period, with simultaneous advances and declines in different parts of the speculative lists, as traders sold stocks in order to acquire others.

The magic name of Durant was passed around the speculative district in an effort to discover in what stocks his interest lay. Cast Iron Pipe jumped another 10 points, there by adding to the paper profits of the pool which has been operating in this stock for about six months. Independent oil and gas, of which Mr. Durant was elected a director this week, and which has come up from 13 to 29½ in a few weeks of trading, was also a feature.

Universal Pipe jumped to above 50 on reports that with the retirement of the preferred stock, the common will be in line to share the large profits made by the company in the last six months. This is a gain of 37 points over the low of six months ago, when the stock sold at 13. Sharp forward movements also continued in Savage Arms, Worthington Pump, North American and other specialty stocks.

With the exception of General Motors, which continued under liquidation, the Motor stocks were active and strong. Studebaker advanced 1½ points to 46, and gains of a point or more were made by Mack Trucks, Fierce Arrow preferred, Willys Overland, Chandler and Maxwell. Motor accessory stocks were also strong.

May department stores led a spirited movement in the merchantile stocks, advancing to 109¾; Sears Roebuck was up two points and Montgomery Ward, one. American Can made a new high at 173¾; American Sumatra Tobacco sold three points higher and more than doubled its low price of a few weeks ago; oil stocks were under selling pressure, as also were the steels and a number of the industrial shares which led the previous advance.

Grain markets were unsteady, with losses of 1 to 2 cents a bushed in wheat and rye at Chicago and Winnipeg. Cotton was steady; foreign exchange irregular; call money 3½ per cent.

County Motor Club Names Three Local Men as Directors

Three members of the board of directors were elected by East Liverpool members of the Columbiana County Motor Club at a meeting in the Y. M. C. A. last night.

The three members of the board, named for terms of one year, include Jesse N. Hanley, former county prosecutor; Fred O. Glenn and O. N. Earl. These directors will select an advisory board of six members to assist them in caring for the automobile club activities in this district.

Edward T. Fogo, president of the county association, who gave a brief history of the club, since organization steps were first taken a little over a year ago, presided. Secretary E. M. Diehl, in a short talk, pointed out the value of affiliation with the American Automobile Association, with which the county club is connected. Mr. Hanley complimented officers of the club for their efforts in the interests of the motorists of the county.

Mayor Brown spoke in behalf of the city, lauding the club for its work in erecting traffic signs, painting the streets and also having the new traffic ordinance enacted and published in booklet form. The mayor promised that the new ordinance would be enforced to the letter this spring, as a means of making the streets safer for everybody.

The next meeting will take place at Salem, Thursday, February 19, when two members of the board of directors will be selected. Seven members have been elected, while six others are to be named.

Germany is Happy As Trade Pact With U. S. is Ratified

BERLIN, Feb. 11—News of ratification of the German-American trade agreement by the senate was received with pleased surprise in official circles today. The first word was flashed by cable a few minutes after the senate acted last night and official Berlin was still waiting today for details from the German embassy at Washington.

Up until noon today the news had come from no other source, even the German steamship lines, whose interest in the pact was most vital, having received no word from their New York offices.

Ratification assures Otto Weidfeldt, retiring ambassador to the United States, of a warm welcome from the government on his return here the end of the week.

It is an open secret that Weidfeldt left Washington bitterly disappointed because the treaty had not then been approved.

He would have resigned his post a year ago, but waited on account of the treaty, which was the principal object of his mission to the United States.

made at the state penitentiary. The plates will have a dark brown background with white numerals next year.

More than 800 tons of metal will be used in the manufacture of the tags. The order calls for 1,600,000 sets of the plates.

Secretary Brown has already deposited about $7,000,000 in the state treasury from the 1925 license funds. This is only $4,000,000 less than was collected during 1924. Automobile license returns for 1925 have been estimated at approximately $13,000,000 this year, an increase of $2,000,000 over last year's figures.

Two-cent Gasoline Tax Faces Hard Fight in Senate

The Brown two-cent gasoline tax bill, passed by the House, is expected to receive first reading in the senate today. Still opposition is anticipated, despite the heavy favorable vote in the house. Several hearings are expected to be given the measure by the Senate tax committee before it is reported again. Opponents hope, at least, to force a compromise providing for reduction of the auto license fees to a flat $3 rate.

The senate utilities committee is on record today in favor of a bill to be introduced this week appropriating $75,000 to finance an investigation by the Attorney General of Telephone companies operating in Ohio.

Final concert of the 1924-25 season of the Civic Music association will be given at the Ceramic theatre tonight, when Charles Marshall, dramatic tenor, will appear.

Doors of the theatre will open at 7 o'clock, although the concert will not begin until 8:30 o'clock, in order not to conflict with the mid-week prayer services in local churches.

purpose of the quiz was to record the efforts of the state of Kentucky and primarily its representatives, in behalf of Collins.

"We do not intend," said General H. H. Benhart, lieutenant governor, who is president of the court, "that anyone shall say after this is all over and the witnesses have been scattered, that we did not do all in our power—that our proceedure should have been otherwise.

"The witnesses are here on the ground now. We want to show that untiring efforts has been expended in behalf of Floyd Collins. We do not want to be accused unjustly of bungling."

Little Sensation in Inquiry.

Five witnesses have been examined thus far, both expert and inexpert testimony having been introduced to show conditions in the cave.

Dr. Farkhouser, who collapsed after the hearing, testified as to conditions, scientific findings and the final arrival at the conclusion that if Collins were to be saved, the sinking of a shaft was imperative.

Little sensation was offered. Samuel H. Mattlack, a Louisville builder, occupied the chair for an hour and a half and hurled charges of murder, bungling and lying at those who had labored unceasingly to effect the captive's release.

Captain Alex M. Chaney, judge advocate of the court, scathingly inquired of this witness if he was sitting in judgment on the men who had gone into the cavern when he himself was afraid to do so. Mattlock, thunderstruck by the barked question, backed off the platform when ordered to do so without replying.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11. — Losses caused by storms must be definitely established and measured in money value in order that deductions may be made from federal income taxes, the board of tax appeals held today in the case of Annie B. Richardson, of Charles River village, Mass.

Mrs. Richardson's application for a deduction from her income tax as the result of an ice storm which damaged her estate, was disallowed by the board. She said that the value of her estate was reduced from $197,000 to $194,000 when a sleet storm swept a wooded area surrounding her home.

ALLEGED MINE STOCK AGENCIES INVESTIGATED BY VIGILANCE BOARD

Four companies alleged to be engaged in promoting the sale of mine stock are being investigated by the National Vigilance committee, according to bulletins received here by the Chamber of Commerce.

The postoffice department has closed the mails to the Ameria-Mex Developing company, of Saltillo, Coahuila, Mexico, because of alleged false and fraudulent representations made by this company in offering shares to investors in this country.

The department has also issued a fraud letter concerning the operations of the Mutual Mining Pool, and L. Coste, secretary, Apartado, Mexico.

The committee warns against the operations of James B. Douglass, whose present address is given as Wichita Falls, Texas, who is alleged to have been connected with a similar venture investigated by the Vigilance committee about two years ago. An investigation, relative to the business of the Gold Dust Placa Mining company, of Gold Dust, Mexico, with its main office in El Paso, is also under way.

Companies, operating under the names of Solar Studio, Solar, Virgo Studio, Veritas Studios, Reo Publishing company, Karma Studio and Zanya Studio, all of New York, selling horoscopes, are listed as frauds by the committee. The public is also warned against contributing to an appeal, which is being made by Neal L. Meek and Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Meek, who has been receiving mail at Whitehouse, Ky., South Point, O., and Huntington, W. Va. The three, seeking alms, are not destitute as they claim in their appeals but are considered wealthy, owning automobiles and several pieces of real estate, the bulletin says.

The postoffice department has ruled that a thrift certificate proposition conducted by the National Thrift Association of Eugene, Ore., is a lottery and closed the mails to this organization.

valuations must first be approved by the tax commission and consequently are not certified to the county for collection until the following year.

Of this sum, $24,812,140 was property outside cities and incorporated villages, the remaining $55,797,080 being property within the municipalities. This represents an increase of $19,546,492, or 32 per cent, in the value of taxable real estate over former valuations.

Land appraisers were paid $19,563 for their services, while the building checkers drew compensation amounting to $10,635.

Two hundred manufacturing plants in the county necessitated the employment of experts, who were paid $6,385 for their services.

Increase Personal Property Duplicate.

Personal property appraised at $1,230,580 was added to the duplicate by the field force during the re-appraisal at no additional expense.

Re-appraisal of the lands, lots, buildings and structures of all the steam and electric railways, pipe line companies, power companies, telephone companies and telegraph companies and all other public utilities was ordered by the tax commission of Ohio. This would require experts at an expense of $8,989.

Under instructions issued by the state auditor all non-taxable real estate, including buildings owned by federal government, state, county and all of the land, lots, buildings and structures owned by the townships, villages and cities were re-appraised. This included school buildings and grounds, churches, city and township buildings and land, water works and reservoirs owned by the cities and villages, and public burial grounds. A total value of $6,157,950 was placed on this property. This work was done by the regular field force at the time of appraising the taxable property—the expense could not be separated and is included in the above figures.

The supplies, making of maps and clerical help used in the re-appraisal required an expenditure of $16,988.

Neither the auditor nor the regular employees of the auditor's office received additional compensation for the work of re-appraisal.

In all, real property valued at $90,083,795 was re-appraised at an expense which compares favorably with the re-appraisal of like counties in 1924.

The effect of the re-appraisal is reflected in the tax rates for the current year, which are based on the new values. The county rate has been reduced nine-tenths of a mill. The rates in nearly all of the 72 taxing districts have been materially reduced and the schools, cities and villages as a rule can now continue to function without serious financial embarrassment.

twelve children. Two others were distinct types of moron. The fourth was a dangerous criminal type. The State permits such men as these to become fathers of large families, and now the State must take care of the children, or let them grow up either as paupers or vicious animals.

"Because of this condition we are asking the state legislature to pass the 'Employment of Prisoners' bill, requiring the State to employ such men on public roads or on work for State institutions, without competition with free labor, and to pay for such labor not to exceed $3.50 per day—the pay to be used for their dependent wives and children outside of prison.

"This is the most constructive piece of social legislation now before the State in the employment of labor and in the elimination of expenditures for taking care of these children. And it will result in justice being done for the innocent little children who are offended against when the bread winner is taken away from them."

voluntarily shut their eyes and intoned:

"A-l-a-b-a-m-a casts 24 votes for Under-wood-d."

But instead, there was a report that she cast 12 votes for John W. Davis and Charles W. Bryan.

La Follette Gets 13.

A rebel yell from the Democratic side of the chamber greeted this, and the roll-call proceeded by the formal announcement that Coolidge, John W. Davis and Charles W. Bryan, 136, and Robert M. La Follette and Burton K. Wheeler, 13.

Each state followed the announcement of its vote with applause. The galleries were crowded with spectators for the quadrennial ceremony.

The whole ceremony occupied less than hour. When it ended, the Senate retired and both houses went prosaically about their business.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—Forward movements in the early trading today were confined chiefly to a small number of industrial and specialty stocks which have behind them the strong arm of powerful professional operators or pools. The market was extremely restless in this period, with simultaneous advances and declines in different parts of the speculative lists, as traders sold stocks in order to acquire others.

The magic name of Durant was passed around the speculative district in an effort to discover in what stocks his interest lay. Cast Iron Pipe jumped another 10 points, there by adding to the paper profits of the pool which has been operating in this stock for about six months. Independent oil and gas, of which Mr. Durant was elected a director this week, and which has come up from 13 to 29½ in a few weeks of trading, was also a feature.

Universal Pipe jumped to above 50 on reports that with the retirement of the preferred stock, the common will be in line to share the large profits made by the company in the last six months. This is a gain of 37 points over the low of six months ago, when the stock sold at 13. Sharp forward movements also continued in Savage Arms, Worthington Pump, North American and other specialty stocks.

With the exception of General Motors, which continued under liquidation, the Motor stocks were active and strong. Studebaker advanced 1½ points to 46, and gains of a point or more were made by Mack Trucks, Fierce Arrow preferred, Willys Overland, Chandler and Maxwell. Motor accessory stocks were also strong.

May department stores led a spirited movement in the merchantile stocks, advancing to 109¾; Sears Roebuck was up two points and Montgomery Ward, one. American Can made a new high at 173¾; American Sumatra Tobacco sold three points higher and more than doubled its low price of a few weeks ago; oil stocks were under selling pressure, as also were the steels and a number of the industrial shares which led the previous advance.

Grain markets were unsteady, with losses of 1 to 2 cents a bushel in wheat and rye at Chicago and Winnipeg. Cotton was steady; foreign exchange irregular; call money 3½ per cent.

MILK WAGON IS HIT BY CAR

Driver Escapes Injuries in Clark Avenue Crash.

The fact that he had stepped momentarily from his wagon to deliver a bottle of milk probably saved the life of William Mann, employe of the Rosenberg Dairy Products company when an eastbound interurban street car smashed into his milk wagon yesterday in Clark avenue, near Twenty-third street.

Mann, delivering along his milk route, had turned near Wooster's and was going east in Clark avenue before the collision.

He jumped from the rear step of the wagon, from which point he directs his horse, and ran across the street to a home to leave several bottles of milk.

As he crossed the street the interurban, with brakes screeching, crashed into the rear of the milk wagon, it is reported.

The wagon was practically wrecked and the horse was shoved along the car rails for a short distance before the momentum of the street car was checked. The horse was severely cut and bruised about the body and legs.

Pains

That are needless Relieve at once

Rheumatic pains, lameness, soreness—pains you can end at once should be stopped. The means should always be on call.

The modern relief is Red Pepper Rub. It so excels the old ways that there is no comparison. It is saving tons of pain.

Nothing else creates such concentrated, such penetrating heat. And heat that doesn't hurt.

Apply Red Pepper Rub and the tingling heat is instantly apparent. In three minutes that heat seems to reach the depths. Then the pain and soreness disappear.

At first the results seem like magic. No other method ever brought them. Then you come to know that most pain is easily avoided.

But these troubles often appear at night. That means hours of suffering. A jar of Red Pepper Rub on your shelf would prevent them.

So many people suffer needless pains—pains that this method can end in three minutes. That is a pity. Get this Rub today and have it ready to end every such pain at once.

YOUR HEALTH

Tuberculosis Is Cureable and Is Not Hereditary

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
United States Senator from New York.

RECENTLY we had the annual Christmas Seal stamp sale. During that week many things were printed and preached about tuberculosis and its prevention. In spite of it, however, my mail brings many requests for more information about the disease.

In a letter from Minnesota, I am asked a lot of questions. A personal reply would have been sent had there been an address, but since there was none I will answer it here.

Here are some of the inquiries!

How are you to avoid tuberculosis?

If you have it, what should you eat?

Should you take strenuous exercise or rest?

What climate is best?

Do you have night sweats every night and is the temperature above normal at all times?

Should a tuberculosis patient avoid liquor and tobacco?

The first comforting thing I can say is that tuberculosis is not inherited. It is due to the manner of life and to the contacts of the victim himself.

Tuberculosis is produced by a germ, but it is induced by lowered bodily resistance, usually the result of neglect, overwork, worry, late hours, loss of sleep, undernourishment, or prolonged illness of any sort.

To avoid it, you must live a life governed by simplicity and common sense.

If you have tuberculosis, you can get rid of it in any climate. It is not caused by climate. It is not cured by climate.

I have visited tuberculosis hospitals in the mountains, at sea-level, in the desert, in the pines, in the North and in the South, in the snow and in the rain. Sunshine, fresh air, out-of-doors life and cheerful surroundings are requisite to cure.

In general, there should be no exercise while there is fever and very modest exercise if there is a tendency to fever.

Nourishing food, such as is supplied by milk and eggs, is ideal if that food is palatable. Fruit, fresh vegetables and sensible eating are demanded.

Night sweats are common in some stages and temperature at night is the rule. They are of no consequence except as indications of the progress of the disease. As these symptoms lessen a. i disappear, you may become more and more encouraged.

You can be cured. It will take time, but courage, faith and contentment of mind will help a lot.

Answers to Health Questions

A. R. Q.—What would you advise for brittle finger-nails?

A.—Keep the hands out of water as much as possible and apply vaseline at night.

• • •

AMY. Q.—Is it harmful to eat before going to bed?

A.—It is not advisable to eat heavily before retiring. An apple or some piece of fruit is alright.

• • •

HENRY T. Q.—What should a boy 12 years of age 4 ft. 6 inches weigh?

A.—You should weigh about 100 pounds.

J. R. F. Q.—I am a boy of 15, and feel badly because my ears stick out from my head. What would you advise?

A.—In some instances an operation will correct this condition. Consult a competent surgeon and have him advise you.

E. R. Q.—What is the cause of prominent veins in the legs between the knee and hip?

A.—This is due probably to varicose veins, due to increased pressure through the veins caused by some over exertion such as long standing, for instance. Wearing a bandage or elastic stocking during the daytime and bathing with warm witch hazel is often effective where the trouble is slight.

E. R. Q.—What is the cause of prominent veins in the legs between the knee and hip?

A.—This is due probably to varicose veins, due to increased pressure through the veins caused by some over exertion such as long standing, for instance. Wearing a bandage or elastic stocking during the daytime and bathing with warm witch hazel is often effective where the trouble is slight.

EAST LIVERPOOL—AMERICA'S POTTERY CENTER

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 11, 1925.

Civic Music Renewal Week

The 1924-25 season of the Civic Music Association of East Liverpool, launched for the purpose of enabling East Liverpool music lovers to hear the great artists without traveling to Pittsburgh, Cleveland or New York, will close tonight with the appearance here of Charles Marshall, dramatic tenor, who is essentially an American.

As in the previous concerts, a capacity crowd will greet Mr. Marshall, and his program shall prove as entertaining as those given by other artists who have appeared here under auspices of the association. And with the conclusion of this concert, the campaign for next season's members will open.

Tonight and tomorrow, present members will be given opportunity to enroll for the second season. Then the lists will be opened to those who were not patrons during the 1924-25 series of concerts. Approximately 200 names are on the waiting list. The seating capacity of the Ceramic theatre is 1350.

The Civic Music Association is here to stay, judging from the success of the first season, when, contrary to expectations, a surplus remained in the treasury after payment of all expense in connection with the series of concerts. This speaks well for the district's love of good music, for even in the large cities a deficit is usually the rule in the presentation of artists of the music world.

Classy Duds

Here, according to the National Association of Merchant Tailors of America, are the main essentials of the wardrobe of a well-dressed man:

Four overcoats.
Sport clothes (number of suits optional).
Tuexdo or dinner jacket.
Waistcoats (the more the better).
Full dress evening suit.
Sack suits (number optional), either single or double breasted.
Riding suits (one or more).
Morning coat and waistcoat with striped trousers.
Silk hat.

Any male citizen who does not qualify should hasten to acquire the necessary garments. If there is to be any economizing, obviously it should be done on the sack suits. Most anything, of course, can be made to serve for ordinary business wear, or around the house, and a canny dresser can get by even with a rather limited number of sport suits. But one simply must have those four overcoats, and the dress clothes and morning coat and striped trousers and silk hat. And how could a gentleman ever exist without at least one riding suit?

Perhaps one, who does not profess to be a sartorial expert, will be pardoned for suggesting some mild additions, in the belief that being well dressed consist in wearing duds suitable to the occasion, thus:

One house coats or smoking jacket, preferably old, for evening wear at home.
One sweater, for warmth and avoidance of collars and cuffs
One bathing suit, of whatever style suits the wearer's type of beauty.
One suit of overalls for taking care of the furnace and working around the yard.
One cap, of any old kind, to counteract the silk lid.

Kilts for Women

Paris, showing its spring fashions, calls for shorter skirts, and British women show signs of revolt, on the grounds of taste and expediency. One of them, the Hon. Mrs. John Fortescue, says:

"If skirts are made much shorter, we shall be walking about in kilts, and I don't think we would look well in kilts. My answer to this question of short skirts is that it always depends on the legs. Most of us can't wear them. Very short skirts are ungraceful, especially with evening frocks."

Her judgment is reinforced by the head of a smart English dressmaking firm, who says the ultra-short skirt is "not suited to English women."

Possibly American women have an advantage over English women in the physical requirements mentioned. Yet there will probably be a revolt on this side of the water, just the same. American women lately have shown commendable independence of foreign fashions. They may bow to New York, but Paris influence is waning. So a vogue of feminine kilts for flappers and dowagers is not much to be feared.

A GREAT RELIGIOUS MEETING

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—In the new Washington auditorium has just been held one of the most remarkable religious meetings since the Ecumenical Mission conference in New York city in 1900, or the World Mission conference in Edinburgh in 1910. This was the Foreign Missions convention of the United States and Canada.

It was remarkable inasmuch as no effort was made to raise funds and no policies were agreed upon.

It was simply a painting of present world conditions as they affect missions. It was left to the various mission boards to digest the mass of information set before them and to decide according to their lights their policies.

Another unusual feature of the convention was the method of its financing. Each delegate and visitor paid an admissfon fee. This clearly indicates the sincerity of purpose of those attending. It was estimated that 90 per cent of the Protestant communions were represented. There were 3,500 delegates from all parts of the United States and Canada, and 500 speakers and leaders from all parts of the world. Every continent was represented. At one meeting there were speakers from India, China, Japan, Holland, Scandinavia, Germany, France and England.

The convention was held under the auspices of the Foreign Missions conference of North America, which is the agency through which the foreign boards of the United States and Canada act together in dealing with the problems of common concern which belong to the foreign mission enterprises of today. This organization has been functioning for 32 years and is rather a distinctive example of the way in which earnest men and women of different views on many details of administration and opinion may yet exhibit a unity of spirit.

The seating capacity of the auditorium is 6,742 and the place was filled at nearly every meeting. The attendance was 4,000 on a day when the weather did its worst—rain, sleet, snow and high winds. There were 16 big meetings, with a number of simultaneous meetings which were held between lunch time and 4:45, when the afternoon meeting convened.

WOMEN TAKE PROMINENT PART

For the first time in a meeting of this sort women took a prominent part. They constituted about one-third of the official delegates, and women presided over three of the big meetings. Modern invention in the form of the amplifier made it possible for a woman's voice to be heard in all parts of the hall Heretofore it has been claimed by many that women did not make good speakers because their voices would not carry. Women are rapidly exploding quite a few pet masculine theories.

Co-operation among the various Protestant denominations are regards foreign missions is being urged more and more. While each may have decided ideas as to methods of administration, the purpose of all is the same—disseminating the teachings of Christ. The handbook for delegates set forth its purpose as follows:

"The primary purpose of the convention is for the information and inspiration of the churches of these two countries. It is an educational, not a deliberative or legislative, assembly. It is not to deal with questions and problems of administration on the mission field. Its messages are designed to enlarge the interest and deepen the conviction of the Christian people at the home base as to their foreign mission responsibilities and obligations."

To this end missionaries from all parts of the world spoke, setting forth the conditions in the particular localities where they have been working. These talks were limited to 20 minutes, and were, of necessity, concise and earnest. There was no time for levity. These people had messages to convey, pictures to paint, and the time was short. When a speaker had talked 18 minutes, the buzzer signal was given, and after 20 minutes it rang every minute or so. If he had not succeeded in getting his message across in that time, he had to retire without having accomplished his purpose. The only instance where a speaker was allowed more than 20 minutes was in the case of Dr. John R. Mott. He spoke on "New Forces Released Through Co-operation." Because of the importance of the subject, and also of his standing, he was allowed an additional 10 minutes.

This convention was colorful, too—literally—since no color, race, nor denominational line was drawn. It was interesting to note the different types. One saw a large pugilistic looking colored man, carrying a brief case, in earnest conversation with a small ascetic looking Anglo-Saxon. Then came a negro "auntie" who looked as though she should be "toting" her hymnal on her head, instead of prosaicly carrying it in her hand.

OTHER INTERESTING TYPES

There was a young East Indian in the conventional raincoat and overshoes, but topping these with a light blue turban with a wide streamer down his back. And there were clergymen with various and individual hats, the most outstanding being a small flat saucer-like derby on a large and florid Englishman. The final thrill, however, was when the shade of the late "Buffalo Bill" himself stalked majestically through the center of the crowd. It could have been no other. It is said that some of these missionary representatives are the greatest living authorities on the conditions and policies of the territories in which they are located. The department of state has the names of many on file in case authoritative information or advice is needed. Many have written books and so many of these authors were present that this meeting might almost have been an authors' convention.

The ushers at the convention were college students—mostly theological students. One of these, an Episcopalian, caused quite a ripple of amusement. As people know, the box of the president of the United States is not supposed to be occupied except by him and his party. If he is not present the box remains empty. When James E. Freeman, Episcopal bishop of Washington, entered the hall, this young man with great ceremony conducted him to the presidential box. In his estimation his bishop surely rated the highest seat of honor.

While this convention was one of the largest of its kind held in a great many years, it was handled with a minimum of friction and confusion. The chairman of each committee in charge was trained in his particular kind of work and had had much experience. As one man put it, "The wheels revolved so smoothly that one lost track of the fact there were any."

More religious publications sent official representatives to this convention than to any other ever held—nearly a hundred.

One of the facts brought out by this convention is that the cry for self-determination is as great in religion as in everything else. In the so-called non-Christian countries it is found that more and more the native wishes religious independence. For the most part native Christian churches are national, and not denominational.

No criticism was made of other Christian denominations or of the non-Christian religions. It was realized that in this as well as in most other things the old adage, "There is so much good in the worst of us, and so much bad in the best of us, that it scarcely behooves any of us to talk about the rest of us," held true.

NEWSY GOSSIP OF BIG CITIES

By CHARLES A. SMITH.

LONDON, Feb. 11.—A new idea in radio broadcasting, recently tried out at the Nottingham Station, probably will shortly be adopted all over the country.

The idea is that, instead of the customary wait of one or two minutes between each item of the program, a series of short, sharp "dots" will be broadcast in order to indicate to "fans" that their sets are working properly, that the program is still proceeding and that there is no need for them to start adjusting their sets and thus set up oscillations.

The new system has been favorably received in this country and is said to reduce "atmospherics" and oscillation considerably.

British radio experts are successfully exprimenting with the discovery of M. Lossev, a Russian scientist, that, with a certain circuit, it is possible to apply a battery to a crystal set and obtain oscillation in the same manner as a tube set.

It is stated that the saving in original cost and operation of a successful oscillating crystal set over an ordinary tube set would be tremendous, and that the receiver would have more general efficiency and greater purity of tone. It is thought that in the near future it will thus be possible to "get" either Australia or the United States from London on a crystal set.

A new microphone for use at broadcasting stations is reported to have been invented by a London radio engineer.

It is said to eliminate all chance of overtones, and, most important, it is said to be able to cope with and overcome the voices of soprano singers, with out any squeaking or distortion of tone.

The new microphone is designed along the lines of the paper-diaphragm loud-speaker, which gives pure production.

Recent experiments have shown that it is possible for an aeroplane to use the smoke from its exhaust as a radio aerial.

This is thought to be because the exhaust air is very hot and highly ionized and, therefore, a good conductor.

In the event the radio aerial carried by a French battleship is shot away, a powerful upright jet of water may be used instead.

Experiments that have been recently carried out by the French naval officers and experts have shown that it is possible to use such a jet of water as an aerial.

A fool-proof radio transmitter for lifeboats, which can be automattically worked by any survivor, is the latest aid for the prevention of loss of life at sea.

By merely turning a handle in a box no larger than an ordinary biscuit tin, any person will be able to send out continuous SOS signals and at the same time automatically illuminate the mast head.

The device has been invented to meet the recent law laid down by the British authorities that every tenth lifeboat on passenger vessels shall have a radio transmission set and a masthead light.

Radio has become the most prolific source of invention in Britain.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—One of the most impressive phases of New York's poverty is its strident buoyancy. Poverty as a rule sinks to voiceless despair, but here it seems to have astounding color and noise. It shrieks and is blatant.

London's East End is comparable to New York's East Side. But in London the streets are empty and the home are despressingly cheerless. The people you see seem shabby and sickly. And they slink along in a beaten, dispirited manner.

The East Side is always ringing with shouts and laughter. Children romp with as gay abandon as may be found anywhere. Hurdy gurdies are jangling. The keepers of tiny shops seem well fed and opulent. There is a community spirit of friendliness.

The most solemn note of all is the Jew with long whiskers, trousers bagging about his feet, small derby clapped over his ears and hands clasped tightly across his back. He walks along looking only at the ground and dreams.

The reason, of course, is that in London they have little hope of rising above the dreariness. In America they are filled with hope. They have seen thousands go from pushcarts to ownerships of big stores uptown. From tenement homes to Riverside drive apartments.

There is more to amuse on the East Side than any other haven of squalor in the world. There are moving picture shows to every block. Cheap dance halls. Public swimming pools and playgrounds. Coffee houses and cafes with good music.

There are public libraries and free schools of all kinds. Sweat shops are disappearing and no worker feels he is harnessed to some job. There is always another job waiting for him just around the corner.

Most of Manhattan's panhandlers live in the streets shooting off of Park Row—such as Mulberry, Roosevelt, Pearl and Duane. In the evening many of them gather on the benches of City Hall park. There is no profession so mysterious as "mooching." These men are in many instances well educated and quite harmless. The professional moocher is rarely one who will rob or stoop to other crimes. He just drifts along picking up enough to buy him skimpy meals and a cot in one of the flop houses. There is a venerable "Crust Thrower"—who pounces upon a planted crust of bread with ravage hunger to excite sympathy—who has been a beggar for 40 years. He is now 70. He has read thebest in literature, knows much about all and has never taken a drink. "Work," he says, "is only for fools."

A newspaper has been trying to find out who is the most popular of New York headwaiters. All have a certain following, but I do not believe they are really popular. Most of their gestures are incited by the hope of reward.

The strangest thing about a headwaiter is the manner in which the public stand in awe of him. They purr to his bows and compliments. If he turns they away, they go back again. And will more than likely tip him on the return visit. That is why the New York headwaiter often tells patrons there are no tables left when as a matter of fact there are.

Up along the Hudson is a glowering mountainside known as Storm King. It is black, gaunt and forbidding. When the wind sweeps about it there is a roaring screech. It is one of the most picturesquely named spots around New York.

TODAY

BY ARTHUR BRISBANE

(The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune).

WALL STREET GAVE AND TOOK

Today "Tom" Lawson, author of "Frenzied Finance," and an active figure in much frenzied finance of his own, will be buried close to the magnificent estate that he once owned. Wall street gave it to him. And Wall street took it away from him.

When he was 16 he made $40,000 in Wall street. In 20 years of Wall street life he made $40,000,000 and Wall street took it all back.

The old croupier at Monte Carlo's gambling house said to this writer long ago: "We don't have to worry about profits. While they have money the strangers stay and gamble or spend it in our hotels. When they haven't any more money they go. The money stays with us."

So with wall street, if you gamble.

THE PROPHET CHEERS UP

The unfortunate prophet of doom is feeling better, although the world didn't end when he said it would.

He has excuses. Flashlights of photographers interfered with the Divine powers. That seems strange when you consider the number of flashing lights existing in this universe.

Best of all, Reidt, who sold his potatoes, his Ford car and little hut, thinking he wouldn't need them any more, need shed no tears. The notoriety the newspapers have given him will enable him to buy a bigger house, a bigger car and fill his cellar with potatoes. There is nothing like advertising.

THE PLACE FOR BIG DOGS

It is reported and denied that Balto, magnificent Siberial wolfhound, leader in the dog team that arried the anti-toxin to Nome, is dead. Some of the dogs had their lungs frozen. All the blood in their bodies could not sufficiently heat the air that entered the lungs.

Dead or alive, Balto is a magnificent specimen, and dragging a sled in Alaska is exactly the world for him.

But the heroism of that particular dog is no excuse for the stupidity that keeps wolfhounds, dangerous sometimes to their owners, and nearly always dangerous to others, in crowded cities.

When a man's wolfhound, police dog, or other huge animal, bites a child, the punishment should be the same as if the owner of the dog had been guilty of criminal assault.

RUSSIA IS SO UNCOURTLY

You notice that some of our biggest and most prosperous "best minds" have always been bitter toward the government of Russia.

They don't want Russia recognized by this nation. They want every little child in the cradle to be taught to shudder when the word "soviet" is spoken.

Our "leading minds" are intelligent. They know what is good for them and what isn't.

Yesterday's news from Russia told of seven men who had been sentenced to death, merely for grafting, on an extensive scale at the expense of the public, and theacherously selling out their government.

A nation doing that sort of thing, of course, doesn't please certain "leading minds" in America. For instance, those that engineered the water of the naval oil supplies. And it does not please those that would deprive the United States of adequate air defense, because some steel men and the oil men want the profits from big battleships.

Secretary Weeks seems to discover in the demand for an adequate air force some reflection on General Pershing or other able generals. That is imaginary. To say that a family needs an automobile is not to reflect upon the old family coachman. He was a good coachman, all honor to him. But the coachman is out of date. What you want now is a good chauffeur. And to hire one is no insult to the good old coachman.

Battleships and regiments of soldiers, crawling like ants over the ground, are out of date. What the nation wants is fighting air machines.

Peter Garretson, of Paterson, celebrated his ninetieth birthday on Sunday Sixty years ago the life insurance people didn't want to insure him. He was "a poor risk." And the insurance people told him so.

Thereupon Mr. Garretson did more thinking and less eating, gave up the insurance idea and lived to be 90.

As Senator Copeland, who is also a doctor, says: "Half of what you eat keeps you alive, the other half keeps doctors alive." The figures might be changed thusly: Forty per cent of what you eat keeps you alive, 50 per cent keeps the doctor alive and 10 per cent keeps the undertaker going.

Fashion can do what other things can't do. For instance, the fashion in short skirts has made fashionable restaurants and night dancing resorts in London cut down the height of tables and chairs. It is impossible for women with skirts up to their knees to sit gracefully, not to say modestly, at the regulation high table. So the legs are cut off.

WHO'S WHO

HERBERT HENRY ASQUITH.

The recent announcement that Herbert H. Asquith, ex-premier of Great Britain, had accepted the honor of an earldom offered by King George at the suggestion of Prime Minister Baldwin, is generally regarded as signalling the end of a great political career. He is 73 years old and his life reads like fiction.

HERBERT ASQUITH

Born of manufacturing, nonconformist stock, the great schools of England were above the social or educational ambitions of the family and young Asquith was sent to the city of London school. There he won a scholarship to Balaiol. At Oxford Asquith swept the board clean of scholastic prizes and left a memory of being a thoroughly pleasant man, normal in all things except in the sweep of his mind. It was as a lawyer that he first acclaimed public notice.

He was admitted to the bar in 1876, when he was 24 years old. He served as secretary of state for the home department from 1892 to 1895. For the three years following he was chancellor of the exchequer. In 1914 he became secretary of state for war. He had a seat in parliament from 1886 to 1918 and was prime minister and first lord of the treasury from 1908 to 1916.

Asquith has been married twice, his present wife being the famous Margaret Tennant Asquith, who has written her "Memoirs" and other books which have amused and angered so many celebrities.

If face paint could be used as a cure for rheumatism, we'll bet a cookie that a good many paragraphers would quit saying anything about it on the girl's face.—Newark (O.) American-Tribune.

EAST LIVERPOOL—AMERICA'S POTTERY CENTER

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 11, 1925.

Civic Music Renewal Week

The 1924-25 season of the Civic Music Association of East Liverpool, launched for the purpose of enabling East Liverpool music lovers to hear the great artists without traveling to Pittsburgh, Cleveland or New York, will close tonight with the appearance here of Charles Marshall, dramatic tenor, who is essentially an American.

As in the previous concerts, a capacity crowd will greet Mr. Marshall, and his program shall prove as entertaining as those given by other artists who have appeared here under auspices of the association. And with the conclusion of this concert, the campaign for next season's members will open.

Tonight and tomorrow, present members will be given opportunity to enroll for the second season. Then the lists will be opened to those who were not patrons during the 1924-25 series of concerts. Approximately 200 names are on the waiting list. The seating capacity of the Ceramic theatre is 1350.

The Civic Music Association is here to stay, judging from the success of the first season, when, contrary to expectations, a surplus remained in the treasury after payment of all expense in connection with the series of concerts. This speaks well for the district's love of good music, for even in the large cities a deficit is usually the rule in the presentation of artists of the music world.

Classy Duds

Here, according to the National Association of Merchant Tailors of America, are the main essentials of the wardrobe of a well-dressed man:

Four overcoats.
Sport clothes (number of suits optional).
Tuexdo or dinner jacket.
Waistcoats (the more the better).
Full dress evening suit.
Sack suits (number optional), either single or double breasted.
Riding suits (one or more).
Morning coat and waistcoat with striped trousers.
Silk hat.

Any male citizen who does not qualify should hasten to acquire the necessary garments. If there is to be any economizing, obviously it should be done on the sack suits. Most anything, of course, can be made to serve for ordinary business wear, or around the house, and a canny dresser can get by even with a rather limited number of sport suits. But one simply must have those four overcoats, and the dress clothes and morning coat and striped trousers and silk hat. And how could a gentleman ever exist without at least one riding suit?

Perhaps one, who does not profess to be a sartorial expert, will be pardoned for suggesting some mild additions, in the belief that being well dressed consist in wearing duds suitable to the occasion, thus:

One house coats or smoking jacket, preferably old, for evening wear at home.
One sweater, for warmth and avoidance of collars and cuffs
One bathing suit, of whatever style suits the wearer's type of beauty.
One suit of overalls for taking care of the furnace and working around the yard.
One cap, of any old kind, to counteract the silk lid.

Kilts for Women

Paris, showing its spring fashions, calls for shorter skirts, and British women show signs of revolt, on the grounds of taste and expediency. One of them, the Hon. Mrs. John Fortescue, says:

"If skirts are made much shorter, we shall be walking about in kilts, and I don't think we would look well in kilts. My answer to this question of short skirts is that it always depends on the legs. Most of us can't wear them. Very short skirts are ungraceful, especially with evening frocks."

Her judgment is reinforced by the head of a smart English dressmaking firm, who says the ultra-short skirt is "not suited to English women."

Possibly American women have an advantage over English women in the physical requirements mentioned. Yet there will probably be a revolt on this side of the water, just the same. American women lately have shown commendable independence of foreign fashions. They may bow to New York, but Paris influence is waning. So a vogue of feminine kilts for flappers and dowagers is not much to be feared.

A GREAT RELIGIOUS MEETING

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—In the new Washington auditorium has just been held one of the most remarkable religious meetings since the Ecumenical Mission conference in New York city in 1900, or the World Mission conference in Edinburgh in 1910. This was the Foreign Missions convention of the United States and Canada.

It was remarkable inasmuch as no effort was made to raise funds and no policies were agreed upon.

It was simply a painting of present world conditions as they affect missions. It was left to the various mission boards to digest the mass of information set before them and to decide according to their lights their policies.

Another unusual feature of the convention was the method of its financing. Each delegate and visitor paid an admission fee. This clearly indicates the sincerity of purpose of those attending. It was estimated that 90 per cent of the Protestant communions were represented. There were 3,500 delegates from all parts of the United States and Canada, and 500 speakers and leaders from all parts of the world. Every continent was represented. At one meeting there were speakers from India, China, Japan, Holland, Scandinavia, Germany, France and England.

The convention was held under the auspices of the Foreign Missions conference of North America, which is the agency through which the foreign boards of the United States and Canada act together in dealing with the problems of common concern which belong to the foreign mission enterprises of today. This organization has been functioning for 32 years and is rather a distinctive example of the way in which earnest men and women of different views on many details of administration and opinion may yet exhibit a unity of spirit.

The seating capacity of the auditorium is 6,742 and the place was filled at nearly every meeting. The attendance was 4,000 on a day when the weather did its worst—rain, sleet, snow and high winds. There were 16 big meetings, with a number of simultaneous meetings which were held between lunch time and 4:45, when the afternoon meeting convened.

WOMEN TAKE PROMINENT PART

For the first time in a meeting of this sort women took a prominent part. They constituted about one-third of the official delegates, and women presided over three of the big meetings. Modern invention in the form of the amplifier made it possible for a woman's voice to be heard in all parts of the hall Heretofore it has been claimed by many that women did not make good speakers because their voices would not carry. Women are rapidly exploding quite a few pet masculine theories.

Co-operation among the various Protestant denominations are regards foreign missions is being urged more and more. While each may have decided ideas as to methods of administration, the purpose of all is the same—disseminating the teachings of Christ. The handbook for delegates set forth its purpose as follows:

"The primary purpose of the convention is for the information and inspiration of the churches of these two countries. It is an educational, not a deliberative or legislative, assembly. It is not to deal with questions and problems of administration on the mission field. Its messages are designed to enlarge the interest and deepen the conviction of the Christian people at the home base as to their foreign mission responsibilities and obligations."

To this end missionaries from all parts of the world spoke, setting forth the conditions in the particular localities where they have been working. These talks were limited to 20 minutes, and were, of necessity, concise and earnest. There was no time for levity. These people had messages to convey, pictures to paint, and the time was short. When a speaker had talked 18 minutes, the buzzer signal was given, and after 20 minutes it rang every minute or so. If he had not succeeded in getting his message across in that time, he had to retire without having accomplished his purpose. The only instance where a speaker was allowed more than 20 minutes was in the case of Dr. John R. Mott. He spoke on "New Forces Released Through Co-operation." Because of the importance of the subject, and also of his standing, he was allowed an additional 10 minutes.

This convention was colorful, too—literally—since no color, race, nor denominational line was drawn. It was interesting to note the different types. One saw a large pugilistic looking colored man, carrying a brief case, in earnest conversation with a small ascetic looking Anglo-Saxon. Then came a negro "auntie" who looked as though she should be "toting" her hymnal on her head, instead of prosaicly carrying it in her hand.

OTHER INTERESTING TYPES

There was a young East Indian in the conventional raincoat and overshoes, but topping these with a light blue turban with a wide streamer down his back. And there were clergymen with various and individual hats, the most outstanding being a small flat saucer-like derby on a large and florid Englishman. The final thrill, however, was when the shade of the late "Buffalo Bill" himself stalked majestically through the center of the crowd. It could have been no other. It is said that some of these missionary representatives are the greatest living authorities on the conditions and policies of the territories in which they are located. The department of state has the names of many on file in case authoritative information or advice is needed. Many have written books and so many of these authors were present that this meeting might almost have been an authors' convention.

The ushers at the convention were college students—mostly theological students. One of these, an Episcopalian, caused quite a ripple of amusement. As people know, the box of the president of the United States is not supposed to be occupied except by him and his party. If he is not present the box remains empty. When James E. Freeman, Episcopal bishop of Washington, entered the hall, this young man with great ceremony conducted him to the presidential box. In his estimation his bishop surely rated the highest seat of honor.

While this convention was one of the largest of its kind held in a great many years, it was handled with a minimum of friction and confusion. The chairman of each committee in charge was trained in his particular kind of work and had had much experience. As one man put it, "The wheels revolved so smoothly that one lost track of the fact there were any."

More religious publications sent official representatives to this convention than to any other ever held—nearly a hundred.

One of the facts brought out by this convention is that the cry for self-determination is as great in religion as in everything else. In the so-called non-Christian countries it is found that more and more the native wishes religious independence. For the most part native Christian churches are national, and not denominational.

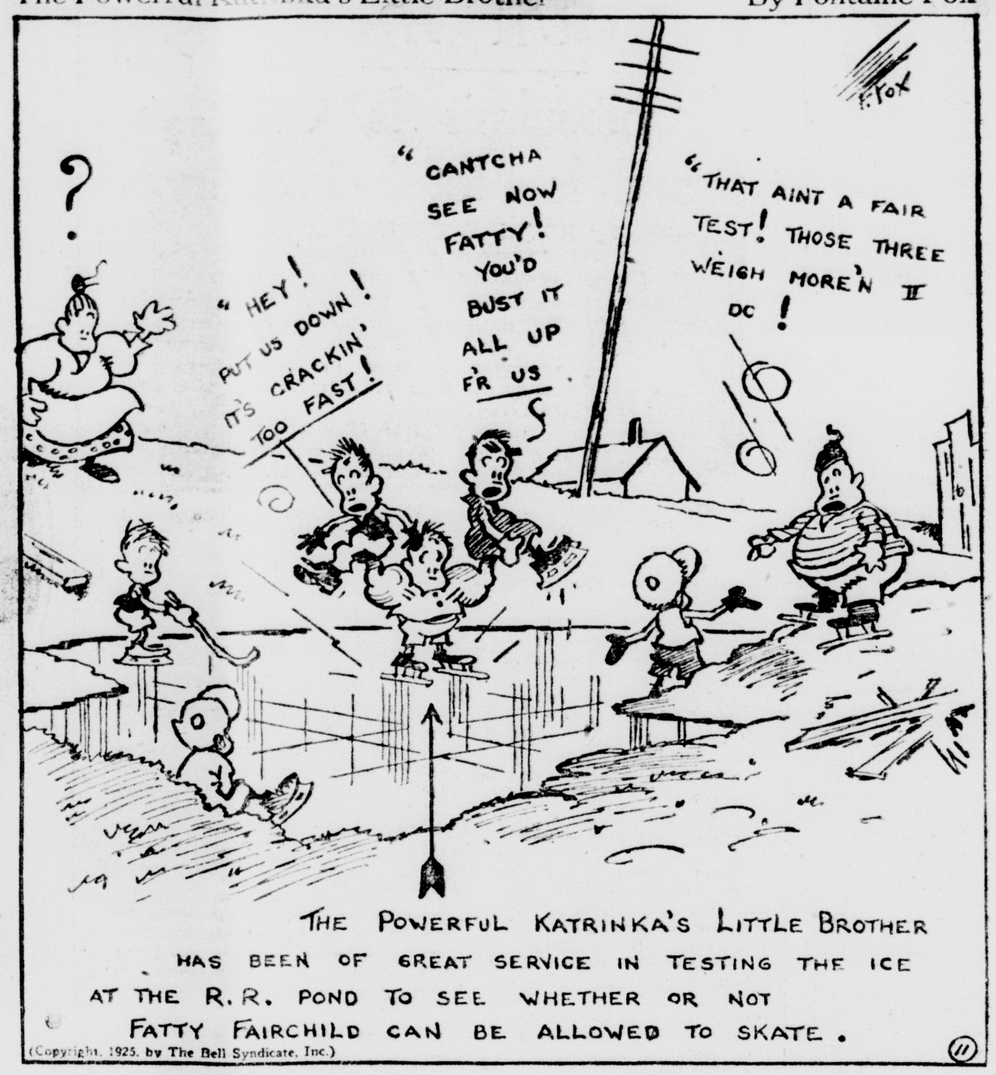

No criticism was made of other Christian denominations or of the non-Christian religions. It was realized that in this as well as in most other things the old adage, "There is so much good in the worst of us, and so much bad in the best of us, that it scarcely behooves any of us to talk about the rest of us," held true.

NEWSY GOSSIP OF BIG CITIES

By CHARLES A. SMITH.

LONDON, Feb. 11.—A new idea in radio broadcasting, recently tried out at the Nottingham Station, probably will shortly be adopted all over the country.

The idea is that, instead of the customary wait of one or two minutes between each item of the program, a series of short, sharp "dots" will be broadcast in order to indicate to "fans" that their sets are working properly, that the program is still proceeding and that there is no need for them to start adjusting their sets and thus set up oscillations.

The new system has been favorably received in this country and is said to reduce "atmospherics" and oscillation considerably.

British radio experts are successfully exprimenting with the discovery of M. Lossev, a Russian scientist, that, with a certain circuit, it is possible to apply a battery to a crystal set and obtain oscillation in the same manner as a tube set.

It is stated that the saving in original cost and operation of a successful oscillating crystal set over an ordinary tube set would be tremendous, and that the receiver would have more general efficiency and greater purity of tone. It is thought that in the near future it will thus be possible to "get" either Australia or the United States from London on a crystal set.

A new microphone for use at broadcasting stations is reported to have been invented by a London radio engineer.

It is said to eliminate all chance of overtones, and, most important, it is said to be able to cope with and overcome the voices of soprano singers, with out any squeaking or distortion of tone.

The new microphone is designed along the lines of the paper-diaphragm loud-speaker, which gives pure production.

Recent experiments have shown that it is possible for an aeroplane to use the smoke from its exhaust as a radio aerial.

This is thought to be because the exhaust air is very hot and highly ionized and, therefore, a good conductor.

In the event the radio aerial carried by a French battleship is shot away, a powerful upright jet of water may be used instead.

Experiments that have been recently carried out by the French naval officers and experts have shown that it is possible to use such a jet of water as an aerial.

A fool-proof radio transmitter for lifeboats, which can be automattically worked by any survivor, is the latest aid for the prevention of loss of life at sea.

By merely turning a handle in a box no larger than an ordinary biscuit tin, any person will be able to send out continuous SOS signals and at the same time automatically illuminate the mast head.

The device has been invented to meet the recent law laid down by the British authorities that every tenth lifeboat on passenger vessels shall have a radio transmission set and a masthead light.

Radio has become the most prolific source of invention in Britain.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—One of the most impressive phases of New York's poverty is its strident buoyancy. Poverty as a rule sinks to voiceless despair, but here it seems to have astounding color and noise. It shrieks and is blatant.

London's East End is comparable to New York's East Side. But in London the streets are empty and the home are despressingly cheerless. The people you see seem shabby and sickly. And they slink along in a beaten, dispirited manner.

The East Side is always ringing with shouts and laughter. Children romp with as gay abandon as may be found anywhere. Hurdy gurdies are jangling. The keepers of tiny shops seem well fed and opulent. There is a community spirit of friendliness.

The most solemn note of all is the Jew with long whiskers, trousers bagging about his feet, small derby clapped over his ears and hands clasped tightly across his back. He walks along looking only at the ground and dreams.

The reason, of course, is that in London they have little hope of rising above the dreariness. In America they are filled with hope. They have seen thousands go from pushcarts to ownerships of big stores uptown. From tenement homes to Riverside drive apartments.

There is more to amuse on the East Side than any other haven of squalor in the world. There are moving picture shows to every block. Cheap dance halls. Public swimming pools and playgrounds. Coffee houses and cafes with good music.

There are public libraries and free schools of all kinds. Sweat shops are disappearing and no worker feels he is harnessed to some job. There is always another job waiting for him just around the corner.

Most of Manhattan's panhandlers live in the streets shooting off of Park Row—such as Mulberry, Roosevelt, Pearl and Duane. In the evening many of them gather on the benches of City Hall park. There is no profession so mysterious as "mooching." These men are in many instances well educated and quite harmless. The professional moocher is rarely one who will rob or stoop to other crimes. He just drifts along picking up enough to buy him skimpy meals and a cot in one of the flop houses. There is a venerable "Crust Thrower"—who pounces upon a planted crust of bread with ravage hunger to excite sympathy—who has been a beggar for 40 years. He is now 70. He has read thebest in literature, knows much about all and has never taken a drink. "Work," he says, "is only for fools."

A newspaper has been trying to find out who is the most popular of New York headwaiters. All have a certain following, but I do not believe they are really popular. Most of their gestures are incited by the hope of reward.

The strangest thing about a headwaiter is the manner in which the public stand in awe of him. They purr to his bows and compliments. If he turns they away, they go back again. And will more than likely tip him on the return visit. That is why the New York headwaiter often tells patrons there are no tables left when as a matter of fact there are.

Up along the Hudson is a glowering mountainside known as Storm King. It is black, gaunt and forbidding. When the wind sweeps about it there is a roaring screech. It is one of the most picturesquely named spots around New York.

TODAY

BY ARTHUR BRISBANE

(The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune).

WALL STREET GAVE AND TOOK

Today "Tom" Lawson, author of "Frenzied Finance," and an active figure in much frenzied finance of his own, will be buried close to the magnificent estate that he once owned. Wall street gave it to him. And Wall street took it away from him.

When he was 16 he made $40,000 in Wall street. In 20 years of Wall street life he made $40,000,000 and Wall street took it all back.

The old croupier at Monte Carlo's gambling house said to this writer long ago: "We don't have to worry about profits. While they have money the strangers stay and gamble or spend it in our hotels. When they haven't any more money they go. The money stays with us."

So with wall street, if you gamble.

THE PROPHET CHEERS UP

The unfortunate prophet of doom is feeling better, although the world didn't end when he said it would.

He has excuses. Flashlights of photographers interfered with the Divine powers. That seems strange when you consider the number of flashing lights existing in this universe.

Best of all, Reidt, who sold his potatoes, his Ford car and little hut, thinking he wouldn't need them any more, need shed no tears. The notoriety the newspapers have given him will enable him to buy a bigger house, a bigger car and fill his cellar with potatoes. There is nothing like advertising.

THE PLACE FOR BIG DOGS

It is reported and denied that Balto, magnificent Siberial wolfhound, leader in the dog team that arried the anti-toxin to Nome, is dead. Some of the dogs had their lungs frozen. All the blood in their bodies could not sufficiently heat the air that entered the lungs.

Dead or alive, Balto is a magnificent specimen, and dragging a sled in Alaska is exactly the world for him.

But the heroism of that particular dog is no excuse for the stupidity that keeps wolfhounds, dangerous sometimes to their owners, and nearly always dangerous to others, in crowded cities.

When a man's wolfhound, police dog, or other huge animal, bites a child, the punishment should be the same as if the owner of the dog had been guilty of criminal assault.

RUSSIA IS SO UNCOURTLY

You notice that some of our biggest and most prosperous "best minds" have always been bitter toward the government of Russia.

They don't want Russia recognized by this nation. They want every little child in the cradle to be taught to shudder when the word "soviet" is spoken.

Our "leading minds" are intelligent. They know what is good for them and what isn't.

Yesterday's news from Russia told of seven men who had been sentenced to death, merely for grafting, on an extensive scale at the expense of the public, and theacherously selling out their government.

A nation doing that sort of thing, of course, doesn't please certain "leading minds" in America. For instance, those that engineered the water of the naval oil supplies. And it does not please those that would deprive the United States of adequate air defense, because some steel men and the oil men want the profits from big battleships.

Secretary Weeks seems to discover in the demand for an adequate air force some reflection on General Pershing or other able generals. That is imaginary. To say that a family needs an automobile is not to reflect upon the old family coachman. He was a good coachman, all honor to him. But the coachman is out of date. What you want now is a good chauffeur. And to hire one is no insult to the good old coachman.

Battleships and regiments of soldiers, crawling like ants over the ground, are out of date. What the nation wants is fighting air machines.

Peter Garretson, of Paterson, celebrated his ninetieth birthday on Sunday Sixty years ago the life insurance people didn't want to insure him. He was "a poor risk." And the insurance people told him so.

Thereupon Mr. Garretson did more thinking and less eating, gave up the insurance idea and lived to be 90.

As Senator Copeland, who is also a doctor, says: "Half of what you eat keeps you alive, the other half keeps doctors alive." The figures might be changed thusly: Forty per cent of what you eat keeps you alive, 50 per cent keeps the doctor alive and 10 per cent keeps the undertaker going.

Fashion can do what other things can't do. For instance, the fashion in short skirts has made fashionable restaurants and night dancing resorts in London cut down the height of tables and chairs. It is impossible for women with skirts up to their knees to sit gracefully, not to say modestly, at the regulation high table. So the legs are cut off.

WHO'S WHO

HERBERT HENRY ASQUITH.

The recent announcement that Herbert H. Asquith, ex-premier of Great Britain, had accepted the honor of an earldom offered by King George at the suggestion of Prime Minister Baldwin, is generally regarded as signalling the end of a great political career. He is 73 years old and his life reads like fiction.

HERBERT ASQUITH

Born of manufacturing, nonconformist stock, the great schools of England were above the social or educational ambitions of the family and young Asquith was sent to the city of London school. There he won a scholarship to Balaiol. At Oxford Asquith swept the board clean of scholastic prizes and left a memory of being a thoroughly pleasant man, normal in all things except in the sweep of his mind. It was as a lawyer that he first acclaimed public notice.

He was admitted to the bar in 1876, when he was 24 years old. He served as secretary of state for the home department from 1892 to 1895. For the three years following he was chancellor of the exchequer. In 1914 he became secretary of state for war. He had a seat in parliament from 1886 to 1918 and was prime minister and first lord of the treasury from 1908 to 1916.

Asquith has been married twice, his present wife being the famous Margaret Tennant Asquith, who has written her "Memoirs" and other books which have amused and angered so many celebrities.

If face paint could be used as a cure for rheumatism, we'll bet a cookie that a good many paragraphers would quit saying anything about it on the girl's face.—Newark (O.) American-Tribune.

How to Solve Puzzle.

The best way to solve this cross-word puzzle is to run over the list of horizontal and vertical synonyms in search of evident or "easy" words. If horizontal, the word you are looking for must extend crosswise from the number to the first shaded stop on the right; if vertical, it must extend downward from the number to the first shaded stop below. When finished, the words should read equally well crosswise and downward.

Earle's Hypo-Cod Will Develop Strong, Healthy Children. A Pleasant-tasting Cod Liver Oil Health Builder.

Weak, thin, puny boys and girls have the necessary qualities in their systems to become strong and healthy children. Nothing will bring them out quicker and with more positive results than good old-fashioned Cod Liver Oil. Earle's Hypo-Cod is loaded with this terrible-tasting, ugly smelling oil in tasteless form. It's a rich honey-like tonic that the smallest children take as quickly as they would a glass of orange juice.

In addition to thousands of Cod Liver Oil vitamines, every dose of Earle's Hypo-Cod has the proper blood enrichers and system builders to give poor, skinny kiddies an appetite for good wholesome food and to put life and vigor into their little frail bodies. It can be had at all good drug stores in liquid or tablet form at $1.00 per bottle. How to Solve Puzzle.

The best way to solve this cross-word puzzle is to run over the list of horizontal and vertical synonyms in search of evident or "easy" words. If horizontal, the word you are looking for must extend crosswise from the number to the first shaded stop on the right; if vertical, it must extend downward from the number to the first shaded stop below. When finished, the words should read equally well crosswise and downward.

TO DEVELOP STURDY BOYS

Earle's Hypo-Cod Will Develop Strong, Healthy Children. A Pleasant-tasting Cod Liver Oil Health Builder.

Weak, thin, puny boys and girls have the necessary qualities in their systems to become strong and healthy children. Nothing will bring them out quicker and with more positive results than good old-fashioned Cod Liver Oil. Earle's Hypo-Cod is loaded with this terrible-tasting, ugly smelling oil in tasteless form. It's a rich honey-like tonic that the smallest children take as quickly as they would a glass of orange juice.

In addition to thousands of Cod Liver Oil vitamines, every dose of Earle's Hypo-Cod has the proper blood enrichers and system builders to give poor, skinny kiddies an appetite for good wholesome food and to put life and vigor into their little frail bodies. It can be had at all good drug stores in liquid or tablet form at $1.00 per bottle. Heartily recommended in East Liverpool by Mathews Cut Rate, Economy Drug Store, Bulger's Pharmacy, Gamble's Drug Store, McCutcheon's Pharmacy and Huff's Drug Store in Chester.

Would-be travelers gradually are realizing that such trips are economical and that better weather generally can be relied upon in the Mediterranean and also in Scandinavia than has been experienced this year in England.

POEMS THAT LIVE

Music, When Soft Voices Die.

Music, when soft voices die,
Vibrates in the memory—
Odors, when sweet violets sicken,
Live within the sense they quicken.

Rose-leaves, when the rose is dead,
Are heaped for the beloved's bed;
And so thy thought, when thou art gone,
Love itself shall slumber on.

KNOCKS 'EM OUT QUICK

Toughest of Old Hang On Coughs Go

Why send a boy to do a man's work? Sweet, sugary cough syrups may help a simple cough, but when you are traveling along towards the cemetery with a stubborn tight old cough that lingers on and on with the most persistent devilishness then you need a real cough medicine—and the realest destroyer of tough old coughs is Bronchuline Emulsion.

The cough may be so tantalizing that you can't sleep nights and your days may be filled with racking torture, yet that's just the kind of a cough that Bronchuline likes to tackle and conquer.

Many times a few doses will stop the hacking and loosen things up and you can depend upon half a bottle to make a two months' old cough quit cold and disappear.

Life is sweet—it will be much sweeter when you get rid of that old time cough.

Ask Jesse D. Holloway, Carnahan's Drug Stores, East Liverpool and Newell, W. Va., or any wide awake druggist for a bottle of Bronchuline Emulsion. There's no dope in it—or chloroform, and a couple of teaspoonfuls will usually end any ordinary cough.

Latest Photos From Floyd Collins' "Living Tomb"

Above: Kentucky state guardsmen keeping sightseers from the entrance to the cave. Below: Al Maddox, who is seriously ill with pneumonia as a result of his heroic efforts to rescue Collins; "Skeets" Miller, newspaper reporter, who has repeatedly dared death in attempts to save the entombed man, and who succeeded in getting the first story of the mishap from the victim; and Dr. W. H. Howlett, who was brought from Chicago to go into the cave and operate on Collins. The plan was frustrated by the slide which blocked the passage. The map shows the situation graphically. 1—Collins lies trapped here indirectly connected with the world by an electric light wire. 2—The floor of the cave has risen between him and his rescuers, blocking all hope of getting him out by a natural passage. 3—The rescuers now are drilling a shaft down to where the prisoner lies. There is danger of the whole cave collapsing or of workers breaking through into some unknown cave and falling many feet. 4—Aided by the most modern machinery, the rescuers are digging the shaft and have it down more than 18 feet.

Pigeon Reveals Mail Cache

Two boys at play in Montgomery, Ala., saw a wounded pigeon fluttering to refuge and followed it, with the result they discovered a lair used in a mail robbery scheme. Packages of letters of insurance and banking importance, were found. Many of the letters have been robbed of the checks. The pigeon had, after fluttering from the air, limped into a sewerage inlet and the two boys, William Avinger and Marion Threasher, boy scouts, removed the heavy iron manhole lid to pursue the bird and give it aid. The mail was hidden under the iron covering.

How to Make Pine Cough Syrup at Home

Has no equal for prompt results. Takes but a moment to prepare, and saves you about $2.

You know that pine is used in nearly all prescriptions and remedies for coughs. The reason is that pine contains several peculiar elements that have a remarkable effect in soothing and healing the membranes of the throat and chest. Pine is famous for this purpose.

Pine cough syrups are combinations of pine and syrup. The "syrup" part is usually plain sugar syrup.

To make the best pine cough remedy that money can buy, put 2½ ounces of Pinex in a pint bottle, and fill up with home-made sugar syrup. Or you can use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, you make a full pint—more than you can buy ready-made for three times the money. It is pure, good and very pleasant—children take it eagerly.

You can feel this take hold of a cough or cold in a way that means business. The cough may be dry, hoarse and tight, or may be persistently loose from the formation of phlegm. The cause is the same—inflamed membranes—and the Pinex and Syrup combination will stop it—usually in 24 hours or less. Splendid too, for bronchial asthma, hoarseness or any ordinary throat ailment.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract and is famous the world over for its prompt effect upon coughs.

Beware of substitutes. Ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Bread—for Stuffing Roasts or Fowls

BETSY ROSS bread not only makes deliciously appetizing dressing for roast meat or fowl, but adds greatly to the food-value of these dishes.

Because it is high in carbohydrates BETSY ROSS adds much to the energy value of such dishes as roast veal, lamb, chicken and turkey, also improving their protein content.

Whenever you think of bread think of BETSY ROSS, for all bread is not the same, and to be sure of the food-value it is wise to specify when ordering. Remember, "There's a difference in bread," and don't just say "bread"—say BETSY ROSS.

Why send a boy to do a man's work? Sweet, sugary cough syrups may help a simple cough, but when you are traveling along towards the cemetery with a stubborn tight old cough that lingers on and on with the most persistent devilishness then you need a real cough medicine—and the realest destroyer of tough old coughs is Bronchuline Emulsion.

The cough may be so tantalizing that you can't sleep nights and your days may be filled with racking torture, yet that's just the kind of a cough that Bronchuline likes to tackle and conquer.

Many times a few doses will stop the hacking and loosen things up and you can depend upon half a bottle to make a two months' old cough quit cold and disappear.

Life is sweet—it will be much sweeter when you get rid of that old time cough.

Ask Jesse D. Holloway, Carnahan's Drug Stores, East Liverpool and Newell, W. Va., or any wide awake druggist for a bottle of Bronchuline Emulsion. There's no dope in it—or chloroform, and a couple of teaspoonfuls will usually end any ordinary cough.

Latest Photos From Floyd Collins' "Living Tomb"

Above: Kentucky state guardsmen keeping sightseers from the entrance to the cave. Below: Al Maddox, who is seriously ill with pneumonia as a result of his heroic efforts to rescue Collins; "Skeets" Miller, newspaper reporter, who has repeatedly dared death in attempts to save the entombed man, and who succeeded in getting the first story of the mishap from the victim; and Dr. W. H. Howlett, who was brought from Chicago to go into the cave and operate on Collins. The plan was frustrated by the slide which blocked the passage. The map shows the situation graphically. 1—Collins lies trapped here indirectly connected with the world by an electric light wire. 2—The floor of the cave has risen between him and his rescuers, blocking all hope of getting him out by a natural passage. 3—The rescuers now are drilling a shaft down to where the prisoner lies. There is danger of the whole cave collapsing or of workers breaking through into some unknown cave and falling many feet. 4—Aided by the most modern machinery, the rescuers are digging the shaft and have it down more than 18 feet.

Pigeon Reveals Mail Cache

Two boys at play in Montgomery, Ala., saw a wounded pigeon fluttering to refuge and followed it, with the result they discovered a lair used in a mail robbery scheme. Packages of letters of insurance and banking importance, were found. Many of the letters have been robbed of the checks. The pigeon had, after flutter-ing from the air, limped into a sewerage inlet and the two boys, William Avinger and Marion Threasher, boy scouts, removed the heavy iron manhole lid to pursue the bird and give it aid. The mail was hidden under the iron covering.

How to Make Pine Cough Syrup at Home

Has no equal for prompt results. Takes but a moment to prepare, and saves you about $2.

You know that pine is used in nearly all prescriptions and remedies for coughs. The reason is that pine contains several peculiar elements that have a remarkable effect in soothing and healing the membranes of the throat and chest. Pine is famous for this purpose.

Pine cough syrups are combinations of pine and syrup. The "syrup" part is usually plain sugar syrup.

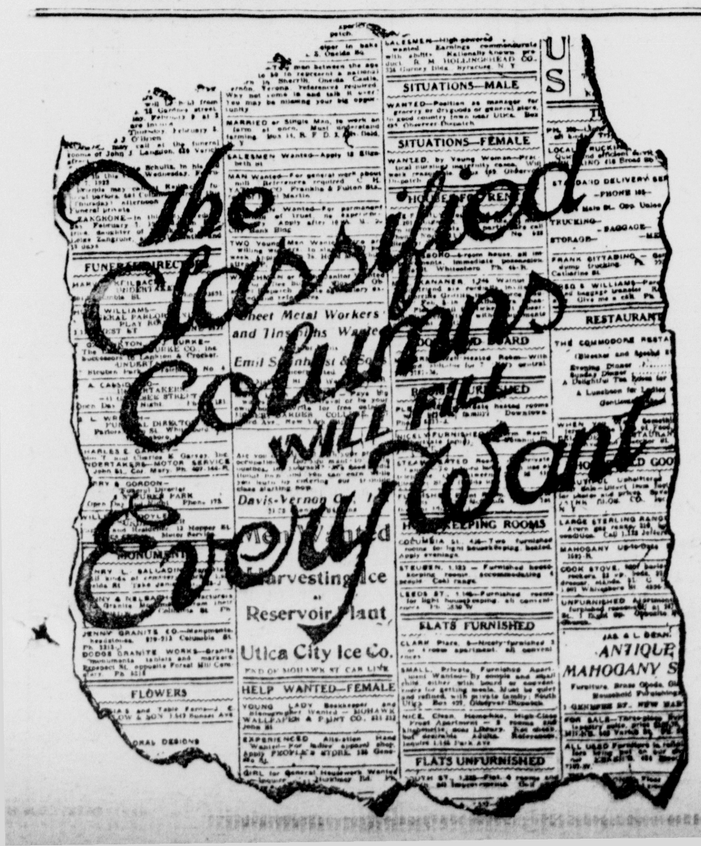

To make the best pine cough remedy that money can buy, put 2½ ounces of Pinex in a pint bottle, and fill up with home-made sugar syrup. Or you can use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, you make a full pint—more than you can buy ready-made for three times the money. It is pure, good and very pleasant—children take it eagerly.

You can feel this take hold of a cough or cold in a way that means business. The cough may be dry, hoarse and tight, or may be persistently loose from the formation of phlegm. The cause is the same—inflamed membranes—and the Pinex and Syrup combination will stop it—usually in 24 hours or less. Splendid too, for bronchial asthma, hoarseness or any ordinary throat ailment.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and is famous the world over for its prompt effect upon coughs.

Beware of substitutes. Ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Bread—for Stuffing Roasts or Fowls

BETSY ROSS bread not only makes deliciously appetizing dressing for roast meat or fowl, but adds greatly to the food-value of these dishes.

Because it is high in carbohydrates BETSY ROSS adds much to the energy value of such dishes as roast veal, lamb, chicken and turkey, also improving their protein content.

Whenever you think of bread think of BETSY ROSS, for all bread is not the same, and to be sure of the food-value it is wise to specify when ordering. Remember, "There's a difference in bread," and don't just say "bread"—say BETSY ROSS.

THE DOUBLE HOUSE

Dascome compared them swiftly. Then he sat down, took a magnifying glass from the table drawer and carefully examined the two writings, letter by letter. Karesia saw him pale, grow grayer and grayer, the color leaving even his lips. Yet he kept on steadily, his head bent over his work, his hand steady; his self-control was marvellous—he was not merely observing, he was thinking. When he had finished, he spoke like a legal examiner convinced.

"I know her writing well—I think there is no doubt of it. There must have been more than one man implicated in that crime. They kidnapped her for the money they thought they would get out of it, then found they couldn't carry it through and, to save themselves from discovery, decided to fix the crime on me, send me to the chair for murder—finish me. It's in entirely new aspect."

He laid the lens down, stood up and turned. He was as gray as the stucco walls of the room, his gray eyes with pupils contracted looked curiously light and opaque. "I went through hell because of her—once before," he said with steady emphasis. "What good will it do her, my going through hell again? Who would dream that you would make the discovery? We are the only ones who——"

Karesia's answer was a cry, "I tried to think so! John, I couldn't! You couldn't!"

Suddenly he almost broke: "But—Karesia—I can't give you up!" The muscles of his face twitched, his eyelids reddened, pricked by tears. Then, abruptly, he jerked himself about, stood back to her, and Karesia saw him lay hold on self-control; his hands dropped to his sides, his shoulders squared. She saw his whole body stiffen and straighten. In the silence, Karesia heard his breath drawn even and deep, even and deep, like one in heavy sleep. "He is stronger and braver than I," Karesia said to herself. "He has decided—it took me all night to decide."

She stood and watched him. Dascome had begun to walk the floor, apparently oblivious of her, his hands gripped behind his back, head bent, absorbed in profound thought. The sun looking in now through the high windows turned his fair hair yellow, golden, like a child's, strange contrast to his lined gray face. He walked the length of the long room, back and forth, many times; the place was perfectly silent save for his steady, even stride.

Karesia felt removed an immense distance from him; it seemed unbelievable that his arms had held her, his lips caressed her; that he had told her that he loved her better than aught else on earth; that his thoughts had been hers and her thoughts his. It was a foretaste of the isolation, the thought of which had so terrified her the night before. Was she going to be shut out from even his thoughts?

When, finally, he paused and saw her agonized face, then came and put his hands on her shoulders, it was like heaven opening to receive her; he looked so much more like himself—gray still, but with love in his eyes. "I had to think it out, dear—the best course. This discovery changes—everything." His arms were about her now and he kissed her many times. "My love—my own love! She's my wife still. It's hard—God knows!"

"I knew last night that you would say that. You're a good man, John. I'm little and weak compared to you. Last night I nearly burned those things. I said, 'No one but yourself will know.' Then I couldn't. It was despicable! I was going to commit a crime, then live a lie for ever after. But you think more clearly, then do what is right—no matter what it costs. I love you for it—I shall always love you. Nobody can take that away from me—my worship of you!"

Dascome caught his breath sharply. "Don't, Karesia! You can't tell me anything about temptation that I don't know. I ought not to have let you love me—my life has been one long temptation. Only a few minutes ago, I'd have tempted you, if I could. I do think quickly and I understand character—I saw it in your face, that I could no more tempt you than I could move the earth. And there is so much for which I should ask your forgiveness—but not now. I want to keep your love—as it is now—as long as I can. There are things that must be done now, at once, but the long grind begins, the hopeless days and the fearful nights, like some I have known—I don't know then how it will be. The great, staring public eye focussed on me again! In my misery I shall want the touch of you, the comfort of you, worse than a starving man ever wanted food——"

He turned away abruptly and looked down at his wife's photograph. "Poor Elaine! And they did that to you! Well, I haven't forgotten my purpose!" He flung back his head. "So help me God! they shall pay for what they have done to you and me! The public eye—let it stare!"

Karesia felt that she had not fully realized. "It will have to be made public, John?"

"Yes."

"But it will clear away all doubt—you will be not simply acquitted, you will be vindicated."

Dascome was looking down at the photograph, his brows drawn. "Perhaps," he said evenly.

"Oh, John!" Karesia said in utter distress. "That is the one thing that has comforted me! What do you mean?"

Dascome whirled about. "Don't, Karesia! Don't agonize like that! There will be no doubt—when I have finished this thing. Time—that is what I must have, time. . . . Listen, dear—first I must establish my right to care for her—do it quietly, without publicity. Secrecy is absolutely necessary. No one must know of this until I am ready to make it public—that's imperative!"

"Will you tell Clarice, dear?"

A flash of expression crossed his face. "Yes."

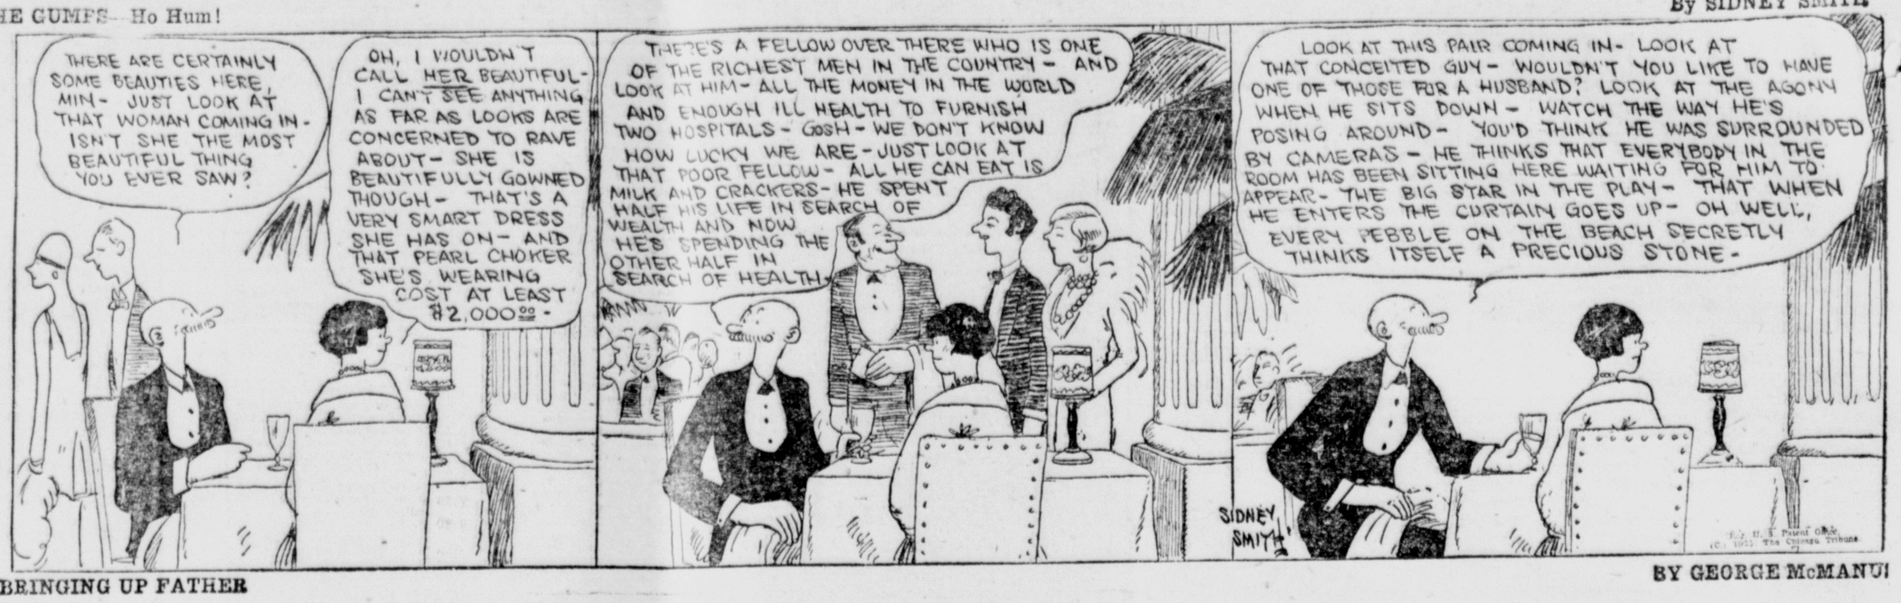

"And do you want—Elaine to stay with me for a time? I want to do everything I can for her, John. I will do it so gladly."

"You have a big heart, Karesia," Dascome said less steadily. "No, I don't know yet just how it can be managed, but I must take her away at once—as soon as I can make arrangements. She must go to a hospital and under the name of Mary Bliss. They must see what can be done for her."

FEAR OF INDIAN REVOLT PROMPTED LONDON TO REFUSE U. S. OPIUM DEMAND

Great Britain Seems to Prefer Criticism From America Rather Than Risk Trouble With Her Subjects.

LONDON, Feb.—India presents a continual problem to the British Empire, a problem that requires delicate handling. Therein lies one of the reasons for the attitude of the British delegate upon the American demands at the recent Opium Conference in Geneva.

Great Britain seems to prefer criticism from the United States upon her opium policy rather than to risk actual trouble with her Indian subjects by endorsing a too drastic anti-opium program.

This opium affair has not strengthened Anglo-American friendship. On the contrary, it has led to some small display of bitterness to both sides. There seems to be a lack of full understanding.

Has No Regrets.

Many sound British thinkers endorse the British attitude, and their views are interesting.

Lord Sydennam, once Governor of Bombay, knows India well and discussed the Opium Conference at Geneva, and its possible effects upon the British relations with India, at some length in an interview with the International News Service.

"Britain has nothing wherewith to reproach herself regarding her opium policy," said Lord Sydenham.

"The position at Geneva certainly showed the danger of the League of Nations and of dealing with the sort of tribunals established under its auspices. It seems as if Great Britain was placed on trial before a court where two sentimental anti-opium extremists, personified by Representative Porter and Bishop Brent, acted as accusers. The majority of the rest of those present had no interest in opium at all, but they were entitled to vote against Britain.

"Under The Hague Convention, Great Britain promised to stop the exportation of opium. That promise was faithfully carried out. There is no export from India now, although an infinitesimal quantity of opium may be smuggled out.

"It cannot be too clearly stated that the entire world's export of opium comes from China and Persia. If opium goes to the United States, it is these countries with which America must deal. As far as the British Empire is concerned there is no exportation in the ordinary sense of the word.

"With regard to India, the petition is this: For 2,000 years the natives have been in the habit of taking opium internally in the shape of pills, and it is practically impossible to end the habit. It is true our revenue officers might prevent the cultivation to some extent, but it must be remembered that opium also grows wild in the native states, and it is almost impossible to interfere.

Eaten In India.

"Opium is eaten in India by the most virile tribes of the population, like the Sikhs and the Rajputs, men who do the hardest kinds of work. It is most probable that they would be unable to work without it. The injurious effects upon them are negligible.

"In military expeditions in India we often had to serve out opium as a daily ration.

"It must be remembered, also, that if opium is suppressed there are many far worse hemp products, especially bhang, one of the most degenerating drugs known. If opium growing were prevented in India, the natives might fly to these substitutes.

"The British case is this: It is impossible to stop opium growing in India, but Britain has prevented its exportation. America should deal with the countries actually exporting opium, not with us."

Because of a dispute of waterside workers in Australia, business conditions there were upset and the Christmas preparations greatly suffered in consequence.

Laughing In His Sleeve

"I was told nothing but an operation would help my stomach trouble, and was getting ready for the operation when a friend advised me to try Mayr's Wonderful Remedy. The first dose helped me, I am now as well as ever in my life, and am laughing up my sleeve at the doctors." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded.

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Chronic coughs and persistent colds lead to serious lung trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with twofold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and kills the germ.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by the medical fraternity as the greatest healing agency for the treatment of chronic coughs and colds and other forms of throat and lung troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and destroys the germs that lead to consumption.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chronic coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, catarrhal bronchitis and other forms of throat and lung diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or the flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Co., Atlanta, Ga. (Adv.)

British Columbia Mines Make Record For 1924 Production

VANCOUVER, B. C., Feb.—Mines of British Columbia broke all records for production in 1924, according to a report issued by the Hon. William Sloan, minister of mines.

The mineral output for the year, Mr. Sloan said, will total more than $45,000,000 in value, an increase of nearly 10 per cent over the 1923 figures, or $3,811,965. Increases in the production of metalliferous mines in the province was one of the features of mining activity during the year. Production from the metal mines was valued at $23,310,600, compared with $26,767,062 the previous year.

MANY THOUSANDS ARE LOST DAILY BY CARELESSNESS

Steel Mill Worker of Sharon, Pa., Really Earned a Large Sum in a Very Short While —Ka-di-ok Aided Him.

EDWARD PINCH

There are many ways to earn money other than by the sweat of the brow, and one of these is to value good health in monied terms, and just at this juncture "good health" becomes an asset. At least, this is the way Mr. Edward Pinch, a steel worker at the American Steel Wire Company's mills at Sharon, Pa., figures it out. Mr. Pinch, who has reached his 60th milestone in life, lives at 470 Hull street, and has been a resident of Sharon for 40 years.

Rheumatism was the bane of his life. He would have sold his ailment at any time, in fact, would have given it away with a bonus attached if some one had made the offer. He suffered excruciating pain, and at times his arms and shoulders became so painful he could only raise his hands and arms through force. He describes the pain as "terrible."

He read in the daily papers about Ka-di-ok, that wonderful herbal tonic laxative and system toner, and of the wonderful results others were receiving by its use. He decided to try it himself. He did. Result, read what he said to the Ka-di-ok representative after he had taken four bottles of Ka-di-ok:

"There is no tongue can tell the good I have received from the use of Ka-di-ok. It's worth a thousand dollars to me every day. It's a wonder. I have doctored for a long time and never received benefit. From the first Ka-di-ok helped me. I am a well man today."

How many are there who value health above wealth? Many do, but others are prone to neglect body pains and alarms which indicate broken down machinery somewhere in the human system. Ka-di-ok is recommended for the numerous stomach ailments such as indigestion, gas, flatulency, heart pains, constipation, etc. Better heed the danger signals and get a bottle today, before it is too late.

KA-DI-OK IS SOLD and recommended in East Liverpool by Mathews' Cut Rate Medicine Store, 129 W. Sixth Street.

The Madness of Youth

When he left his childhood sweetheart in the little town where they were born, and went to the city to embark on a "career," he began counting the days when he could return and make her his wife. But he knew little of the lure of the great city, with all its follies and gaieties, to turn his head and blot his childhood sweetheart from his memory.

The experience of this young man in the city is an all too common one—but it serves to prove that love is a holy and sacred thing, and that he who yields to the voice of the tempter simply invites disillusionment, defeat and tragedy. Don't miss this vividly dramatic true life story, "The Sinner and the Code," in True Story Magazine for March. Now on sale.

NEWS NOTES FROM MOVIELAND

By DAISY DEAN

This is to introduce Kathleen, Myers, only blonde comedienne on the Christy lot. She certainly isn't hard to look at, is she? While she adds to the joy and daughter of life in the two-reelers with Larry Semon and at present as leading lady to Jimmie Adams, she takes an occasional flier into more dramatic roles.

For instance, she played opposite Tom Mim in his recently released costume picture, "Dick Turpin." And Kathleen looks mighty sweet in the frills and fureblows of this early English story. She has also appeared with big, handsome Rawlinson. She has been in pictures for about four years.

Kathleen's home town is "little old

Noo Yawk," and she admits a weakness for the game of pinochle and for Pomeranian dogs.

Rudolph Valentino is to make "The Scarlet Power" when he has finished "Cobra," on which he is now working. Since starting the production of his own pictures Rudy is said to be working very hard. He arises at 5 a. m., gets to the studio at six and puts in an hour on horseback even though it it still dark. Mario Crillo, a former Italian cavalry officer, is putting Valentino through his paces in anticipation of some fencing scenes on horseback for "The Secret Power."

The featured players in "Contrabrand," an adaptation from a Clarence Buddington Kelland Saturday Evening Post story, are Lois Wilson, Noah Beery, Lillian Leighton, Raymond Hatton, Raymond McKee, Charles Ogle and Luke Cosgrove. Alan Closland directs this Paramount production. Charles Ogle and Lillian Leighton are doing their bit as screen husband and wife for the 23rd time in this film.

Flora Finch, the famous comedienne who was starred with John Bunny in the early days of screen comedies, has an important part in "Man and Women," a Paramount film directed by William DeMille. Miss Finch is to play the part of Cousin Kate, the newly rich cousin from Kansas who visits New York. She wears fashionable clothes of the flapper variety and we predict "a scream." Richard Dix, Claire Adams, Neil Hamilton and Kathlee Myers, Robert Edeson are featured in this photoplay.

Lon Chaney, Mae Busch and Matt Moore have the leading roles in "The Unholy Three," a Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer film. The "atmosphere" is supplied by Alice Julian who weighs more than 300 pounds, Walter P. Cole, human skeleton; Peter Lance, dancer, a wild man of Borneo, bearded woman, all the "freaks" of the canvas tent.

After playing the feminine lead with House Peters in "Overboard," for Universal, pretty Patsy Ruth Miller will make another "Perfect 36" Universal Jewel. Patsy will be a "female Tarzan" she says, and Norman Kerry will have the job of taming her in "Lorraine of the Lions."

Women's and children's hand-embroidered wear and other articles shipped from Porto Rico to other countries within the last year had a total value of $7,000,000.

FEAR OF INDIAN REVOLT PROMPTED LONDON TO REFUSE U. S. OPIUM DEMAND

Great Britain Seems to Prefer Criticism From America Rather Than Risk Trouble With Her Subjects.

LONDON, Feb.—India presents a continual problem to the British Empire, a problem that requires delicate handling. Therein lies one of the reasons for the attitude of the British delegate upon the American demands at the recent Opium Conference in Geneva.

Great Britain seems to prefer criticism from the United States upon her opium policy rather than to risk actual trouble with her Indian subjects by endorsing a too drastic anti-opium program.

This opium affair has not strengthened Anglo-American friendship. On the contrary, it has led to some small display of bitterness to both sides. There seems to be a lack of full understanding.

Has No Regrets.

Many sound British thinkers endorse the British attitude, and their views are interesting.

Lord Sydennam, once Governor of Bombay, knows India well and discussed the Opium Conference at Geneva, and its possible effects upon the British relations with India, at some length in an interview with the International News Service.

"Britain has nothing wherewith to reproach herself regarding her opium policy," said Lord Sydenham.

"The position at Geneva certainly showed the danger of the League of Nations and of dealing with the sort of tribunals established under its auspices. It seems as if Great Britain was placed on trial before a court where two sentimental anti-opium extremists, personified by Representative Porter and Bishop Brent, acted as accusers. The majority of the rest of those present had no interest in opium at all, but they were entitled to vote against Britain.

"Under The Hague Convention, Great Britain promised to stop the exportation of opium. That promise was faithfully carried out. There is no export from India now, although an infinitesimal quantity of opium may be smuggled out.

"It cannot be too clearly stated that the entire world's export of opium comes from China and Persia. If opium goes to the United States, it is these countries with which America must deal. As far as the British Empire is concerned there is no exportation in the ordinary sense of the word.

"With regard to India, the petition is this: For 2,000 years the natives have been in the habit of taking opium internally in the shape of pills, and it is practically impossible to end the habit. It is true our revenue officers might prevent the cultivation to some extent, but it must be remembered that opium also grows wild in the native states, and it is almost impossible to interfere.

Eaten In India.

"Opium is eaten in India by the most virile tribes of the population, like the Sikhs and the Rajputs, men who do the hardest kinds of work. It is most probable that they would be unable to work without it. The injurious effects upon them are negligible.

"In military expeditions in India we often had to serve out opium as a daily ration.

"It must be remembered, also, that if opium is suppressed there are many far worse hemp products, especially bhang, one of the most degenerating drugs known. If opium growing were prevented in India, the natives might fly to these substitutes.

"The British case is this: It is impossible to stop opium growing in India, but Britain has prevented its exportation. America should deal with the countries actually exporting opium, not with us."

Because of a dispute of waterside workers in Australia, business conditions there were upset and the Christmas preparations greatly suffered in consequence.

Laughing In His Sleeve

"I was told nothing but an operation would help my stomach trouble, and was getting ready for the operation when a friend advised me to try Mayr's Wonderful Remedy. The first dose helped me. I am now as well as ever in my life, and am laughing up my sleeve at the doctors." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded.

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Chronic coughs and persistent colds lead to serious lung trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with twofold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and kills the germ.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by the medical fraternity as the greatest healing agency for the treatment of chronic coughs and colds and other forms of throat and lung troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and destroys the germs that lead to consumption.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chronic coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, catarrhal bronchitis and other forms of throat and lung diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or the flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Co., Atlanta, Ga. (Adv.)

NEWS NOTES FROM MOVIELAND BY DAISY DEAN

This is to introduce Kathleen, Myers, only blonde comedienne on the Christy lot. She certainly isn't hard to look at, is she? While she adds to the joy and daughter of life in the two-reelers with Larry Semon and at present as leading lady to Jimmie Adams, she takes an occasional flier into more dramatic roles.

For instance, she played opposite Tom Mim in his recently released costume picture, "Dick Turpin." And Kathleen looks mighty sweet in the frills and fureblows of this early English story. She has also appeared with big, handsome Rawlinson. She has been in pictures for about four years.

Kathleen's home town is "little old

Noo Yawk," and she admits a weakness for the game of pinochle and for Pomeranian dogs.

Rudolph Valentino is to make "The Scarlet Power" when he has finished "Cobra," on which he is now working. Since starting the production of his own pictures Rudy is said to be working very hard. He arises at 5 a. m., gets to the studio at six and puts in an hour on horseback even though it it still dark. Mario Crillo, a former Italian cavalry officer, is putting Valentino through his paces in anticipation of some fencing scenes on horseback for "The Secret Power."

The featured players in "Contraband," an adaptation from a Clarence Buddington Kelland Saturday Evening Post story, are Lois Wilson, Noah Beery, Lillian Leighton, Raymond Hatton, Raymond McKee, Charles Ogle and Luke Cosgrove. Alan Closland directs this Paramount production. Charles Ogle and Lillian Leighton are doing their bit as screen husband and wife for the 23rd time in this film.

Flora Finch, the famous comedienne who was starred with John Bunny in the early days of screen comedies, has an important part in "Man and Women," a Paramount film directed by William DeMille. Miss Finch is to play the part of Cousin Kate, the newly rich cousin from Kansas who visits New York. She wears fashionable clothes of the flapper variety and we predict "a scream." Richard Dix, Claire Adams, Neil Hamilton and Kathlee Myers, Robert Edeson are featured in this photoplay.

Lon Chaney, Mae Busch and Matt Moore have the leading roles in "The Unholy Three," a Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer film. The "atmosphere" is supplied by Alice Julian who weighs more than 300 pounds, Walter P. Cole, human skeleton; Peter Lance, dancer, a wild man of Borneo, bearded woman, all the "freaks" of the canvas tent.

After playing the feminine lead with House Peters in "Overboard," for Universal, pretty Patsy Ruth Miller will make another "Perfect 36" Universal Jewel. Patsy will be a "female Tarzan" she says, and Norman Kerry will have the job of taming her in "Lorraine of the Lions."

Women's and children's hand-embroidered wear and other articles shipped from Porto Rico to other countries within the last year had a total value of $7,000,000.

The Madness of Youth

When he left his childhood sweetheart in the little town where they were born, and went to the city to embark on a "career," he began counting the days when he could return and make her his wife. But he knew little of the lure of the great city, with all its follies and gaieties, to turn his head and blot his childhood sweetheart from his memory.

The experience of this young man in the city is an all too common one—but it serves to prove that love is a holy and sacred thing, and that he who yields to the voice of the tempter simply invites disillusionment, defeat and tragedy. Don't miss this vividly dramatic true life story, "The Sinner and the Code," in True Story Magazine for March. Now on sale.

British Columbia Mines Make Record For 1924 Production

VANCOUVER, B. C., Feb.—Mines of British Columbia broke all records for production in 1924, according to a report issued by the Hon. William Sloan, minister of mines.

The mineral output for the year, Mr. Sloan said, will total more than $45,000,000 in value, an increase of nearly 10 per cent over the 1923 figures, or $3,811,965. Increases in the production of metalliferous mines in the province was one of the features of mining activity during the year. Production from the metal mines was valued at $23,310,600, compared with $26,767,062 the previous year.

MANY THOUSANDS ARE LOST DAILY BY CARELESSNESS

Steel Mill Worker of Sharon, Pa., Really Earned a Large Sum in a Very Short While —Ka-di-ok Aided Him.

EDWARD PINCH

There are many ways to earn money other than by the sweat of the brow, and one of these is to value good health in monied terms, and just at this juncture "good health" becomes an asset. At least, this is the way Mr. Edward Pinch, a steel worker at the American Steel Wire Company's mills at Sharon, Pa., figures it out. Mr. Pinch, who has reached his 66th milestone in life, lives at 470 Hull street, and has been a resident of Sharon for 40 years.

Rheumatism was the bane of his life. He would have sold his ailment at any time, in fact, would have given it away with a bonus attached if some one had made the offer. He suffered excruciating pain, and at times his arms and shoulders became so painful he could only raise his hands and arms through force. He describes the pain as "terrible."

He read in the daily papers about Ka-di-ok, that wonderful herbal tonic laxative and system toner, and of the wonderful results others were receiving by its use. He decided to try it himself. He did. Result, read what he said to the Ka-di-ok representative after he had taken four bottles of Ka-di-ok:

"There is no tongue can tell the good I have received from the use of Ka-di-ok. It's worth a thousand dollars to me every day. It's a wonder. I have doctored for a long time and never received benefit. From the first Ka-di-ok helped me. I am a well man today."

How many are there who value health above wealth? Many do, but others are prone to neglect body pains and alarms which indicate broken down machinery somewhere in the human system. Ka-di-ok is recommended for the numerous stomach ailments such as indigestion, gas, flatulency, heart pains, constipation, etc. Better heed the danger signals and get a bottle today, before it is too late.

KA-DI-OK IS SOLD and recommended in East Liverpool by Mathews' Cut Rate Medicine Store, 129 W. Sixth Street.

Detrick's Mt. Union Cagers Smash Kenyon Squad's Streak

ALLIANCE, Feb. 11.—In a heart-breaking, nerve shattering contest that was staged in the presence of a record throng of collegiate court fans here last night, Kenyon college basketball team's winning streak in the Ohio conference was broken off by Coach Raymond Detrick's Mount Union passers, last year's conference champs, by the score of 25 to 24.

Up until last night Kenyon had won seven straight contests.

The game was a battle all the way. The Kenyonites held the lead by one point, the count being 15-14 at the end of the first half. The lead exchanged hands several times during the concluding period, but Mount was on top when the pistol barked. The Gambier five bobbled two foul shots in the closing seconds and lost their opportunity to win.

The foul shooting of Captain Lefty Miller of the Mounts was a deciding factor. The rangy center dropped in six during the game. Wilcoxen of Mount and Van Epps of Kenyon, the latter a contender for conference individual scoring leadership, registered four field goals apiece.

The performance of Bromby at guard for the Alliance combine was one of the outstanding features of the game put up by the winners.

Mount Union and Oberlin are the only unbeaten teams in the conference, the Mount men having won six straight games.

The lineup:

Kenyon		Mt. Union
Corey	F	Laber
Stansfield	F	Wilcoxen
Van Epps	C	Miller
Lewis	G	Bromby
Evans	G	Orin

Field goals — Corey 2, Stansfield, Van Epps 4, Evans, Peters, Wilcoxen 4, Miller, Bromby, Orin 2.

Fouls—Corey 3, Stansfield, Van Epps 2, Laber 2, Wilcoxen, Miller 6.

Cobb Hopeful But Not Sure of 1925 Race

Says Young Pitchers Will Cause Other Clubs Trouble.

AUGUSTA, Ga., Feb. 11.—Tyrus Raymond Cobb, manager of the Detroit Tigers, refused to go into ecstacies over the chances of his team in the American League race this year, but does remark that he hoped to give the league considerable run for its money.

Cobb, who won no little renown as a man who would take almost any kind of a chance when he was playing baseball under another man, has developed into a cautious cuss when it comes to talking about pennants.

"I won't predict that the Tigers will win a pennant," he told International News Service, "but I will say that I think the Tigers have a chance," and then added with some of his old-time speed "that is, if we don't run into a lot of injuries."

Ty harked back through the agonies of the last three years, when Tiger teams, seemingly driving along under considerable momentum, paused with a loud thump because of injuries here and there. He referred particularly to the distressing accident which befell Bunny Brief at the fag end of the last campaign, just when Brief was hitting a pinch-slugging stride that was standing out as a fine example to ambitious young men.

"A team may look mighty good when it is going along and it may have a lot of good ball players," Cobb said, "but the fact of the matter is that experience as well as ability must be present when a team is going to win a pennant. Our team is young. True, they are fighters and as game as they come. Just the same, I wouldn't predict too much until they have been seasoned. We'll wait and see what they look like after they get into some real hard action and then it will be time to predict something.

"We have very few new players. Those we have will be given every opportunity to make the grade.

"Much attention is to be given to these young pitchers who served us so well last year. Our pitching staff is no longer to be looked upon with scorn by other clubs."

Cobb revealed that he is looking for someone to understudy his own aging legs.

"I'll be out there playing when the bell rings," he said, "but I don't intend to play through every game every day if I don't feel well up to it. I'm not as young as I used to be, you know. If I feel myself getting tired I'll get on the bench and let someone else have a crack at it."

Spike Rumor That Nurmi Was Dropped

Running Dates Conflicted, Rubien's Secretary Explains.

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—Official denial was made today of a report given publication that Paavo Nurmi, Finnish wonder runner, had been dropped from a special exhibition race on the program of the Metropolitan A. A. U. championship, February 21, owing to what was characterized as "his indifferent running" in recent races. It was explained by Daniel J. Ferris, secretary to Fred Rubien, that Nurmi would not appear at the championships, because he had a previous engagement to run at the Georgetown university games on the same evening.

"When it was discovered that the Georgetown games and the championship conflicted, the latter were moved ahead one night in order to assure Nurmi's appearance," Ferris declared. "It was then discovered that the military authorities planned to use the armory for a set of games on the new date so that the championships were shifted back to their former date and all hope of Nurmi's appearance abandoned. I can not understand how such reports originate."

Columbia Oarsmen Report.

To the Patrons of High School Basket Ball.

The faculty and students in the High School want to assure you of our appreciation of the loyalty and support which you are giving our basket ball. May we, however, call your attention to the fact that at each game we lose the sale of a very considerable number of reserved seats, because those persons for whom they are reserved and held do not find it possible to attend all the games. To avoid this loss, we feel sure that our patrons who have reserved seats will concur in our effort to dispose of as many of these as possible. To this end, beginning Friday evening of this week, and continuing through the remainder of the season, we shall conform strictly to the rule printed on the schedule at the beginning of the season, which says that all reserved seats shall be offered for sale exactly fifteen minutes before the beginning of the boys' game, unless these tickets are paid for by this time.

KEARNS DENIES REPORTS OF OFFERS FOR DEMPSEY BOUTS

Asserts he Has Set no Price for Champion's Appearance; Says Jack's Ready to Take on Gibbon's or Wills.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 11—Jack Dempsey has received no offers for fights in 1925 and Jack Kearns, his manager, has made no price for the heavyweight King's appearance.

This was declared today by Kearns. "Dempsey will fight this summer and he is prepared to take on Gibbons or Wills—or both—or any one in the wide world but there is nothing to this talk that he is already matched or that I have asked $1,000,000 or thereabouts for his services" said Kearns.

"We have no agreement with Tex Rickard or Charles Henderson or anyone. Dempsey is not tied up to anybody and he will accept the first reasonable offer to fight made by any responsible promoter.

"Rickard or Henderson have not made any offers and I have not discussed terms with anyone. I have asked Rickard and others for offers but none has been received to date.

"I will go to New York early in March and take the matter up then, probably first discussing a Gibbons match."

Kearns denied that he had broken with Dempsey.

"Jack and I are just like that," said the be-diamonded manager, holding up fingers, "and we always will be. Jack's marriage will make no difference with his ring work. As soon as his honeymoon days are over, he is going to go right into hard training and will be in shape for a fight anytime this summer."

Koppisch to Try His Hand At Baseball

All-American Grid Man Believes he Will Make Good.

NEW YORK, Feb 11—Walter Koppisch, Columbia's 1924 football captain and greatest athlete, will try his hand at baseball when practice starts this Spring. This is a new departure for Koppisch, but Coach Andy Coakley believes he will make a crack-a-jack showing on the diamond.

"Wally" has shown his ability to run on the football field and in track meets, and his prowess there has well equipped him to beat the ball between bases and to chase out the liners in the field.

Koppisch's honors during his academic years at Columbia have not been confined to football. He was for four years an important mainstay of the track team, and it was this activity mainly that kept him out of baseball. But last June, after college closed, Koppisch signified his desire to compete for a place on the baseball team, and practised batting under Coach Coakley. Coakley was much impressed by his hard slugging and figures that "Wally" ought to make one of the hardest hitters on the Blue and White squad this year.

In his third year as captain of the Columbia eleven, Koppisch won a place in the backfield of Walter Camp's first All-American team. During the same year he tied the world's indoor record for 440 yards on the cinder track. If "Wally" makes good on the diamond he will stand out as one of the greatest all-around stars of all time. Few college athletes ever have achieved varsity letters in three major sports.

Koppisch's baseball aspirations are in accord with the opinion of Christy Mathewson, famous pitcher and now president of the Boston Braves, who believes that great football players, on account of their speed and resourcefulness, can be developed into excellent baseball stars. Frankie Frisch, a former Fordham football star, is a ready example of such a successful metamorphosis.

Glenmores Battle Weaver Passers in Thrilling Contest

The Glenmore and Weaver fives staged a battle royal last night on the Glenmore court, the score being knotted at 20-20 after the end of the regular playing time and half a dozen overtime periods.

The Weaver crew pulled big time strategy on Glenmore at the end of quarters, substituting fresh teams. The clash was replete with thrills and at times a trifle rough.

The lead changed hands a number of times during the tilt, but the score was tied at 15-15 when the allotted period of time ended.

Despite the fact that several extra five-minute periods were tacked on, neither team could pass the 20-mark and they finally decided to let it stay. The Glenmores have invited the Weavers out for another game.

The Weavers lined up with R. McConville and Lundy on forwards; Pollock at center, and H. Kinsey and E. Bailey at guards. The Glenmore lineup included D. Kinsey and Graham at forwards, Foutts on center and R. Kinsey and Rose at guards.

Columbiana School Passers Defeated By Struthers Teams

COLUMBIANA, Feb. 11.—Columbiana high school basketball teams returned home from Struthers with their colors trailing as the result of two defeats by the fast high school teams of that city. The girls lost, 6 to 26, after holding the Struthers second team to six points in the first half, but failed to score a point against the all star team in the last half. The boys did not play near their usual standard. Struthers won, 29 to 16.

It is hoped that Coach McKain will be able to improve the morale of the teams in time for the hard games this week with East Palestine on Wednesday night and West Middlesex on Friday night. Several hundred citizens of the Holy City will journey here Wednesday night for the big game of the season between the natural rivals, as Columbiana will endeavor to get revenge for the boys' defeat and the girls' tie game at East Palestine earlier in the season.

Wills' Challenge, Board Says, Won't Take Precedence

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—That the attitude in official quarters here toward Harry Wills' pretentions as a challenger for the heavyweight title is one of neutral tolerance was indicated today when chairman George E. Brower, of the state athletic commission let it be known that the board would not grant automatically to Willis the first shot, if any, at Jack Dempsey's trick nose. The sepia-tinted young man will have to take his chances along with the rest of the field, Brower intimated.

In so doing he ignored the fact that Wills has had a challenge of two years' standing, filed with the commission and in consequence should be at the head of the line that forms on the left. The board has set a precident by taking this stand in the case of challengers for other championship titles.

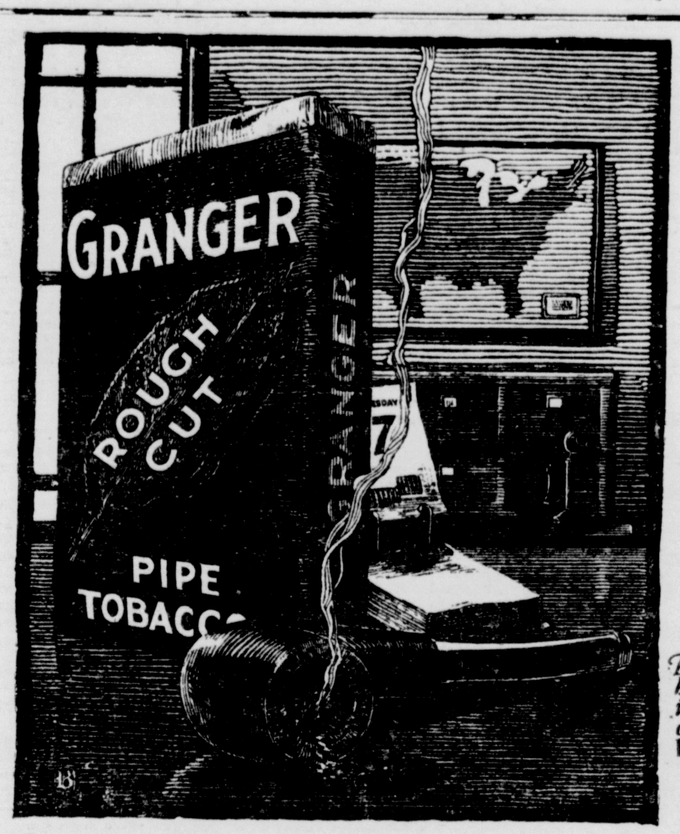

"I have informed Paddy Mullens that Wills' defy will receive the same consideration that we tender those of other challengers", Brower said.

"I can not, however, commit myself in advance about giving Wills preference over other men. He will have to take his chances with the rest."

The chairman would make no statement on the announced plan to bring Dempsey and Gibbons together early next summer with Wills among the innocent bystanders.

He indicated he could not meet the situation by passing judgment on the plan before it was officially presented for the commission's consideration.

Many boxing men, however, were pleased to see in Mullin's visit to the commission the first step in a determined campaign hereabouts to get Dempsey and Wills in one and the same ring before the end of the outdoor season. Whether these behind the project will be insistent that Dempsey grant Wills preference over Gibbons and others remains to be seen.

Detrick's Mt. Union Cagers Smash Kenyon Squad's Streak

ALLIANCE, Feb. 11.—In a heart-breaking, nerve shattering contest that was staged in the presence of a record throng of collegiate court fans here last night, Kenyon college basketball team's winning streak in the Ohio conference was broken off by Coach Raymond Detrick's Mount Union passers, last year's conference champs, by the score of 25 to 24.

Up until last night Kenyon had won seven straight contests.

The game was a battle all the way. The Kenyonites held the lead by one point, the count being 15-14 at the end of the first half. The lead exchanged hands several times during the concluding period, but Mount was on top when the pistol barked. The Gambier five bobbled two foul shots in the closing seconds and lost their opportunity to win.

The foul shooting of Captain Lefty Miller of the Mounts was a deciding factor. The rangy center dropped in six during the game. Wilcoxen of Mount and Van Epps of Kenyon, the latter a contender for conference individual scoring leadership, registered four field goals apiece.

The performance of Bromby at guard for the Alliance combine was one of the outstanding features of the game put up by the winners.

Mount Union and Oberlin are the only unbeaten teams in the conference, the Mount men having won six straight games.

The lineup:

Kenyon		Mt. Union
Corey	F	Laber
Stansfield	F	Wilcoxen
Van Epps	C	Miller
Lewis	G	Bromby
Evans	G	Orin

Field goals — Corey 2, Stansfield, Van Epps 4, Evans, Peters, Wilcoxen 4, Miller, Bromby, Orin 2.

Fouls—Corey 3, Stansfield, Van Epps 2, Laber 2, Wilcoxen, Miller 6.

KEARNS DENIES REPORTS OF OFFERS FOR DEMPSEY BOUTS

Asserts he Has Set no Price for Champion's Appearance; Says Jack's Ready to Take on Gibbon's or Wills.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 11—Jack Dempsey has received no offers for fights in 1925 and Jack Kearns, his manager, has made no price for the heavyweight King's appearance.

This was declared today by Kearns.

"Dempsey will fight this summer and he is prepared to take on Gibbons or Wills—or both—or any one in the wide world but there is nothing to this talk that he is already matched or that I have asked $1,000,000 or thereabouts for his services" said Kearns.

"We have no agreement with Tex Rickard or Charles Henderson or anyone. Dempsey is not tied up to anybody and he will accept the first reasonable offer to fight made by any responsible promoter.

"Rickard or Henderson have not made any offers and I have not discussed terms with anyone. I have asked Rickard and others for offers but none has been received to date.

"I will go to New York early in March and take the matter up then, probably first discussing a Gibbons match."

Kearns denied that he had broken with Dempsey.

"Jack and I are just like that," said the be-diamonded manager, holding up fingers, "and we always will be. Jack's marriage will make no difference with his ring work. As soon as his honeymoon days are over, he is going to go right into hard training and will be in shape for a fight anytime this summer."

Wills' Challenge, Board Says, Won't Take Precedence

Request for Shot at Jack Dempsey's Title Will be Considered Along With Rest of Field, Commission Rules.

Cobb Hopeful But Not Sure of 1925 Race

Says Young Pitchers Will Cause Other Clubs Trouble.

AUGUSTA, Ga., Feb. 11.—Tyrus Raymond Cobb, manager of the Detroit Tigers, refused to go into ecstacies over the chances of his team in the American League race this year, but does remark that he hoped to give the league considerable run for its money.

Cobb, who won no little renown as a man who would take almost any kind of a chance when he was playing baseball under another man, has developed into a cautious cuss when it comes to talking about pennants.

"I won't predict that the Tigers will win a pennant," he told International News Service, "but I will say that I think the Tigers have a chance," and then added with some of his old-time speed "that is, if we don't run into a lot of injuries."

Ty harked back through the agonies of the last three years, when Tiger teams, seemingly driving along under considerable momentum, paused with a loud thump because of injuries here and there. He referred particularly to the distressing accident which befell Bunny Brief at the fag end of the last campaign, just when Brief was hitting a pinch-slugging stride that was standing out as a fine example to ambitious young men.

"A team may look mighty good when it is going along and it may have a lot of good ball players," Cobb said, "but the fact of the matter is that experience as well as ability must be present when a team is going to win a pennant. Our team is young. True, they are fighters and as game as they come. Just the same, I wouldn't predict too much until they have been seasoned. We'll wait and see what they look like after they get into some real hard action and then it will be time to predict something.

"We have very few new players. Those we have will be given every opportunity to make the grade.

"Much attention is to be given to these young pitchers who served us so well last year. Our pitching staff is no longer to be looked upon with scorn by other clubs."

Cobb revealed that he is looking for someone to understudy his own aging legs.

"I'll be out there playing when the bell rings," he said, "but I don't intend to play through every game every day if I don't feel well up to it. I'm not as young as I used to be, you know. If I feel myself getting tired I'll get on the bench and let someone else have a crack at it."

Spike Rumor That Nurmi Was Dropped

Running Dates Conflicted, Rubien's Secretary Explains.

NEW YORK, Feb. 11—Official denial was made today of a report given publication that Paavo Nurmi, Finnish wonder runner, had been dropped from a special exhibition race on the program of the Metropolitan A. A. U. championship, February 21, owing to what was characterized as "his indifferent running" in recent races. It was explained by Daniel J. Ferris, secretary to Fred Rubien, that Nurmi would not appear at the championships, because he had a previous engagement to run at the Georgetown university games on the same evening.

"When it was discovered that the Georgetown games and the championship conflicted, the latter were moved ahead one night in order to assure Nurmi's appearance," Ferris declared. "It was then discovered that the military authorities planned to use the armory for a set of games on the new date so that the championships were shifted back to their former date and all hope of Nurmi's appearance abandoned. I can not understand how such reports originate."

Columbia Oarsmen Report.

To the Patrons of High School Basket Ball.

The faculty and students in the High School want to assure you of our appreciation of the loyalty and support which you are giving our basket ball. May we, however, call your attention to the fact that at each game we lose the sale of a very considerable number of reserved seats, because those persons for whom they are reserved and held do not find it possible to attend all the games. To avoid this loss, we feel sure that our patrons who have reserved seats will concur in our effort to dispose of as many of these as possible. To this end, beginning Friday evening of this week, and continuing through the remainder of the season, we shall conform strictly to the rule printed on the schedule at the beginning of the season, which says that all reserved seats shall be offered for sale exactly fifteen minutes before the beginning of the boys' game, unless these tickets are paid for by this time.

Koppisch to Try His Hand At Baseball

All-American Grid Man Believes he Will Make Good.

NEW YORK, Feb 11—Walter Koppisch, Columbia's 1924 football captain and greatest athlete, will try his hand at baseball when practice starts this Spring. This is a new departure for Koppisch, but Coach Andy Coakley believes he will make a crack-a-jack showing on the diamond.

"Wally" has shown his ability to run on the football field and in track meets, and his prowess there has well equipped him to beat the ball between bases and to chase out the liners in the field.

Koppisch's honors during his academic years at Columbia have not been confined to football. He was for four years an important mainstay of the track team, and it was this activity mainly that kept him out of baseball. But last June, after college closed, Koppisch signified his desire to compete for a place on the baseball team, and practised batting under Coach Coakley. Coakley was much impressed by his hard slugging and figures that "Wally" ought to make one of the hardest hitters on the Blue and White squad this year.

In his third year as captain of the Columbia eleven, Koppisch won a place in the backfield of Walter Camp's first All-American team. During the same year he tied the world's indoor record for 440 yards on the cinder track. If "Wally" makes good on the diamond he will stand out as one of the greatest all-around stars of all time. Few college athletes ever have achieved varsity letters in three major sports.

Koppisch's baseball aspirations are in accord with the opinion of Christy Mathewson, famous pitcher and now president of the Boston Braves, who believes that great football players, on account of their speed and resourcefulness, can be developed into excellent baseball stars. Frankie Frisch, a former Fordham football star, is a ready example of such a successful metamorphosis.

Columbiana School Passers Defeated By Struthers Teams

COLUMBIANA, Feb. 11.—Columbiana high school basketball teams returned home from Struthers with their colors trailing as the result of two defeats by the fast high school teams of that city. The girls lost, 6 to 26, after holding the Struthers second team to six points in the first half, but failed to score a point against the all star team in the last half. The boys did not play near their usual standard. Struthers won, 29 to 16.

It is hoped that Coach McKain will be able to improve the morale of the teams in time for the hard games this week with East Palestine on Wednesday night and West Middlesex on Friday night. Several hundred citizens of the Holy City will journey here Wednesday night for the big game of the season between the natural rivals, as Columbiana will endeavor to get revenge for the boys' defeat and the girls' tie game at East Palestine earlier in the season.

Back about 1870, James N. Wellman developed a secret tobacco process which won instant and widespread favor. It yielded a fuller-bodied richness, mildness and fragrance which just seemed to "go" with a pipe. No one else ever knew his secret until we acquired "Wellman's Method" and by its means made "Granger Rough Cut"

PROOF OF THE OLD SAYING!

Christians Lead Sunday School Loop

Move up Following Victory Over Lutheran Five.

Coming out on top by a margin of four points, the First Christian church passers of the Sunday school circuit obtained ample revenge for past downfalls when they defeated the Lutherans last night on the high school court. The score was 31 to 26. The winners go into first place in the league as a result of their victory.

Both teams put up a fast article of basketball, the Christians excelling the Lutherans in all departments save shooting.

The College street crew was away off in its tries for points during the first three periods, missing enonen shots to win a couple of basketball games.

The Lutheran five took the lead and held it for the first three periods. They scored five points in the opening period before the Christians secured a single point. But their lead was gradually reduced until at the end of the period, the count was 6 to 4.

The Third street squad, however, jumped ahead again in the second quarter and were leading by the score of 13 to 7 when time was called. All through the third period they retained an advantage, the Christians trailing by three points at the end of the canto.

The Christians tied up the game at the end of the final period. Howard's field goal put them ahead for the first time during the contest and after that they began to find the basket from all points on the floor. There was no question as to the victor from that point on.

Owens, Howard, Kilmer and Bloor were the best performers for the Christians, while G. Woessner, Anthony and Kibble starred for the Lutherans.

In the preliminary clash the Christian Juniors doubled the score on the Lutheran Juniors, the count being 25 to 12. Gregg, Lindell, Wotring and Smith were the Christian mainstays, while Greenwood, M. Barlow and Badgley performed well for the losers.

Canada Is Spending $4,000,000 Monthly On Former Soldiers

OTTAWA, Ont., Feb.—Canada is spending $1,000,000 a week in caring for and rehabilitating ex-soldiers of its war-time army, according to the annual report of N. F. Parkinson, Deputy Minister of the Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment.

"More than $600,000,000 has been spent by the Dominion in this work in the last five years," says the report. "Bonuses paid immediately after demobilization amounted to $163,000,000. The cost of pensions to date has exceeded $200,000,000. Hospital treatment, physical rehabilitation, artificial limbs, vocational education and unemployment relief have involved a further expenditure of $110,000,000."

Named Captain By Gen. Mack

Earl Mack, above, peppery son of Connie Mack, will captain the Athletics the coming campaign. The move is expected to be a popular one with the team, as Earl is well liked generally. He has been chief aide to his father for a year or more.

Tenants Ousted, Take House.

Mrs. Ida Ragsdale of Memphis, Tenn., recently ousted some tenants from property she owned because they failed to pay rent, and was astonished when she went to look over the property afterwards, to find the tenants, in moving, had lifted the house bodily and placed it on an adjoining piece of land. The ouster proceedings were instituted, Mrs. Ragsdale says, after the tenants had failed to pay their rent over a considerable time.

Christians Lead Sunday School Loop

Move up Following Victory Over Lutheran Five.

Coming out on top by a margin of four points, the First Christian church passers of the Sunday school circuit obtained ample revenge for past downfalls when they defeated the Lutherans last night on the high school court. The score was 31 to 26. The winners go into first place in the league as a result of their victory.

Both teams put up a fast article of basketball, the Christians excelling the Lutherans in all departments save shooting.

The College street crew was away off in its tries for points during the first three periods, missing enonen shots to win a couple of basketball games.

The Lutheran five took the lead and held it for the first three periods. They scored five points in the opening period before the Christians secured a single point. But their lead was gradually reduced until at the end of the period, the count was 6 to 4.

The Third street squad, however, jumped ahead again in the second quarter and were leading by the score of 13 to 7 when time was called. All through the third period they retained an advantage, the Christians trailing by three points at the end of the canto.

The Christians tied up the game at the end of the final period. Howard's field goal put them ahead for the first time during the contest and after that they began to find the basket from all points on the floor. There was no question as to the victor from that point on.

Owens, Howard, Kilmer and Bloor were the best performers for the Christians, while G. Woessner, Anthony and Kibble starred for the Lutherans.

In the preliminary clash the Christian Juniors doubled the score on the Lutheran Juniors, the count being 25 to 12. Gregg, Lindell, Wotring and Smith were the Christian mainstays, while Greenwood, M. Barlow and Badgley performed well for the losers.

Canada Is Spending $4,000,000 Monthly On Former Soldiers

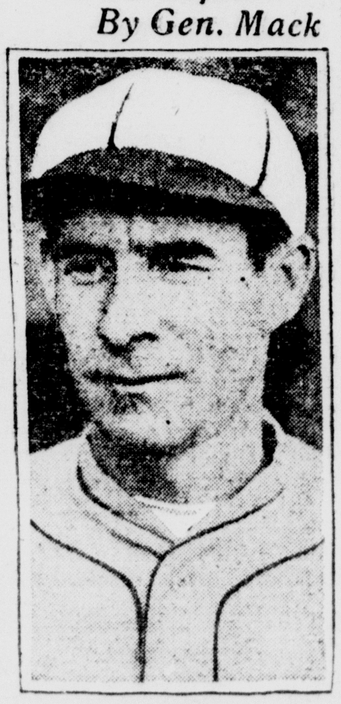

OTTAWA, Ont., Feb.—Canada is spending $1,000,000 a week in caring for and rehabilitating ex-soldiers of its war-time army, according to the annual report of N. F. Parkinson, Deputy Minister of the Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment.

"More than $600,000,000 has been spent by the Dominion in this work in the last five years," says the report. "Bonuses paid immediately after demobilization amounted to $163,000,000. The cost of pensions to date has exceeded $200,000,000. Hospital treatment, physical rehabilitation, artificial limbs, vocational education and unemployment relief have involved a further expenditure of $110,000,000."

Tenants Ousted, Take House.

Mrs. Ida Ragsdale of Memphis Tenn., recently ousted some tenants from property she owned because they failed to pay rent, and was astonished when she went to look over the property afterwards, to find the tenants, in moving, had lifted the house bodily and placed it on an adjoining piece of land. The ouster proceedings were instituted, Mrs. Ragsdale says, after the tenants had failed to pay their rent over a considerable time.

Named Captain By Gen. Mack

Earl Mack, above, peppery son of Connie Mack, will captain the Athletics the coming campaign. The move is expected to be a popular one with the team, as Earl is well liked generally. He has been chief aide to his father for a year or more.

H. J. Cox, singing evangelist, had charge of the junior choir, made up of 60 voices, which was assisted by the church orchestra. Miss Dorothy Beatty was pianist.

This evening Rev. Culp will preach from the sermon subject, "How Shall We Neglect So Great Salvation."

Thursday, "Degrees and Rewards of Punishment."

Friday, the "Church of God."

There will be no services on Saturday evening.

At last night's meeting there were two conversions, in addition to the 12 that have professed christianity during other services.

Boils!

"Ouch!"

S.S.S. will rid you of boils, pimples, blackheads and skin eruptions!

DON'T CLOSE your eyes to the warning which Nature gives when angry, painful boils appear on your neck, face or other parts of your body. Boils, pimples and so-called skin disorders are the result of an impoverished condition of the blood and are not to be trifled with.

It is nothing more than folly to expect to get absolute relief from the use of local treatments, such as ointments, salves, etc. Such remedies may afford temporary relief but you want more than relief; you want a remedy which will rid you forever of the torturing disorder. And the one remedy which has no equal is S.S.S.

S.S.S. stops boils and keeps them from coming. S.S.S. builds blood-power! That is what makes fighting blood. Fighting blood destroys impurities. It fights boils! It fights skin eruptions—pimples, blackheads, eczema! It always wins! S.S.S. has been known since 1826 as one of the greatest blood builders, blood cleansers and system strengtheners ever produced. There are no unproven theories about S.S.S., the scientific results of each of its purely vegetable medicinal ingredients are admitted by authorities. Begin taking S.S.S. today and clear your skin of those blood disorders!

S.S.S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

DRINK WATER WHEN KIDNEYS HURT YOU

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it may mean you have been eating foods which create acids, says a well known authority. An excess of such acids overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and loggy. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels, removing all the body's urinous waste, else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells; your stomach sours, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get sore, water scalds and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days, and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the system, so they no longer irriate, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, can not injure and makes a delightful, effervescent lithia-water drink. Drink lots of soft water. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.

Heiress Who Eloped With Sister's Fiance Now Seeks a Divorce

French Capital's Latest and Gravest Malady is Harder to Cure Than Cancer.

PARIS, Feb. — Lovesickness is the latest and gravest malady in the French capital. More serious than the dreaded "flu," and harder to cure than cancer, its wounds are harder to heal than those inflicted by the serpent's fangs.

One day the newspapers tell about a young couple—a girl and a boy—found bound together at the bottom of the Seine.

Another day it is a young man who enters the chamber of his sweetheart and then commits suicide.

On still another occasion a young woman throws herself before a moving train because her parents will not agree to her marriage with the man she loves.

Every day the newspapers are full of stories of unfortunate beings who put an end to their days in one manner or another because they love too much. Lovesickness is the peculiar malady of the jazz age. Formerly the lover contented himself with committing suicide before the door of his beloved. Now he enters and does it before her eyes. It seems a far cry from Werther's romantic spirit, which sang:

"If you do not love me, I love you. And if I love you—beware!"

"It is high time to prevent the spreading of this serious malady," says Victor Meric, in the Paris Soir. "France is in a sad way, with thousands of young women growing old every year without ever having known the attentions of lovers, and thousands of timid young men looking vainly for a 'sister soul.' While others, who have found what they wanted, believe it better to fling themselves into the other world.

"I would suggest that the bodies of these unfortunate be submitted to autopsies, and let our savants try to find the mysterious microbe that is causing the most incomprehensible and contagious of all plagues."

Gloria Swanson's Photoplay, "Her Love Story," at Ceramic

"Her Love Story"—that's the title adaptation by Frank Tuttle of Mary of Gloria Swanson's latest Paramount picture, an Allan Dwan production, which is the offering Thursday at the Ceramic theatre. The story is an Roberts Rinehart's novel and magazine serial, "Her Majesty, the Queen." Ian Keith has the leading man's role opposite the star, and others in the strong supporting cast include George Fawcett, Echlin Gayer, Mario Majeroni, Sidney Herbert and other big names well known on both stage and screen.

To voice the opinion of the editor of the magazine in which the story appeared, "Mary Roberts Rinehart is one of the most remarkable personalities in this country. If some man wrote all the novels, all the plays and all the perfectly wonderful stories that she's written, we—meaning we men—would all get up on our feet and say, 'here is one who can produce more fine work than any living human being.'

"But doing this—and a lot more—has been only one of Mrs. Rinehart's jobs. She has borne, trained, stimulated and launched five fine sons. And, between times, written 'The Man in Lower Ten,' 'Seven Days,' 'Bab,' 'Tish,' 'The Bat,' 'Dangerous Days' and so many others that I won't try to recite them all.

"And now she has written the tenderest love story in many a day."

Even that is putting it mildly. "Her Love Story" is said to be the best Swanson picture ever made, and when one recalls "The Humming Bird," "A Society Scandal," "Manhandled" and the others, this must be some picture. It's a story of a beautiful young princess, forced against her will to marry the reprobate king of a neighboring country. She is in love with a captain of the king's guards. There are complications, dramatic scenes galore, with a smashing climax that will pull you right out of your chair.

Motor Dodging Is Taught.

In one of the Junior High Schools of Oregon, motor dodging has been added to the curriculum as a means of helping the cities and towns to improve their traffic congestion conditions. The course also falls under the head of citizenship training, as a part of instructing the youths to obey even minor regulations designed for the common good.

Beware Of Coughs That Hangs On

Pneumonia and serious lung trouble usually start with a cough. So if you have a cold or cough—stop it at once with a few doses of that fine old medicine, Kemp's Balsam. This famous Balsam soothes the nerves of the throat, stops the tickling cough and nature does the rest. No form of cough syrup so good for children's coughs. 50 cents at all stores.

London Will Build Huge Vehicle Tunnel Under Thames River

LONDON, Feb.—Details have now now been published of the scheme for building a tunnel under the Thames to connect Dartford and Purfleet, and at the same time for widening the Victoria Dock Road. The whole outlay necessary, it is estimated, will be about £6,000,000, and the work probably will take about three years.

The tunnel is to be the biggest road tunnel in England and will be two and one-half miles long. There is to be space for two lines of the largest vehicles and height enough to take a double-deck omnibus, and there is to be a footpath for pedestrians as well.

A Raw, Sore Throat

Eases Quickly When You Apply a Little Musterole

And Musterole won't blister like the old-fashioned mustard plaster. Just spread it on with your fingers. It penetrates to the sore spot with a gentle tingle, loosens the congestion and draws out the soreness and pain.

Musterole is a clean, white ointment made with oil of mustard. It is fine for quick relief from sore throat, bronchitis, tonsillitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, headache, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of the back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frosted feet, colds on the chest. Keep it handy for instant use.

To Mothers: Musterole is now made in milder form for babies and small children. Ask for Children's Musterole.

35c and 65c, jars and tubes; hospital size, $3.00.

Beware Of Coughs That Hangs On

Pneumonia and serious lung trouble usually start with a cough. So if you have a cold or cough—stop it at once with a few doses of that fine old medicine, Kemp's Balsam. This famous Balsam soothes the nerves of the throat, stops the tickling cough and nature does the rest. No form of cough or cold is too severe for Kemp's Balsam to conquer. Try it. Keep it handy for the children's coughs. 25 cents at all stores.

London Will Build Huge Vehicle Tunnel Under Thames River

LONDON, Feb.—Details have now now been published of the scheme for building a tunnel under the Thames to connect Dartford and Purfleet, and at the same time for widening the Victoria Dock Road. The whole outlay necessary, it is estimated, will be about £6,000,000, and the work probably will take about three years.

The tunnel is to be the biggest road tunnel in England and will be two and one-half miles long. There is to be space for two lines of the largest vehicles and height enough to take a double-deck omnibus, and there is to be a footpath for pedestrians as well.

Motor Dodging Is Taught.

In one of the Junior High Schools of Oregon, motor dodging has been added to the curriculum as a means of helping the cities and towns to improve their traffic congestion conditions. The course also falls under the head of citizenship training, as a part of instructing the youths to obey even minor regulations designed for the common good.
